Only One Christian.
A Billionth of an Inch.
Two Fighting Machines.
Advice Is Easy.

—By ARTHUR BRISBANE—

SENATOR BORAH revives the suggestion that Uncle Sam give to starving millions in China the 250,000,000 bushels of wheat that the government has bought, and can't sell.

Borah adds a business idea. China buys little wheat from us, because Chinese eat rice. Not having rice now, they probably would eat wheat if we gave it to them, thus developing a taste for it, and building up a future market for us.

APART FROM drumming up trade, why not give the wheat to the starving, for the good of our souls, nationally speaking. Seeing us give away 250,000,000 bushels of wheat, enough to make 10,000,000,000 loaves of bread, Providence might reward us by ending our depression.

In any case, it would be one way to discredit Nietzsche's well-known epigram:

"There has been but one Christian, and He died on the cross."

PROF. COMPTON, winner of the Nobel prize in physics, shows the atoms in an electron, separated from each other by one-billionth of an inch, and, in proportion to their size, as far apart as the earth and the sun.

Until lately, it was thought that nothing smaller than the atom could exist. Now we know that it is a little solar system, with a proton, or nucleus in the center, like our sun, and electrons revolving around it, like planets.

IN THE ORDER of bigness, matter is arranged by Prof. Compton as follows: "electron, atom, bacterium, gnat, man, mountain, earth, sun, solar system, galactic cluster, galaxy and known universe."

That known universe is so big that it would take light, going 186,000 miles a second, about 600,000,000 years to cross from one side to the other. Figure out that distance.

And, for all we know, "known universe" may be merely one little group of cosmic dust in an infinitely bigger universe. Think of "a billionth of an inch," and thousands of suns a million million times as big as our sun.

UNCLE SAM is building two airplanes that will help us to realize the uselessness of marching troops in future wars. Each of the planes, called "hedge-hoppers," will carry five machine guns, to "spray" marching soldiers with bullets, while flying 50 feet above ground.

In addition to machine guns, each plane will carry 500 pounds of bombs.

Imagine the sensations of marching troops, crawling at snail's pace, with planes, flying 200 miles an hour, dropping bombs and shooting them down.

ADVICE IS easy. The Farm Board says to farmers: "Plant less wheat; there is too much of it." And to cotton growers: "Plant less cotton; there is too much of it."

The farmer will ask:

"What shall I plant? Shall I plant perishable foods, that will not pay the cost of freight? Shall I raise hens and find that a warm winter has reduced eggs to 12 cents a dozen, so low that some farmers have fed eggs to their pigs?"

Those that advise farmers should remember that their need is to grow a crop that will "keep," and can be held for a better market. What can he grow in place of grain and cotton? Nuts? There would soon be too many of them.

GREAT BRITAIN has been in "a fever of excitement." Not because Lloyd George's Liberal party is combining with Labor; not from worry about unemployment, nor bad conditions in British industry.

The fever was all about three horse races, the Lincolnshire, Aintree, Grand National. The Lincolnshire was won yesterday by "Knight Error." The Aintree will be run today and the Grand National on Friday.

After that, unemployment and minor worries will resume their importance.

MRS. LILLIE SCHAEFER, of Brooklyn, N. Y., at 21, was through with life, although she had two pretty little girls. Her husband was out of work. She was unable to find a job, and decided that life had lasted too long.

She put the little girls carefully in one room, shut the door, went into another to kill herself with gas. After the gas had been turned on a while it occurred to her that it might pass under the door and hurt the children, if left on all night. She turned it off, waited several hours, then left a note in a milk bottle on the front doorstep, turned on the gas, and lay down.

The milkman found the note, a policeman broke the door. The children were sleeping peacefully; the mother not quite dead, was revived and will live to continue looking for a job.

AFTER MAKING an agreement with Gandhi, the British proceeded to execute three Hindus for killing one of their policemen. You read that. Other Hindus rioted, and yesterday 40 of them were killed, 100 injured.

The Hindu mob ever turned against its idol Gandhi, calling him a murderer, because he had made a truce with the British, who then hanged the three Hindus. Being a prophet in your own country is not easy.

One indignant Hindu tried to kill Gandhi with a heavy flagpole, striking at him savagely. This reminds you of savages that beat the images of their gods when they do not give satisfactory results.

CACHE FOR BOMB TODAY

The damaged foundation of the home of Dr. Joseph Bisceglia, 542 Lincoln avenue, where an exploding bomb, the second in the East End in two days, today shattered windows in a score of homes, roused sleepers in surrounding half-mile area.

BOMB BLAST WRECKS 2D RESIDENCE

East Liberty Physician's Home Damaged After First Attempt Failed

Making good in their second attempt, bombers early today dynamited the home of Dr. Joseph Bisceglia, 542 Lincoln avenue, hurling members of the physician's family from their beds and arousing the entire neighborhood.

Two months ago several sticks of dynamite, a dynamite cap and a coil of fuse were found wrapped in a newspaper in a lot beside the physician's home.

The explosion this morning was the second in two days in the East Liberty district. Early yesterday the district was shaken when a bomb was exploded at a residence in Frankstown avenue.

The explosion this morning caused damage estimated at more than $1,000.

WINDOWS SHATTERED

The bomb was set off below a dining room window. It shattered windows in more than a score of houses and aroused the district within a half-mile radius.

In the house at the time were Mr. and Mrs. F. B. Bisceglia, parents of the physician, and their son and a daughter.

Damage to the Bisceglia home was estimated at $500.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. C. T. Krider, 532 Lincoln avenue, across the lot from the Bisceglia home, also was damaged. Mr. and Mrs. Krider, their daughter, Ethel, 17, and Mr. and Mrs. Howard Salamon, and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Conar, who reside in the Krider home, were hurled from their beds. The Krider residence was damaged $300.

FIRST BOMB FAILS

On January 11 police from East End station were summoned to the Bisceglia home by a telephone call. A woman, unidentified, had gone to the physician's residence and asked permission to use the telephone. She called police and notified them that a bomb was lying in the lot beside the doctor's house.

The explosives were turned over to the United States Bureau of Mines. It was said that the central stick of the bundle had been laced over one end of the capped fuse. It is believed the bombers were frightened away before they were able to set off the explosives.

The scene of the explosion is but a short distance from Pittsburgh Hospital. Many patients were aroused by the blast, and for a short time excitement prevailed in the institution.

COUNCILMAN KAMBACH DEAD

Pneumonia Ends South Side Attorney's Career; Burial Services Set for Sunday

George J. Kambach, 54, city councilman, attorney and civic leader, died in his home, 1808 Sarah street, early today. He was a victim of pneumonia.

A lifelong resident of the South Side, Mr. Kambach was a bachelor, making his home with his aged parents, Mr. and Mrs. George A. Kambach. He was born within a few blocks of his present home.

Mr. Kambach

Funeral services will be held at the South Side Presbyterian Church Sunday at 3 p. m. The body will lie in state in the church from 1 o'clock.

Always interested in public affairs, his leadership in politics in his community dated back to his election to Common Council in November, 1907. He served one term, until 1909, then was elected to a seat in Select Council in May, 1910, serving until that body went out of existence the following year.

SUCCEEDED WINTERS

He was appointed to his present seat in Council, succeeding Daniel Winters, appointed Controller in December, 1929.

Kambach received his appointment in a spirited contest in which he received the support of the Kline administration. He was given five votes, including that of Mayor Kline, who took part in the balloting, the remaining four members of Council splitting three and one for two other candidates.

Mr. Kambach was a member of the Allegheny County bar. He was graduated from the law school of Western University of Pennsylvania in 1899, was admitted to the bar the same year. He

LANG AIDE DEFENDS 'EXTRAS'

Evans Denies Any Personal Attack in Assailing City Public Works Methods

Overcome by emotion, Chief Engineer Charles M. Reppert, of the Department of Public Works, under fire in City Council, walked from the room shortly before noon today after threatening to resign at the close of the public hearing of charges of inefficiency in the department.

The hearing, which recessed for luncheon, resumed at 1:30 p. m., with Reppert again subjected to close questioning by Henry Oliver Evans, the department's accuser, as to various departmental details.

Evans, during the questioning of Reppert, declared while he was city controller he discussed the matter of faulty estimating with Mayor Kline, but had gotten no response. He said:

"Whether the Mayor heard anything, I don't know. I talked with him more than an hour."

The Reppert break threw the crowded Council chambers into turmoil as Reppert fairly shouted:

"I have not been delinquent. I have served the city government well. Ask anyone if I ever neglected my work.

"They are going to hunt a new chief engineer after this investigation is over. I'm not going to make an apology to anyone, not even to Mr. Evans."

Director Edward G. Lang, of the department, interrupted Reppert, placing his hand on his shoulder, saying:

"Mr. Reppert, you don't have to apologize to anyone. You have done your work well."

Reppert left the room as he said:

"I've neglected my home, my family, my church and my health for the City of Pittsburgh. I don't have to stand this kind of treatment any longer."

His voice broke as he left, followed by Director Lang.

As he quit the room, Evans said:

"I was not attacking Mr. Reppert at any time, and I like him better than I ever did. The difficulty in this department is the same as in all departments

WITNESS STIRS 'NUMBERS' QUIZ

Judge Harry H. Rowand in Common Pleas Court late today ordered an investigation into an alleged Hill District "numbers racket," after a witness in a civil suit admitted on the stand that he "writes numbers for a living."

County detectives took the witness—Harry Dorsey, of 1144 Herron avenue—to District Attorney Andrew T. Park for questioning.

Dorsey was called by Attorney Fred Mercer as a witness for Alma Voelker in her suit against the Pittsburgh Railways Company and the Pittsburgh Brewing Company for damages due to an accident.

Mercer asked the witness his occupation. Dorsey hesitated and asked:

"Do I have to tell?"

Mercer replied:

"Certainly."

Dorsey answered:

"I write numbers for a living."

Further questioning by Judge Rowand elicited the reply that Dorsey "works in the Hill district for Mike Neelan."

In connection with the South Hills numbers investigation, detectives arrested Fred Mayer, of 2619 Brownsville road, late today, and said three more arrests are to be made soon.

Girl Sues Officials Over Cabaret Fire

DETROIT, March 26.—(AP.)—Martin Cohn, former proprietor of the Study Club cabaret, which burned with loss of more than 20 lives in September, 1929, and five city officials were named defendants in a $100,000 damage suit filed in Circuit Court yesterday by Miss Gladys La Dousa.

Miss La Dousa claims to have received injuries in the fire which ended her career as a model.

Francis X. Shields, Tennis Star, to Wed

NEW YORK, March 26.—(INS.)—Francis X. Shields, second ranking tennis player of the United States, will wed Miss Rebecca Williams Tenney, of Greenwich, Conn., according to announcement today. Date of wedding has not been set.

Sophie Tucker Fined $200 for Smuggling

LONDON, March 26.—(INS.)—Sophie Tucker, internationally-known American vaudeville star, was fined $200 in police court here today on charges of attempted smuggling.

The actress was alleged to have tried to bring in three silk dresses from Paris without paying duty.

Ruth McCormick Silent On Report She'll Wed

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., March 26.—(AP.)—Mrs. Ruth Hanna McCormick, former Illinois Congresswoman, refused today either to affirm or deny reports that she and former Representative Albert Simms, of New Mexico, are engaged to be married. She said:

"I decline to be interviewed and will neither affirm nor deny the report. I will make no statements."

A strong friendship between Mrs. McCormick and Congressman Simms developed while Mr. Sims was in Washington as the representative from New Mexico. During Mrs. McCormick's visit in New Mexico she has been entertained in Albuquerque by Mr. Sims.

Two days ago they visited Taos an dthe Taos Pueblo, and then in Santa Fe they were entertained by former Gov. H. J. Sagerman, of the Pueblo Indian Lands Board.

Mrs. McCormick today met her son Medill here on his arrival from the Fountain Valley School at Colorado Springs. They will leave this evening on a trip to Mexico, returning on April 8.

Mrs. McCormick said plans for her son's studies in archaeology will keep her and Medill in New Mexico the greater part of the summer.

'Killer' Burke Captured In Bed

ST. JOSEPH, Mo., March 26.—(INS.)—Fred "Killer" Burke, notorious gangster, sought two years in connection with the slaying of seven members of the "Bugs" Moran gang in a garage in Chicago on Valentine Day, 1929, was under arrest here today and is being held for Chicago authorities.

Burke was captured by St. Joseph police today while he slept in the home of his father-in-law, a farmer, of Green City, Mo., 175 miles from here.

Burke, known as gangland's most wanton assassin, had been sought throughout the United States for the murder of 21 men.

Comedian's Wife Flees Sanitarium

LOS ANGELES March 26.—(AP.)—Mrs. Myrtle Lee Hardy, wife of Oliver Hardy, screen comedian, was sought by officers today after her disappearance from a sanitarium. She was suffering from melancholia.

4 CITY LEADERS CONVALESCENT

Four men prominent in city affairs, who had been seriously ill for more than a week, were reported considerably improved today.

City Solicitor Charles A. Waldschmidt, confined in his home with pneumonia, spent a restful night and is on the road to recovery, members of the family said.

David B. Jons, 32 Walnut street, Crafton, political leader, and former referee of the Workmen's Compensation Board, is in the Mercy Hospital. His condition has improved, but it is still serious, it was said.

Tom M. Reed, chief engineer in the bureau of engineering, left Pittsburgh today for a complete rest because of a nervous breakdown, it was said.

Director James M. Clark, of the Department of Public Safety, confined in his home with pneumonia for more than a week, showed great improvement today, and expected to be back in his office in a week. Mayor Charles H. Kline is at Cambridge Springs recuperating from a series of boils.

Man Held for Court In Poor Box Theft

Admitting that he robbed the poor box of St. Peter's Church, Fernando sreet, twice, according to police, Leo Gorman, 20, of 1533 Brighton road, was held for court for larceny by Magistrate Thomas D. Jones in Morals Court today.

Gorman was found hiding in the basement of the church during Lenten services last night, according to the Rev. Francis Ospich.

Girl Pitcher Aims To Fan Babe Ruth

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., March 26.—(AP.)—Jack Mitchell is 17 and a professional baseball pitcher. Not so much, that? Jack is a girl! Moreover, she is assigned to pitch for the Chattanooga Lookouts in an exhibition game against the New York Yankees next week. Her ambition is to strike out Babe Ruth.

Armistice Terms Affected Peace

Armistice terms granted Germany made more difficult the drafting of a peace treaty, declares Gen. J. J. Pershing in his memoirs, asserting that the Allies would have profited by following his advice of unconditional surrender by the Germans. In today's instalment of his memoirs, which appear in the Sun-Telegraph, Gen. Pershing reveals that the Germans were more badly beaten than the victorious Allies realized.

JOBLESS MAN'S WIFE BURNED

Near home he was met by his son Frank, 10, who had been searching for him, and told that Mrs. Tressa Russo, wife and mother, was probably dying in Pittsburgh Hospital.

After she had started her husband out this morning in search of work, Mrs. Russo began preparing the scanty meal for three little Russos, George, 2, Mary, 5, and Frank. In some unexplained manner her clothing ignited.

Her screams aroused the children. Frank summoned Mrs. Mary Burley, a neighbor, of 624 Chianti street, who ran to Mrs. Russo's aid and extinguished the flaming clothing. A patrol wagon rushed Mrs. Russo to the hospital, where the father hastened upon being notified. The children are being cared for by neighbors.

Tim Healy's Illness Grave, Son Called

DUBLIN, Irish Free State, March 26.—(AP.)—The condition of Tim Healy, veteran Irish statesman and first Governor General of the Irish Free State, who has been ill for some time, took a grave turn for the worse this afternoon. His son, an attorney, who was arguing a case in court, was summoned to the bedside.

Jenny Dolly's Gem In French Tax Suit

PARIS, March 25.—(AP.)—Jenny Dolly's 58-carat diamond, worth $160,000, which the French customs claims was introduced into the country fraudulently from London, will be subject to a tax suit this week.

The state claims $120,000 in unpaid luxury taxes and fines and interest. The American dancer indignantly says the accusations are based on an anonymous letter, and asserts she is a "model taxpayer."

2 Harvard Mail Box Wreckers Expelled

BOSTON, March 26.—(AP.)—The Boston Post says two seniors at Harvard University who are being held in $500 bail, on a charge of destroying a United States mail box, were dismissed from the university today. The Post says the students—John D. Evans, of Pittsburgh, and Leonard F. Dean, of Three Rivers, Mich.—may be allowed to return to college next September.

W.L. Mellons Capture Rare Sea Species in Tropics

MIAMI, Fla., March 26.—(AP.)—Rare species of turtle, fish and iguana destined for Pittsburgh were brought to Miami by the Vagabondia, palatial yacht of W. L. Mellon, who, with Mrs. Mellon, have been hosts for the past six weeks to a party of guests on a cruise to the Galapagos.

Matthew Mellon, who returned from Europe recently with his brother, W. L. Mellon, Jr., and his bride, the former Grace Rowley, was on hand to greet the returning vessel. He will join his parents and friends on a six-day fishing cruise in Florida waters.

The Vagabondia anchored in the city yacht basin at Miami where work of unloading the fish, turtle and iguana was begun yesterday. The rare specimens were taken to the Miami aquarium, where they will remain until summer, when they will be shipped north.

Germany Reveals Purpose To Accomplish Fusion; Britain Asks Pact Delay

By OTTO D. TOLISCHUS
International News Service.

BERLIN, March 26.—"An Anschluss," or political fusion between Germany and Austria, must come eventually, but when the time for that is ripe it will materialize in perfect agreement with all international treaties, that is, sanctioned by the League of Nations and with the consent of all powers.

This statement was made to International News Service today by an official associate of Washington, in reply to inquiries that Germany intended to merge the present [illegible] between the two nations, and therefore be con[illegible]

FUSION TO COME

"The projected customs union is purely an economic arrangement, strictly within international law. The political 'anschluss' must come as a logical event, but when the time for that is ripe, it will materialize in perfect agreement with all international treaties."

Great Britain stepped across into the political volcano on the side of France, Italy and Czechoslovakia last night by requesting the governments of Austria and Germany to defer any action whatever on the trade accord until after the League Council has inspected the details of the arrangement at its May meeting.

(Copyright, 1931, by International News Service.)

BRITAIN OBJECTS

LONDON, March 26.—Official circles of Great Britain were convinced today that the projected Austro-German customs union is merely a "cover" for a subsequent political agreement between the two nations, and therefore objectionable to the empire from all standpoints.

Information from Vienna that Austria intended to adapt its penal, civil, educational and railroad systems to German methods caused no surprise here, confirming suspicions about an undercover "anschluss."

From Britain's standpoint, however, the economic combine represented by the projected customs union is a red bugaboo. It vitally affects the Empire's foreign trade, its life blood, already sadly anemic.

PARIS SEES UPHEAVAL

PARIS, March 26.—The Austro-German trade pact may change the entire future of Europe and Austria at least is bound to regret her participation in such an agreement, an official spokesman for the French Foreign Office told International News Service today.

The statement was prompted by news that Dr. Hans Schurff, Austrian minister of justice, was planning a visit to Berlin to extend the scope of the agreement to include adaptation of German civil, penal, educational and railway methods to Austrian systems.

ROME, March 26.—(INS.)—The Italian government is carefully studying the possibility of accepting the invitation to join in the Austro-German customs union, it was learned today.

Advantages and disadvantages of such a step were being considered fully. Official circles believe it is not impossible that some other European nations may decide to participate in the arrangement.

DRY REPEALER SENT ILLINOIS GOVERNOR

Six-Year Fight Against Prohibition Ends With Passage of Bill by Senate

International News Service.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., March 26.—Repeal of the Illinois prohibition laws, sanctioned last night in the State Senate by a 26 to 24 vote after a six-year battle, today awaited only the signature of Gov. Louis Emmerson before prohibition enforcement in this state will be left solely to the Federal government.

Within 10 days the bill will go to the Governor. Those close to the chief executive predict he will sign the bill or allow it to become a law without his signature. The usual hearings probably will be held in the executive's office during this period. The Governor has made no comment.

The bill, known as the O'Grady-McDermott repealer, was passed by the Lower House earlier in the legislative session by a 91 to 56 vote.

STATE TO BE SIXTH

When the O'Grady-McDermott bill becomes a law Illinois will be the sixth state in the United States to repeal its state prohibition enforcement acts. Other states are Wisconsin, Montana, Nevada, New York and Massachusetts. Maryland never has had one.

Nine Republicans and 17 Democratic senators voted for the repealer. Of these 18 were from Cook County (Chicago area) and eight were from downstate.

It was a dramatic victory in which the repeal bill passed the Senate after being stopped by that body in three previous sessions after the House had passed it. Lobbying of the Anti-Saloon League apparently proved of little avail.

RESULT CHEERED

Cheers and pounding upon desks went up from the liberal Democratic side as the result was made known by Senators Roy C. Woods and Aldebert H. Roberts, Chicago Republicans.

Edward C. Westhafer, 44, of Peoria, collapsed in the gallery and died a few moments later of a heart attack induced by the excitement.

LINK 'HYMIE' WITH GRAFT TRIAL

Prosecution Seeks to Show Ex-Councilman Was Slain To Prevent Testimony

CLEVELAND, March 26.—(AP.)—Prosecution attorneys in the trial of "Pittsburgh Hymie" Martin revealed today the state will try to prove that the slaying of former Councilman William E. Potter was directly connected with Cleveland's playground scandal, which sent one former councilman and his son to the penitentiary and which threw suspicion on the other public officials here.

It was the first time the state has disclosed adherence to the theory that Potter was slain to seal his lips from further testimony in the playground case.

IDENTIFIES MARTIN

A moment later, with Fred C. Laub, custodian of the apartment where Potter was killed, on the stand, Laub dramatically pointed to Martin and named him as the man who rented the death suite under the name of "M. J. Markus."

Attorneys for Martin admitted today that he was in Cleveland within 45 minutes of the time when the state contends Potter was slain. The defense attorneys insisted, however, that the killing was about two hours later, and that Martin was in Akron at least half an hour before the crime was committed.

"MARKUS IS MARTIN"

Other witnesses today were Mrs. Laub, who discovered the body after it lay on a davenport five days; Queen Esther Morgan, 16-year-old high school girl, who said she saw Martin in the building twice; Mrs. Betty Gray, who said she once let Martin into the building and provided the tip which led to his arrest in Pittsburgh; Traffic Patrolman Andrew Bessick, who claimed he saw Potter and Martin cross his intersection, and Mrs. Myrta McCurdy, of Beaver Falls, Pa., sister of Mrs. Laub, who was expected to strengthen the identification of "Markus" as Martin.

ADVISES STOUT FOLKS TO DIET

BALTIMORE, March 26.—(AP.)—Most stout people can reduce by dieting more easily and with less physical strain than by use of thyroid medicine, it was declared today before the American College of Physicians.

Excess weight can be removed effectively in most cases on a diet consisting of proteins, carbohydrates and fats proportioned according to the weight the patient wishes to reach, said Dr. Frank A. Evans, of Pittsburgh.

Thyroid medicine made from the thyroid glands of sheep causes reduction in weight, but at the same time increases the patient's heat production, or basal metabolism. Dieting causes less heat production. As a result the patient feels better, tires less easily, and is satisfied with his smaller diet, which encourages him to persist in his effort to reduce, Dr. Evans explained.

*"Below zero

Weather Conditions.

A disturbance is centered off the Middle Atlantic Coast, the center remaining stationary over Northern Arizona. The low pressure spread eastward over the southern plains, producing rain as far east as Oklahoma and Western Missouri and cloudy weather to the Mississippi. Over the Rocky Mountain states and northern plains states the precipitation was in the form of snow. A Canadian high pressure developed southward. It is attended by severely cold weather over the Canadian Northwest and the states as far south as Colorado. The temperature is below zero this morning in Montana, the Dakotas, Wyoming, Alberta and Saskatchewan.

Chaplin, After Hunt, Shuns All Horses

PARIS, March 26.—(AP.)—Charlie Chaplin has cancelled an engagement to see the Grand National Steeplechase at Aintree saying:

"I feel that the mere sight of the horses going over the jumps will hurt every bone in my body."

He explained he had done some riding in a boar hunt.

8 TOWNS HELP FIGHT 2 FIRES

STEUBENVILLE, O., March 26.—Firemen from eight cities and towns early today fought a $150,000 fire in Nunker's department store, Third and Market streets. Believed to have started from an explosion, the flames spread through the three-story building. Firemen from Wellsburg, Follansbee, Hollidays Cove and New Cumberland, W. Va.; Toronto, O., and Burgettstown, Pa., answered calls for help. As firemen brought the flames under control, Weirton firemen were called home for a fire in the Evans Building, and were accompanied by several of the visiting fire companies.

Damage in the Weirton fire amounted to $150,000, $40,000 on the Evans Building, $35,000 on the Times Publishing Company, $35,110 on the Weirton Cove Furniture Company, $5,000 on Frehling's department store, $5,000 each on a dance hall and lodge room.

SCAIFE DIES IN HOSPITAL

William Marcelin Scaife, of Eldomar, Linden Place, Sewickley, president and director of the Airtight Steel Tank Company, died in Sewickley Valley Hospital early today. Mr. Scaife was socially prominent.

He had been operated on for stomach trouble, it was said at the hospital. He entered the institution Tuesday. The immediate cause of death was given as peritonitis.

Mr. Scaife was a graduate of Yale. He leaves his wife, Mrs. Annie Hamilton Smith Scaife; a son, William Marcelin Scaife, Jr.; three daughters—Miss Dorothy Darsie Scaife, Mrs. Rudolph van Hoevenberg, of New York, and Mrs. Victor P. Ralli, of Palisades, N. Y., and two grandchildren.

33 Hurt as Train Hits Street Car

CHARLOTTE, N. C., March 26.—(AP.)—Thirty-three persons were injured, many seriously, today when a Southern Railway engine plowed into a street railway car at a midtown crossing here.

Spanked, Divorces Jesse James' Scion

CHICAGO, March 26.—(AP.)—An old-fashioned spanking was the crowning indignity of less than 12 months of married life, Mrs. Rose James, 24, testified in procuring an uncontested divorce from George J. "Jesse" James, of Evansville, Ind. Her attorney said the husband was a great-grandson of the notorious bandit, Jesse James.

U. S. PROBING STEEL PRICES

WASHINGTON, March 26.—(AP.)—An investigation of steel making corporations to determine whether the prices of steel rails were being fixed in violation of the Sherman anti-trust law was disclosed today by Attorney General Mitchell.

The request for an investigation, Mitchell said, came from the Interstate Commerce Commission. He said the inquiry was but recently instituted and that no results could be announced until later.

Mitchell said it was his understanding that no specific companies had been named for investigation, and that the basis for it lay in the possibility that the actual prices charged were too high and were similar among the various companies.

Ask Second Avenue Car Line Extension

HARRISBURG, March 26.—(AP.)—The Second Avenue Passenger Railway Company, a subsidiary of the Pittsburgh Railways Company, today applied to the Public Service Commission for permission to extend its route in Pittsburgh along Greenfield avenue and Irvine street.

WRECKED PLANE FOUND IN SEA

PORTSMOUTH, N. H., March 26.—(AP.)—Coast Guard officials said today that part of an airplane fuselage had been washed ashore near the Merrimac River Coast Guard station near Newburyport, Mass.

The wreckage consisted of about 15 feet of the rear portion of what appeared to have been the fuselage of a large cabin plane.

Apparently it had been long in the water and at first inspection it seemed to lack any numbering or lettering that might reveal its history. The Coast Guardsmen who examined it inclined to the belief that it was the wreckage of one of the large airplanes that were lost in attempted trans-Atlantic flights.

Hammerstein Files Bankruptcy Petition

NEW YORK, March 26.—(INS.)—Arthur Hammerstein, theatrical producer, filed a voluntary petition in bankruptcy today in the Federal Court, Brooklyn, listing assets of $53,083.09, against liabilities totaling $1,649,136.42.

The schedule of liabilities attached to the petition shows that most of them arose from the production of "Ballyhoo" and "Luana."

ACCORD SPEEDS RAIL MERGER

NEW YORK, March 26.—(AP.)—Final details of the four-party eastern railroad consolidation plan are expected to be worked out at a conference being held today by representatives of the four eastern trunk lines.

At a conference held yesterday in Washington by lawyers for the four roads—Pennsylvania, New York Central, Baltimore and Ohio and Chesapeake and Ohio—it was understood that a common understanding was reached on procedure to be followed incident to formal submission of the plan to the Interstate Commerce Commission.

It was said counsel agreed that the correct procedure necessary to bring the matter formally before the commission is to file a petition asking reopening of the railroad consolidated case, and a motion to amend the official plan along lines proposed by the four-party agreement.

Nation's Wealth Serves People, Coolidge Declares

NORTHAMPTON, Mass., March 26.

To the Editor of The Sun-Telegraph:

Another epic so characteristic of our country has just been published in the will of the late Ella Wendel. She has left a fortune estimated at well over $75,000,000 almost entirely to charity. It took three generations of thrift, industry, and intelligence to accumulate this property. Now it is to be distributed with the sole purpose of attempting to benefit the public. It goes to the people.

Mr. Coolidge

Under the laws and customs of the United States there is little cause to fear the power of wealth. Occasionally there are those who abuse it, chiefly to their own harm. It is difficult to find a great fortune that has been preserved through three generations. Not having to support a titled class, our wealth becomes distributed by inheritance and bequest.

Accumulated wealth is one of the foundations of our progress. Distributed per capita it would be ineffective, in accumulation it supports our industries, raises the standard of living, and endows educational, religious and charitable institutions. Almost all the time we find it genuinely employed in the service of the people. The Wendel will only discloses in an emphatic way what is constantly being done in our country.

W. & J. Board Postpones Student Strike Decision

No straightening out of the tangle between students at Washington and Jefferson College, Washington, Pa., and their president, Dr. Simon S. Baker, was in sight today.

The board of trustees, at the March meeting yesterday, sidestepped final decision on the dismissal of Dr. Baker or the disciplining of ringleaders in the student walkout last week, by deciding to "appoint a committee" to consider the charges. Judge James I. Brownson, of Washington County, chairman of the board is empowered to name the committee, which is to report at "a future meeting of the board."

Charges of the students were presented to the board, and Dr. Baker made his reply, after which he was excused from the room during the discussion. His only public comment on the affair was:

"Did you ever see anyone, in charge of three or more persons, who wasn't criticized by some of them?"

After the meeting Judge Brownson issued the following statement:

"The board of trustees of W. & J. College, not having accurate knowledge of all the facts, have adopted a resolution providing for the appointment of a committee to make an investigation in order to ascertain exactly what all the facts having a bearing upon the merits of the matter are, the committee to report to a future meeting of the board."

The next regular meeting of the board of trustees will be in June at Washington.

WALKER'S RETURN EXPECTED TO SIGNAL SHAKEUP

TAMMANY'S CHIEF VISITS GOVERNOR

Mayor Will Direct Clean-Up Of New York Employes, Gotham Reports Declare

International News Service.

NEW YORK, March 26.—The arrival here next week from California of Mayor James J. Walker will be the signal for a shakeup in city departments, it was predicted today. Tammany Hall plans a general "cleanup," it was said, prior to the impending legislative investigation of the city government.

Walker has been named by Tammany leaders to launch and direct the cleanup, according to reports.

Tammany chieftains remained without comment on the probe, and nothing was revealed today at Albany, where John F. Curry, leader of Tammany Hall, and Mrs. Curry were dinner guests of Gov. Roosevelt last night. Former Gov. Alfred E. Smith is also in Albany and will attend the dinner of legislative correspondents this evening.

VISIT "SOCIAL"

The visit of Curry to the executive mansion in Albany was announced as purely social.

Samuel Seabury, mentioned as the leader in the forthcoming legislative investigation, and already conducting two New York inquiries, failed to confirm reports that he would question Charles Brady, former Manhattan superintendent of buildings, and Rollin C. Bastress, former chief inspector of the bureau, who have just resigned.

MALONE SCORES HOLMES

Dudley Field Malone, noted lawyer, in a letter to the Rev. John Haynes Holmes, accused the minister of bearing "false witness" against Mayor Walker and said that the Mayor should not be held responsible for "a few crooked politicians or grafters among the great honest army of 123,000 civil employes." Malone canceled an engagement to speak in Dr. Holmes' church on Sunday.

Haynes is chairman of the City Affairs Committee, which sent charges against the Mayor to Gov. Roosevelt. The committee announced it would file more specific charges against the Mayor and his administration and conduct a series of mass meetings here.

Lee Scores Water Routes' Operation

PHILADELPHIA, March 26.—(AP.)—Elisha Lee, vice president of the Pennsylvania Railroad, yesterday criticized the manner in which artificial inland waterways are operated by the government and the absence of rate regulation in intercoastal shipping. He asserted the result in each case was "serious discrimination" against the railroad and certain of their users.

HEAVY GUARD RUSHES HIM TO HEARING

Girl Strangled in Battle to Save Her Honor, Declares Rhode Island Attorney

International News Service.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., March 26.—Elliott R. Hathaway, 28 year-old wealthy "play boy" and son of a state legislator, of Fall River, dramatically surrendered today to "face the music" in connection with a complaint charging him with strangling to death his "girl friend," Miss Verna Eloise Russell, 20-year-old pretty blonde student-nurse, whose body was found on a lonely road in Tiverton.

Eluding police in an intensive man-hunt throughout the East and Canada for the past 48 hours, Hathaway finally gave himself up in a hotel in North Attleboro. He was rushed across the Massachusetts-Rhode Island state line, and was brought to the county Courthouse here under a heavy guard of state troopers, and then was rushed to Newport for arraignment on a first-degree murder charge.

Miss Russell gave her life to save her honor, according to Attorney General Benjamin M. McLyman, who announced that the jealousy and holdup theories had been discarded. He said:

"From all the evidence I have at hand, Hathaway strangled the girl in an attempt to attack her."

A report that young Hathaway had a secret bride in New York was discredited when City Clerk Amil F. Bergeron reported to police he had no record of such a marriage.

Gov. Norman R. Case of Rhode Island, entered the case for the first time when he ordered a full report of the investigation.

Vernon V. Galvin, chum of Hathaway, and principal witness in the case, who is out on bail of $5,000, was to be questioned again by Attorney General McLyman.

BEAUTY'S BABES ASSURED CARE

NICE, France, March 26.—(AP.)—Temporary arrangements have been made locally so that the two small children of Mrs. Charlotte Nixon-Nirdlinger, awaiting trial here for slaying her husband, will want for nothing, at least until the arrival of their grandmother, Mrs. James H. Nash, of St. Louis. She is due in France today on the Aquitania.

It was announced by Magistrate Vachier, investigating the case of the former beauty pageant girl, that the children might have to be turned over to French charity unless funds were provided for them. When Mrs. Nixon-Nirdlinger was arrested for killing her husband, a Philadelphia theater owner, she had only $60.

Magistrate Vachier is gathering depositions in various European countries to complete the case. The woman, who claims she killed in self-defense, will be tried for murder, but not in the first degree.

PAIR LINKED IN LINGLE KILLING

CRIMINAL COURTS BUILDING, Chicago, March 26.—(AP.)—Attorneys for Leo Brothers, at his trial for the murder of Alfred Lingle, dwelt at length today on the identifiaction of Frank Foster, Chicago gangster, as one of the men seen near the spot of the assassination.

Otto Swoboda, who yesterday tesatified that Brothers was the man he saw before and after the shooting in the Randolps street pedestrian tunnel, was asked again today on cross-examination if he was sure that he also saw Foster. Foster now is out on bail under an indictment in connection with the Lingle case, and the gun used in the murder has been traced to him.

CIGARET SCENE RECALLED

Swoboda said that just before the killing he had observed Brothers standing at the subway entrance with his left hand in his pocket. Foster stood nearby, he said, and when Brothers placed a cigaret in his mouth Foster lit it for him. The defendant's left hand still remained in his pocket; Swoboda said this made him suspicious.

Bandits Dress In Victims' Clothing

NEW YORK, March 26.—(AP.)—Five robbers, two of them women, held a man and his wife prisoner for an hour in their own home at Hollis, L. I., last night, and robbed them of money, jewels and clothing. The victims were Dr. Edmund J. Bigall, a dentist, and his wife.

The robbers turned on all lights in the house, cut the telephone wires, played the radio. The girls stripped jewelry from Mrs. Bigall and redressed in her clothing.

Neighbors who passed the place said they thought a bridge game was in progress.

DUCE ANALYZES WHEAT CRISIS

ROME, March 26.—(AP.)—The world's wheat crisis comes not so much from over-production, but from under-consumption, Premier Mussolini told the inaugural meeting of the world grain conference here today. The United States is among the 46 nations represented.

Mussolini said it would be rash to call for limitation of cultivation of cereals "when in the world there are all too many people poverty-stricken and grievously distressed."

Bread, he said, has somewhat been replaced by more choice types of food with improved standards of life among the masses.

FOUR ARRESTED IN MAIL HOLDUP

GREENSBURG, Pa., March 26.—The daylight holdup of a United States mail truck and robbery of $4,000 in currency from Cyrus P. Markle, 60, of Greensburg, mail route carrier near Yukon, January 8, was believed solved when state police admitted arrest of four of the alleged bandits in their homes.

The men are: Thomas Allen, 32, Indiana, Pa.; John C. Williams, 30, Monongahela, Washington County, and I. E. Jennings, 50, of Canonsburg, and Edward Smith, 26, of Library. All are held at state police barracks here. Police recovered $1,000, they said.

2 More Arrested In Mussolini Plot

ROME, March 26.—(AP.)—Two more arrests in connection with plots against the life of Premier Benito Mussolini were announced yesterday by Italian secret police.

HOOVER STARTS TRIP HOME

U. S. S. ARIZONA, March 26.—(AP.)—President Hoover was en route home today with first-hand information of the problems which the United States faces in her Caribbean territory.

As he dropped back into the restful routine aboard the Arizona he had pleasant memories of tremendous receptions in Porto Rico and the Virgin Islands, the freshest being that of the Virgin Islands, which was almost fantastic.

Probably one of the oddest parades of all time passed before the President who saw vendors, school children and native scratch bands side by side in a colorful picture of insular life. Back aboard the Arizona the President let it be known he had enjoyed it all greatly but had difficulty in convincing himself it had been real.

Immediately after coming aboard the Arizona at St. Thomas he resumed his rest with a nap before a leisurely dinner and "talkies" on the deck. Throughout the night the ship pitched in the heavy ground swells. Weather reports indicated that there might be rough seas off the Carolina coast.

CHAMBERY, France, March 26.—(AP.)—Mademoiselle Boget, the victim of an alleged hammer attack by Louis Clark, of Los Angeles, died today. Clark is under arrest charged with the crime.

GANDHI INSISTS ON DELHI PACT

KARACHI, India, March 26.—(AP.)—The Exchange Telegraph Agency says that Mahatma Gandhi, in an interview with the agency's representative, has threatened to withdraw temporarily from Indian politics should the National Congress reject the Delhi agreement, which he negotiated.

Gandhi declared that the execution of Baghat Singh and his two colleagues had not affected his opinion toward a settlement of difficulties with Great Britain. Halting of the executions was entirely outside the terms of the truce, he explained.

Gandhi today condemned and deplored communal rioting Tuesday and Wednesday in Cawnpore, where 30 were killed and 200 injured before the disturbance was suppressed. He declared that such riots were a menace to the peace which now prevails between the Nationalists, gathering here for their annual meeting, and the government.

7 Seized for Sale Of Dope to Pupils

NEW YORK, March 26.—(INS.)—A "tip" by a clergyman that a narcotic ring was selling heroin to Brooklyn high school boys and girls today had led to the arrest of seven alleged dope peddlers and their ring chieftain.

Michael Partalino was accused of heading the ring. Narcotic agents claimed to have purchased $25,000 worth of narcotics from Partalino and his agents.

was considered an authority on Orphans Court procedure and real estate law. He was a member of the law firm of Kambach, Forsythe and Chess.

As a boy he attended Humboldt School in the South Side and was graduated from Old Central High School.

BANK DIRECTOR

He was director and solicitor for the Manufacturers Bank of Pittsburgh and attorney for several building and loan associations. He was the first and only attorney for the Colonial Building and Loan Association having served in that capacity for more than 20 years. He also was attorney for the Keystone Building and Loan Association and the Carson Building and Loan Association.

Mr. Kambach was a Mason, a member of Pittsburgh Commandery, the Shrine and the Royal Arcanum. He was president of the board of trustees of the South Side Presbyterian Church, a past exalted ruler of B. P. O. E. No. 11 and a past deputy exalted ruler of the state B. P. O. E. He was president of the South Pittsburgh Board of Trade, a member of the South Hills Country Club and a director of the Pittsburgh Motor Club.

OPPOSED LESLIE IN 1916

In 1916 Mr. Kambach was a candidate for State Senate, opposing Max Leslie, but was defeated, and for several years was active in politics only in his immediate community.

For the past year or more, while serving in City Council, he sought a long-felt want of the South Side—the widening of Carson street from South Tenth to South Seventeenth street. He had worked diligently for the improvement in Council up to the time of his death. During the World War he was head of the legal advisory board of the Fourteenth Zone.

Friends Had Planned Dinner for Kambach

A testimonial dinner had been planned for Councilman Kambach by the board of governors of the Colonial Building and Loan Association for April 10, it was revealed today by Paul J. Bleichner, real estate man of 1804 Carson street. The dinner was to have been held at the home of Mr. Bleichner's father, George J. Bleichner, former alderman of the Seventeenth Ward.

Kambach Praised By Friends at Bar

Harold M. Irons, of the Allegheny County Bar Association, presented a motion in Common Pleas Court today requesting that when adjournment takes place, it occur in memory of Mr. Kambach.

Both Mr. Irons and Judge Ambrose B. Reid, who received the motion, eulogized Mr. Kambach, speaking highly of his ability.

BOOM KELLER FOR HIGH COURT

HARRISBURG, March 26.—Political rumor today fastened on the name of Judge W. H. Keller, member of the Superior bench from Lancaster County, as a possible appointee to the Supreme Court vacancy created by the death of Judge Sylvester Sadler.

Judge Harry S. McDevitt, of Philadelphia, is being mentioned as successor to the Superior Court, and Charles Waters, soon to retire as auditor general is said to be under consideration for McDevitt's place on Philadelphia's Common Pleas bench.

Judge Keller is pointed out as a candidate who would have a good chance to be re-elected next fall. Waters' friends said he would not consider the post, and possibly could not win re-election because of his Grundy affiliation.

Court Delay Asked In Water Rate Case

PHILADELPHIA, March 26.—(AP.)—Three attorneys representing the complainants in the Scranton-Spring Brook Water Service Company rate case today presented a petition to Judge William B. Lynn, of the State Superior Court asking that the date for the hearing of appeals in the case by the Superior Court, set for April 20 at Pittsburgh, be postponed until next fall.

The Scranton-Spring Brook Company did not have counsel at the meeting and did not make any reply to the petition to postpone. It was explained that the Public Service Commission has filed its answer in the case and is ready to proceed at the hearing of appeals.

Money in Plane Halts Run on Bank

CHICAGO, March 26.—(AP.)—A flying banker halted a recent run on the Peoples Savings Bank and Trust Company of Moline, Fred J. Grechenbaum, vice president of the Central Trust Company of Illinois, it was disclosed today, made two flights to Moline, carrying $500,000 each trip, to avert a crisis after Robert C. Shallberg, cashier of the Peoples Bank, allegedly embezzled approximately $1,000,000.

BENN DENIES HE WILL QUIT P.S.C.

PHILADELPHIA, March 26.—(AP.)—James S. Benn, Public Service Commissioner, today denied published reports that he intends to resign. He said:

"Like most of the stories from the propaganda mill at Harrisburg, published reports that I intend to resign as a member of the Public Service Commission are without foundation."

HARRISBURG, March 26.—Confirmation of James S. Benn and Samuel Walker, members of the Public Service Commission, reappointed by former Gov. Fisher, will be delayed until the public utility investigations are completed. This was the statement of senators in answer to rumors that next week the two names might be brought up.

Benn has been under fire, and both have been before the committee investigating utilities.

BUS RATES SPUR BOARD FIGHT ON P. S. C.

Stand on 25-Cent Fares Contrary to Law, Allied Trade Bodies Declare

Charging that the attitude of the Public Service Commission on the 25-cent bus fare case is not consistent with the law and is contrary to public interest, attorneys for the Allied Boards of Trade last night offered to aid in the investigation of the commission being conducted by a special committee of the State House of Representatives.

At the same time they notified the commission that, unless it receded from the terms of its interim report on the bus case, they wished an indefinite postponement of hearings.

This action was taken following the submission of the commission's report to a meeting of the Allied Boards at the Congress of Women's Clubs last night.

The letters sent to the commission and the investigating committee virtually amount to charges that the commission has taken a prejudiced attitude and intimate that they intend to prove this charge.

The case was brought by the Allied Boards over two years ago following a survey of bus transportation in other cities made by the Sun-Telegraph. This study showed that Pittsburgh is the only city in which 25 cents must be paid for bus service of the type supplied here.

LIBERALS DELAY LABOR SUPPORT

LONDON, March 26.—(AP.)—After listening to David Lloyd George urge "a policy of co-operation, not frustration," the Liberal Candidates' Association deferred the vote today on the question of general support of the MacDonald government.

Thus, the British political crisis will be prolonged until Wednesday of next week, when the issue will be forced by Stanley Baldwin's move for a vote of censure.

Premier MacDonald already has indicated that, if defeated on this vote, the government probably will resign or recommend a general election.

Police Find Three Men Dead from Gas

NEW YORK, March 26.—(AP.)—Police discovered bodies of three men in an apartment in West Forty-ninth street, apparently asphyxiated by illuminating gas.

One was identified as Gaston Fouquez, Fifth avenue importer. The others were believed to be Reine Fouquez, a brother, and August Panchard, an uncle.

2 Freighters Crash In Fog Off Jersey

NEW YORK, March 26.—(INS.)—Heavy fog, which has delayed ocean liners, was responsible for a collision of two freighters off Barnegat, N. J., close to midnight last night, the Coast Guard reported today.

Both ships were damaged, but there was no one injured, according to latest reports.

Tributes Paid G. J. Kambach

Leaders in Pittsburgh public and political life today expressed sorrow over the death of Councilman George J. Kambach. Some of the comments:

CHARLES H. KLINE, Mayor—It was with deep regret, I assure you, that I learned of the sudden death of my close personal friend, George J. Kambach, Esquire. My heart is full of human sympathy for his family. He will be missed by thousands of his good friends in this community, all of whom have the most profound respect for him as a citizen and a public officer.

JOHN S. HERRON, President of City Council—The untimely death of Mr. Kambach came as a distinct shock to me. The City of Pittsburgh has lost a very conscientious, high class public official and the members of Council a true and loyal friend. We all respected him and feel his death keenly. My sincere sympathy goes to his family in their hour of bereavement.

HARRY A. LITTLE, Councilman—A real representative of the people. Mr. Kambach was one of the most pleasant men I have ever met. He was a conscientious worker and an agreeable and helpful Councilman.

MICHAEL J. MULDOWNEY, Councilman—It is a great shock to learn of Mr. Kambach's death. The city will lose a very very efficient worker and the people a true representative. It is only during the last year that I got to know Attorney Kambach closely, and I admired him for his business ability, his honesty, and his friendliness.

C. B. CONNELLEY, Councilman—He was a very conscientious man in his work and one of the best friends I had. His character was beyond reproach. He was well qualified to do the work he was chosen to perform.

W. Y. ENGLISH, Councilman—He was a clean, outstanding Christian gentleman, and it is hard to realize he is dead. By his passing away the city has lost a valuable administrator of its affairs.

DR. J. P. KERR, City Controller—I have known George for 40 years. He was honorable, upright, honest and a decent citizen. I have never known him to do a thing that wasn't right. He was conscientious in his work and sincere in his purposes. There wasn't a better man living in Pittsburgh than my friend, George Kambach.

DR. H. L. REINECKE, 1813 Carson street—I am inexpressibly shocked. He was a wonderful son and brother, and a fine neighbor. I have known him since boyhood, and I've been interested in his career. The community has lost an excellent man. His father and I served on the old School Board together, and I knew George well.

EDWARD G. LANG, Director of Public Works—Pittsburgh has lost an able and conscientious citizen; the bar, one of its outstanding members and we in the administration, a good man and one who endeavored to see his duty and perform it as to react to the best of all concerned. I will miss him as a friend, a wise counselor and a devoted public servant.

THE REV. R. L. HUTCHINSON, pastor South Side Presbyterian Church—I've known Mr. Kambach since I came to Pittsburgh three years ago. He was a very likeable man and highly respected among the people of the community—a man we are all going to miss. In his capacity of president of the board of trustees, he took charge of the recent renovation of the church and visited the church almost every day.

JOSEPH G. ARMSTRONG, County Commissioner—I was extremely sorry to learn the news of Councilman George J. Kambach passing away. Mr. Kambach was one of the outstanding citizens, not only from the Seventeenth Ward, where he was born and reared, but of the entire city of Pittsburgh, and was possessed of the inherent honesty and courage to do at all times what he felt was the right thing to do. Coming from a family of working people, he knew what it was to travel rough roads to reach his station in life as one of the outstanding attorneys at the Allegheny County bar. We in the vicinity where George had lived will not be the only ones to miss him, as his loss will be felt by the entire citizenry of the city of Pittsburgh.

JOSEPH N. MACKRELL, registrar of wills—Mr. Kambach was one of the most serious and conscientious men I have ever known. He was a square dealer, and that was his code as a fraternalist. He was of a rare type, devoting his mature years almost entirely to this undertaking.

C. C. McGOVERN, County Commissioner—The passing of George J. Kambach at his age is a distinct loss to the city to which he has contributed so much as a distinguished member of the profession of law. His public contributions were many. It was a privilege to have known him in an intimate way.

E. V. BABCOCK, County Commissioner—George J. Kambach was a serious thinking man whose public service and personal activities were inspired by the highest ideals. His passing is a distinct loss to the community.

MRS. ENOCH RAUH, Director of Public Welfare—I am deeply grieved to hear the news of Mr. Kambach's death. For him I had the highest admiration. He was a man of unimpeachable integrity. Pittsburgh has lost one of its most outstanding citizens.

JAMES M. CLARK, Director of Public Safety—The death of Councilman Kambach is a shock to me. I had known him for many years, and as a fellow attorney, he was held in high esteem by members of the bar association. His death coming at this time is a calamity. I think George Kambach never did a wrong thing in his life. I am heartily sorry for his parents. The city lost a conscientious servant and the bar association a worthy and loyal attorney."

REPPERT SAYS HE'LL RESIGN CITY JOB

of the city—those who should be executives are not executives."

During the morning session Evans charged Director Lang and Mr. Reppert with "so overcoming themselves with details that they can't see the big things." Testimony for the most part was taken upon the Lincoln avenue improvement which began yesterday.

A few minutes prior to Reppert's breakdown he began a long statement relative to conditions in the Department of Public Works when he took office as chief engineer. He said:

"The water works was in a precarious condition. Bridges in many cases were extremely dangerous. I suspected particularly the Woods Run Bridge, and had a private engineer make an examination in addition to my own tests. We closed it and tore it down. The cast iron columns in that bridge were cracked and might have failed at any time.

PAVING CHANGES

"I have done a number of such things. Radical changes have been made in street paving. I tried to get better and stronger pavements, with particular attention to the subgrade. This shows that the subgrade work is frequently a contingent item.

"I did not like the concrete materials in use, and, seeking the best concrete that could be bought for the money, had a number of commercial samples submitted. I knew that bad concrete was being used in the streets of Pittsburgh, so I had the sand and gravel inspected by trained men at the source. All of this saved the city hundreds of thousands of dollars. I am going to take up a number of specified items and show why I have not had time to check such items as the lumber used on Lincoln avenue."

Mr. Reppert then referred to the Irwin avenue improvement on the North Side where the Planning Commission estimated the cost at $1,500,000 and which the city completed with a bond issue of $477,000.

He told of the negotiations with the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad leading up to the Irvine street improvement in Hazelwood, in which city engineers succeeded in persuading the railroad to spend $200,000 more than it originally intended in creating a satisfactory improvement.

P. R. R. TERMINAL

The studies of the new Pennsylvania Railroad terminal then came up with many conferences and much labor.

He declared:

"I have six bureaus and hundreds of men under me. I have had my troubles. We let contracts sometimes to poorly qualified contractors, but always to the low bidder. If I fired every man in my department who made mistakes, I would fire them all, including myself. I make mistakes but they are honest mistakes."

"Do you think that the head engineer of the United States Steel Corporation or any other big concern who saw final estimates come into his office day after day from 10 to 50 per cent over the original, that he would fail to investigate and stop it?"

MADE COMPLAINTS

Reppert replied that he had complained to Tom Reed and J. J. Croak, assistant engineers, about the increased estimates, and that they had in turn complained to their subordinates. Reppert added:

"We do no rubber stamping and I have saved the city at least $100,000 by a system of intimate checking on all contracts."

Continuing his quizzing of the chief engineer, Evans said:

"Didn't you come to my office after I complained to the Mayor about the contracts, and not before."

"I can't say that I remember. I thought that you might be interested and I needed help. I went voluntarily."

Addressing his remarks to Council, Evans declared:

"I thought that Mr. Reppert was so committed to the system of intimate checking that there was no use paying any attention to it. I had faith in Mr. Reppert's honesty, and still have. After I had Mr. Hopkins select 35 of the 78 jobs which ran over 10 per cent of the original estimate, I selected three examples and took them to the Mayor. Whether the Mayor heard anything I said, I don't know. I talked to him more than an hour. I told him of the gross underestimation of the work."

CLEARS REPPERT

Evans added that he had told the Mayor that Reppert was not to blame.

Testifying as to the catch basins used on the Lincoln avenue improvement, Reppert said:

"If a delegation of citizens come before City Council and asks for nine catch basins, it is no longer a contingent matter."

Seeking to show how some of the estimates on city jobs had been changed, Evans introduced a letter written by Reed to Reppert. It referred to the Boulevard of the Allies improvement from Brady to Shaloam street. Reed wrote that the estimates on the job had been sent to his department for correction. Evans pointed out that an item on spoil had changed from 9,505 yards to 10,079, amounting to an increase of $20,000 in favor of the contractor. Another change which Evans said was favorable to the city related to bracing, which was changed from $2,780.14 to $2,780.13, a saving of one cent.

Reppert said that to estimate a quantity is to figure the accurate and right quantity, adding:

"If the figures call upon us to pay the contractor more than he is entitled, then the figures must be corrected. If our engineers do not figure the estimate correctly and underpay the contractor, then those figures must be corrected. I'll not be a party to cheating any man."

Although it had been expected that the investigation would consider the Boulevard of the Allies improvement today, evidence was still being taken on the Lincoln avenue repaving work, which took up the entire initial session yesterday.

CHARGES INCREASES

Broken stone sub-base from 200 yards to 1,921 yards; excavation for broken stone sub-base, from 150 yards to 1,674 yards; catch basins, from 49 to 62, and new lumber, from 20,000 board feet to 86,544 board feet.

Engineer Fox made the explanations to Evans' charges for the Department of Public Works. He said that:

Sub-soil encountered on the Lincoln avenue job was of butter clay, and required more broken stone for sub-base than originally estimated; that the estimated amount of paving was based on 20-foot roadway, whereas the paving was laid for 24-foot roadway; that residents of Lincoln avenue district complained of flood conditions, so the director authorized 10 additional catch basins, and that the use of new and used lumber is hard to determine because it depends upon local conditions and the program of the work.

Views Differ On Results of Works Probe

Principals in the public hearing of Henry Oliver Evans' charges against the Department of Public Works differ as to the results of the initial day's session and the probable length of the investigation. Opinions follow:

Henry Oliver Evans:

"This hearing is only getting started. We have a lot more evidence to present. I would like to say that certain members of Council are unfair in their methods of attacking and browbeating witnesses who come before them to speak of a matter of public interest.

Mrs. J. O. Miller, of the League of Women Voters:

"The hearing is bringing out some interesting things. I would like to know what technical training has been had by the subordinate city engineers who have testified. It appears that the men who have good training sit in the office and do not look at the job."

Mrs. R. Templeton Smith, League of Women Voters:

"I am still puzzled by the lumber item to know just what the procedure is. I do not understand the large amount of lumber used. When Shady avenue was paved we were stumbling over loose boards all the time."

Assistant District Attorney William H. Colvin:

"We are trying to discover evidence of fraud. So far we have been unable to do so."

Councilman Charles Anderson:

"This hearing hasn't got any place so far, except to show that the method of securing bids will have to be changed."

Edward G. Lang, director of the Department of Public Works:

"The hearing is progressing very satisfactorily. So far no evidence has been represented that will react against the department."

Auto Injuries Fatal To W. Va. Woman

CLARKSBURG, W. Va., March 26.—Mrs. William Barboa, of Anmoore, a Clarksburg suburb, died yesterday at Uniontown, Pa., of injuries suffered Sunday in an automobile crash near Uniontown. The body was brought here for burial.

NEW RAIL LINK READY APRIL 1

Service will be started by April 1 on the new $1,500,000 project linking the Donora Southern Railroad with the Connellsville extension of the Pittsburgh and West Virginia Railroad, H. H. Temple, chief engineer of the P. & W. Va., today announced. The connection was completed yesterday.

The new link, which connects with the American Steel and Wire Company's plants at Donora, was connected with the Connellsville branch at Baird Station. The final rails were laid at the Eldora viaduct. All work has been completed on the 1,700-foot tunnel on the new link, which is to be known as the Vang tunnel, named for the contracting firm. Workmen are now concreting side ditches on the shorter No. 2 tunnel and it is expected that the cleanup work will end by March 31.

PASSION PLAY HOLMES' TOPIC

The Passion Play of 1930 as contrasted with the same play in Oberammergau in 1900 was intimately and vividly shown in pictures and described in words by Burton Holmes, in the second of his Traveltalks of the season at Carnegie Music Hall last night. Close-up views of the older players of today and as they looked 30 years ago added unusual interest to the lecture. Colored pictures, showing the beauty of the flowers, gardens and picturesque dwellings of the village of Oberammergau, were shown as well as the hustle and bustle of the tourists who flocked to the great play which is given but once every 10 years. Next week Holmes will show a North African tour including the countries along the coast from Morocco to Tunis.

THE BEST PLACE TO SHOP, AFTER ALL

A Special Selling of DRESSES

$10.75

MORE than a thousand spring dresses from our regular stocks at higher prices—some that were more than twice as much. Women's Dresses, Misses' Dresses, Junior-Misses' Dresses, Tailor-Types, Large and Small Women's Dresses, Sunshine Corner Frocks, Sports Dresses, Black and White, and Fashion-Thrift Dresses—each in its respective section and all at the above price. We predict that the racks will be swept clean in a single day. The chance to add a smart frock or two to one's wardrobe, at so small a cost, is sure to be irresistible to socially active women.

No Mail or Telephone Orders, or Approvals

...Horne's, Second Floor...

A Junior-Miss' Sunday night or dinner ensemble, the frock of printed chiffon and the jacket of flat crepe.

One of the new bordered dot prints, so well suited to the lines of this Tailor-Type model for women.

A Miss' frock of black flat crepe with white accents, sponsoring the vogue of short sleeves and the jacket effect.

The Advanced Mouldette

$3.95

You're too slender to wear a heavy corset, but you need just a bit of a foundation? Then come in and try on an Advanced Mouldette, and see what smooth, graceful lines it gives you—and how perfectly it fits.

It weighs just 5 ounces and there isn't a bone or a hook in it.

Easter Luggage Specials

Men's Gladstones

$10.95

Not the "split" leather so often found in cases around this price—but genuine top-grain cowhide, choice of black or brown. Lined with durable fabric; fitted with swivel handle and brass-finish hardware. 24-in. size.

Leather-Lined Gladstones—the same as above case, but leather lined. $12.95.

Women's Cases, $3.95

Ideal for the college girl going home for Easter, or for anyone wanting a substantial, good-looking case at little cost. Of black or brown fabricoid, rayon moire lined. 16 to 24-inch sizes.

Women's Hatboxes, of fabricoid, $6.95.

...Luggage, Third Floor...

JOSEPH HORNE CO

Of First Importance...

The Seamless Opera

Because it harmonizes so discreetly with any ensemble scheme... because its classic lines are always flattering... because it meets with unquestioned smartness the demands for street, afternoon, and evening wear.

NORMA SHEARER INTERVIEWED ON RADIO

Start Quizzed by Film Editor Of Hearst Papers; Gives Views on Role of 'Vamp'

LOS ANGELES, March 26.—What does your husband think about you playing wild roles like the one in "Divorcee" on the screen—you who are such a devoted wife and mother?

Louella O. Parsons asked Norma Shearer that question in their radio broadcast last night. Miss Shearer replied:

"At first he was afraid I might be criticized for playing a lady with such plastic morals."

"How do you feel about it?"

Miss Shearer, laughing, replied, replied:

"I thought Irving Thalberg ought to see what a vamp I could be if ever I had need to give him a lesson."

RECALL LUNCHEON

Miss Parsons, who is motion picture editor of the Hearst papers and Universal Weekly, and Miss Shearer, in reviewing among many other interesting things a luncheon they had together at the Algonquin Hotel in New York City a few years ago, Miss Parsons told her:

"Norma, I shall never forget you that day—the determined youngness of you and the proud independence."

Miss Shearer replied:

"I wanted to impress you. You kept bowing to the celebrities and that one, I said to myself, 'I'll show her I am just as well worth her time as anyone in this room.'"

"I have often thought of you, Norma, and of the way you said, 'Of course, everything will be different now that I am a contract player.'"

DISAPPOINTED ON COAST

Miss Shearer confessed that at that time she thought a contract was the open sesame to fame. Consequently, she was keenly disappointed when she arrived in California to go to work for the Goldwyn company and to find no red carpet or brass band at the station to welcome her. Miss Parsons said:

"So you married the boss and now you can have all the red carpets and brass bands you want."

"Yes—and now I would run a mile if I saw a brass band and the trimmings."

RICHARD DIX NEXT

This new and modern method of interviewing was sent out over the Columbia Broadcasting System and handled in Pittsburgh by WJAS. It was the seventh of a series of delightful radio broadcasts, conducted with world-famous stars on the Sunkist program. It was Miss Shearer's first radio appearance and for that reason the talk was unusually interesting.

Next week Miss Parsons will interview Richard Dix.

Fishing Trip, Not Divorce, Aim Of Dempsey

SALT LAKE CITY, March 26 (AP).—A fishing trip is the object of Jack Dempsey's projected Nevada visit, it was stated here by Jack Price, an associate of the former heavyweight champion for many years.

Price said Dempsey and "the Cherokee Kid," whom he identified as a second dealer at Reno, have an engagement for a six-weeks' trout fishing excursion next month on streams near the Nevada capital.

Price said:

"As for any rift between Jack and his wife, Estelle Taylor, such talk is ridiculous. They are the most harmonious couple in Los Angeles."

HOSPITAL MEET HERE IN 1932

PHILADELPHIA, March 26 (AP).—John M. Smith, superintendent of the Hahnemann Hospital, Philadelphia, was elected president of the Hospital Association of Pennsylvania in annual conference here. He succeeds William M. Burroughs, superintendent of the Reading Hospital.

The conference voted to meet in Pittsburgh next year. Other officers chosen included H. J. Yearsley, superintendent of the Pittsburgh Homeopathic Hospital, and Miss Mary V. Stephenson, superintendent of the University of Pennsylvania Hospital, vice presidents, and Elmer E. Matthews, superintendent of the Wilkes-Barre General Hospital, treasurer.

Miss Mary A. Rothrock, superintendent of the Clearfield Hospital, was elected to fill an unexpired term on the board of trustees. The retiring president also was named to the board.

Wilmerding Man Struck by Trolley

Gabe Bacco, 20, of 128 State street, Wilmerding, was bruised about the body early today when struck by a street car at Fifth avenue and Chesterfield road. He was treated at the Montefiore Hospital and then sent home.

Berlin Sky Gazers Photograph New Celestial Body

BERLIN, March 26 (AP).—A newly discovered celestial body is being traced nightly and photographed as weather permits by the Bergendorf Observatory.

The observatory first located the object on March 17 in the constellation Virgo, moving across the heavens at great rapidity. It was catalogued as a star of the thirteenth magnitude and of small luminosity.

Just what it is, Bergendorf astronomers were not prepared to say, except that it was "a fast-moving object."

DRY VIOLATORS FINED $400

Three defendants in Federal Court pleaded guilty to violations of the dry law in McKeesport. George Granesy was fined $100 when he admitted selling and possessing contraband liquor and maintaining a common nuisance in a building on Market street. Sandor Mory pleaded to selling and possessing liquor and maintaining a common nuisance at 411 Jerome street and was fined $150. Max Feldman was fined $150 for possessing and transporting liquor.

Pittsburgh, Homestead and McKeesport

NAME ELEVATOR FIRM OFFICIAL

Frank C. Reed, Chicago, general sales manager of the Westinghouse Electric Elevator Company, was elected vice president of the company at a meeting of the board of directors yesterday in New York. He will take the place of R. I. Phillips, resigned.

Mr. Reed

Reed, a graduate of Massachusetts Institute of Technology, has been associated with the company since 1903, with headquarters at East Pittsburgh until 1921. Among elevator installations with which he has been connected in Pittsburgh were those in the Grant and Koppers buildings.

Woman Hit by Auto Limps to Call Aid

Staggering into No. 19 Engine Company in First avenue this morning, Miss Anna Sokel, 29, of 819 Carson street, told firemen of having been struck by an automobile which sped away, leaving her lying in the street. The woman was removed to the Allegheny General Hospital, where it was discovered her left ankle was fractured. The victim was en route to work when knocked down as she was crossing Smithfield street at First avenue.

-:- REAL ESTATE -:-

The Dauphin County Court late yesterday affirmed the order of the Department of Public Instruction in suspending for four months the real estate broker's license of J. A. Young & Co., J. A. Young, J. C. Young and Walter D. Young. The order specifies that should J. C. Young sever his relations with the company for the period of his suspension, the license of the company and the others related with the organization could be kept in force. According to Robert W. Somenow, director of the real estate brokers license law, the department had ordered the license suspended on the allegation that J. C. Young, as an agent, in order to obtain a second commission, falsely represented to his principal that another broker was active in a real estate transaction.

The Hanover Shoe Company has leased from C. D. and George Sibley the store and basement at 850 Fifth avenue, New Kensington, and will immediately make alterations for a new store featuring boy's and men's shoes. The store is expected to open for business April 1. The Horner Real Estate Company, downtown brokers, negotiated the lease.

A home in Hillcrest avenue, Tenth Ward, has been purchased by William E. Rouse from John McNally for $5,500. The lot measures 25x100 feet.

Pittsburgh has received the highest rating for fire prevention work in cities of more than 300,000 population, according to the National Fire Waste Council of the United States Chamber of Commerce. The city, says the council, effected a saving in fire losses of more than $300,000 in 1930. The surveys of office building made by the National Association of Building Owners and Managers show losses of from 8 cents to 11½ cents per dollar of fire insurance premiums. The construction of modern fireproof office building has reduced fire dangers to a minimum and raises the question as to whether the fire insurance companies have given rate reductions commensurate with the improved conditions, the association states. The Building Owners' and Managers' Association in several cities have been able to successfully prove to the Board of Fire Underwriters the justification of reduced rates on office building. The Pittsburgh Owners' and Managers' Association says that the good record made by Pittsburgh in fire prevention places the city first in the safety records of Pennsylvania.

The Associated Apartment Houses of Pittsburgh will hold a dinner meeting next Tuesday at 6:30 o'clock in the Georgian Apartments, 5437 Ellsworth avenue.

Howard C. Rieman has sold to Christof Weitnauer an improved property in Roland avenue, Baldwin Township, for $3,000. The lot is 78x108 feet.

STUDEBAKER PRESIDENT

WINS national economy championship!

Free Wheeling President Eight sets new A.A.A. record for gasoline economy in famous Pacific Coast contest. Free Wheeling Studebaker Six wins second honors.

ANOTHER triumph for Free Wheeling . . . only two Free Wheeling Studebakers were entered in the third annual Gilmore-Wrightwood economy run—and they won first and second place . . . in competition with 40 other cars of 20 makes from the very cheapest to the most costly.

While this run proved officially only the economy of Free Wheeling, it demonstrated conclusively the simplicity of Free Wheeling as well, since all drivers were women.

Mrs. William Hurter, in a Free Wheeling President carrying five passengers, took first place with an American Automobile Association record of 46.71 ton miles per gallon of gasoline. Her car averaged better than 17½ speedometer miles per gallon over the 200 mile route which extended continuously upward from sea level to 6000 feet elevation.

Mrs. Jeanne Frost, in a Free Wheeling Studebaker Six, won second honors. Her car averaged over 23½ speedometer miles per gallon of gasoline but, because of its lighter weight, its ton mile average was 44.94. The Studebaker Six used less gasoline than any other sedan on the run. Neither car required the addition of oil or water.

Free Wheeling not only saves gasoline and oil but chassis wear and repairs. It makes momentum take the place of gasoline—it gives you 10 speedometer miles for 8 engine miles.

With Free Wheeling, you shift back and forth between high and second at any speed without touching the clutch. You get the greatest driving thrill and driving safety in motoring. Highway commissioners and safety directors, after driving Free Wheeling Studebakers, have pronounced Free Wheeling with positive gear control a new measure of safety to driver and public.

This same Free Wheeling has been adopted by Pierce-Arrow and Lincoln. Decide now, that you will choose no new car of the old order until you first go Free Wheeling in a Studebaker President, Commander or Dictator Eight, or brilliant new low-priced Studebaker Six. See a Studebaker dealer today and arrange for a trial drive.

All Studebaker cars now have Free Wheeling. The Studebaker Six ($795 to $995), The Dictator Eight ($1095 to $1250), The Commander Eight ($1585 to $1730), The President Eight ($1850 to $2600). Prices at the factory.

Players' Crash-Suit Jury Locked, Ousted

LOS ANGELES, March 26.—(AP)—A jury deliberating on a $32,000 damage suit against Frederic March, film star, and his wife, Florence Eldridge, actress, was dismissed after it had become hopelessly deadlocked last night. The plaintiffs, Harry Greenberg, printing plant proprietor, and his wife, Betty, alleged they were injured seriously in 1929 when their auto was struck by one driven by Miss Eldridge.

Exiled Five Years For Telling Untruth

CHICAGO, March 26.—(AP)—A five-year exile from the United States to atone for an alleged falsehood he told when he applied for citizenship was the punishment Federal Judge James H. Wilkerson gave to Nicholas Graaman. Judge Wilkerson gave him the option of returning to his wife and two children in Holland for five years or face a penitentiary sentence. Graaman elected to accept the exile and was given until June 1 to comply.

Motorman Freed In Children's Death

MIDLAND, Pa., March 26.—A coroner's jury last night exonerated Winn Hall, Wellsville, O., operator of a suburban street car, in the deaths of Boratore Denheo, 8, and Duva Schmidt, 12, of Midland. The boys died in the hospital from injuries received when the wagon on which they were being shoved along the street tracks was struck by a street car, March 4.

Priest Home, Lauds China Missionaries

LATROBE, Pa., March 26.—Don Sylvester Healy, O. S. B., head of the department of physics in the Catholic University, Pekin, China, who arrived at St. Vincent's Archabbey here last night, declared that priests and missionaries are the saviours of the people in those parts of China infested by bandits. Leaving Peiping February 2, he crossed Siberia and Russia to Rome and then came to this country, visiting his father, D. J. Healy, in Detroit.

TOWNSHIP ROAD JOB HELD UP

George J. Campbell, representing taxpayers of Hampton and McCandless townships, has asked County Commissioners to take over the maintenance of Duncan avenue and McFarland road.

County engineers explained a survey was made some time ago, when the estimated cost of the improvement was placed at $235,000, nearly half of which represented the expense of eliminating a dangerous crossing over the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad tracks.

Commissioner Edward V. Babcock suggested alternate routes, costing $75,000 and $135,000, respectively, that would keep the thoroughfare away from the railroad. On motion of Commissioner McGovern, action was deferred until efforts are made to have the state improve the road under its highway program.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE— WITHOUT CALOMEL

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

If you feel sour and sunk and the world looks punk, don't swallow a lot of salts, mineral water, oil, laxative candy or chewing gum and expect them to make you suddenly sweet and buoyant and full of sunshine.

For they can't do it. They only move the bowels and a mere movement doesn't get at the cause. The reason for your down-and-out feeling is your liver. It should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily.

If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas bloats up your stomach. You have a thick, bad taste and your breath is foul, skin often breaks out in blemishes. Your head aches and you feel down and out. Your whole system is poisoned.

It takes those good, old CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." They contain wonderful, harmless, gentle vegetable extracts, amazing when it comes to making the bile flow freely.

But don't ask for liver pills. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills. Look for the name Carter's Little Liver Pills on the red label. Resent a substitute.

JAMES TODD BALLANTYNE, Deceased. Pursuant to an Order of the Court of Chancery of the County Palatine of Lancaster, dated the 25th day of November, 1930, in the estate of JAMES TODD BALLANTYNE, deceased, Holland against Ballantyne, 1930 H. No. 26.

An enquiry whether Charles Ballantyne, one of the residuary legatees and devisees under the Will of the above named James Todd Ballantyne, late of Silver House, Darwen, in the County of Lancaster, medical practitioner, who died on the 26th day of June, 1917, is living or dead, and if he be dead, when he died, or after the death of the said James Todd Ballantyne, and if he died after the said James Todd Ballantyne, who are his legal personal representatives.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that all persons claiming to be entitled under the said enquiry are, on or before the 4th day of April, 1931, by their Solicitors to come in and prove their claims at the Chambers of the Registrar of the Preston District (Blackburn), situate at 31 Victoria Street, Blackburn, in the said County, or in default thereof they will be excluded from the benefit of the said Order unless the Court on application otherwise orders Thursday, the 16th day of April, 1931, at 10:30 o'clock in the forenoon at the said Chambers is appointed for hearing and adjudicating upon the claims.

A claimant not residing in England or Wales must send with particulars of his claim the name and address of a person in England or Wales to whom notices to the claimant can be sent.

Dated this 20th day of February, 1931.

JOHN M. WORTHINGTON, Registrar.

NOTE—The above named Charles Ballantyne was a son of William Ballantyne (a carpenter), a brother of the said James Todd Ballantyne, and is said to have been born at Allegheny, in the State of Pennsylvania.

FLIERS IN NEW VIKING SEARCH

ST. JOHNS, N. F., March 26.—(INS.)—Another attempt to locate possible survivors of the sealing ship Viking will probably be made from Corner Brook, N. F., today by Bernt Balchen and two companion fliers.

The search will be attempted as soon as new sparkplugs shipped there for the England have been installed. Previous flights over Horse Island and White Bay, scene of the blast which destroyed the Viking and brought disaster to its crew and the film expedition of Varick Frissell, have failed to reveal a trace of the missing men.

Four steamers that rushed to the rescue of Viking survivors are still in the vicinity of Horse Island, held fast by the ice jam.

Americans, Working Free, Save Show

LONDON, March 26.—(AP.)—C. B. Cochran, uncrowned king of the British amusement world, having realized that his 1931 revue was a box office flop, announced that he would close the show after a run of only nine days.

But the American dancer, Ada Mae, and the American comedians, Clark and McCullough, co-starring in the production, offered to work without pay if Cochran would run the show for another fortnight, providing work at least that much longer for the chorus and the other members of the cast. Cochran agreed.

Wife Names Siamese Twins; Gets Divorce

KANSAS CITY, March 26.—(AP.)—Her husband spent too much time with the Siamese twins for whom he was advance agent, Mrs. Mildred Oliver testified in asking a divorce.

Moreover, she said, the twins—the Misses Daisy and Violet Hilton, San Antonio, Tex., provided expensive gifts for the husband, William Oliver. Mrs. Oliver also alleged failure to provide proper support. She got the divorce.

'Plain American' May Spurn Job As Turk Mayor

EVANSTON, Ill., March 26.—(AP.)—Whether to be just a plain American citizen or mayor of Kombugie, a Turkish town with 2,000 inhabitants, was a question that Ollie Smile was unable to answer today.

Smile, a real estate man whose name used to be Ali Riza Smile, said he had fallen heir to Kombugie, a suburb of Istanbul, by the will of his uncle, Ben Hamde.

COYLE ELECTED, COURT HOLDS

MAUCH CHUNK, Pa., March 26.—(AP.)—Judge Thomas this morning handed down his decision in the Kent-Coyle congressional election contest, holding that the count of the ballots as made by the election boards stands. This means that the court rules that Coyle (Rep.), was elected to Congress last November.

William R. Coyle (Rep.), was declared elected last fall in the official count by a majority of 882 over Everett Kent (Dem.). Kent filed a contest against Coyle's election, and his friends also caused a recount to be made of the ballots in eight election districts, the petitions for the recount alleging fraud. The recount gave Kent a majority of 131.

While the recount was in progress some of the persons who signed the petitions came into court and testified they did not know of any fraud and had signed the petitions without definite knowledge of their contents. Coyle filed a motion that the petitions on which the recount was made be dismissed, and it was on this motion the court ruled today.

Kent's counsel announced an appeal would taken to the State Supreme Court and that a contest would be begun in Congress to seat Kent. The issue was considered as having a vital bearing on the slim Republican majority at the next session of Congress.

SLASH IN ALIEN QUOTAS URGED

WASHINGTON, March 26.—(INS.)—A drastic 90 per cent reduction in immigration quotas for the next five years will be proposed in the new Congress for the relief of unemployment, Senator Harris (Dem.), of Georgia, announced today.

This reduction, Harris said, would have been authorized for two years at least in the last session if the Hoover administration had favored it. He predicted enactment of the five-year cut next fall regardless of the administration's attitude.

Aside from slashing immigration quotas, Harris declared, a drive would be initiated to tighten up existing regulations to deport aliens illegally in this country and to erect further barriers against alien smuggling. He said the whole restrictive program would keep at least 1,500,000 alien workers out of this country in the next five years, if enacted.

Skinny, I Gained 25 Lbs. and Lovely, Clear Skin Quick

"Skinny," weak men and women are amazed at gain of 5 to 15 pounds in three weeks. Ugly hollows vanish. Bony limbs round out. Sallow, blemished skin gets clear and rosy like magic. Nervousness, indigestion, constipation disappear. Sound sleep, new pep quick. Two great tonics in one—special weight-building Brewer's Yeast and strengthening Iron. Pleasant little tablets. Far stronger than unmedicated yeast. Results in one-half time. No yeasty taste, no gas.

COLLEGE SIFTS LIQUOR PARTIES

BLOOMINGTON, Ind., March 26.—(AP.)—Despite investigation by university officials into recent alleged liquor parties at fraternity dances, scheduled social affairs will not be interrupted, student leaders said today.

Officials denied a campus report that an open dance sponsored by the Indiana Union was canceled last week for fear of liquor violation, explaining the union failed to provide for chaperones within the required time limit.

NOVEL SEASONING GIVES LAMB CHOPS SAVORY FLAVOR

Blend of Sugar, Salt, Vinegar and Oil Is the Secret

This seasoning may be used for roast shoulder or leg of lamb as well as the chops.

First make a mixture of ¼ teaspoonful salt, 1 level teaspoonful sugar, 2 teaspoonfuls lemon juice or vinegar and 5 tablespoonfuls of salad oil. Pour this well-shaken mixture over the chops, shoulder or leg of lamb a few minutes before cooking. If you wish you can use the mixture for basting the meat as it cooks. You will be delighted with the way this seasoning heightens the flavor of the lamb.

The sugar is an important ingredient in this mixture just described because it blends the salt, lemon juice and oil into a smooth, restful goodness.

A combination of sugar and salt is a good seasoning to use in vegetables as well as meat cookery. Some cooks use equal parts—others increase salt or sugar content to taste. Most foods are more delicious with sugar. The Sugar Institute.

Villa Killer Missing, Fear Feud Revenge

MEXICO CITY, March 26.—(AP.)—Friends of Jesus Salas Barraza, credited with the leadership of the band which shot Pancho Villa from ambush in 1923, feared today that he had fallen a victim to the revenge of the bandit leader's followers.

Salas was released several days ago from a jail in Moctezuma, Chihuahua, and disappeared.

3 Hold package as shown and with your thumbs push it part way out of Humidor Pack

4 To avoid tearing tin foil, slip first finger of each hand under Revenue stamp and break it

5 Help yourself to a fresh cigarette, then slide package back into its Humidor Pack

6 Close package. It guards Camels from dust and germs and provides sanitary protection

THE moment you open the new Camel Humidor Pack you begin to note the advantages of this new, scientific and sanitary method of wrapping Camel cigarettes.

At once you are greeted with the delightful aroma that comes from choicest Turkish and mellowest Domestic tobaccos in prime condition.

Your sense of touch also detects the freshness of Camels, for unlike moisture-robbed cigarettes Camels are pliable to the fingers.

But the real difference comes when you light a Camel and inhale its cool, fragrant smoke.

Cigarettes brought to you so perfectly conditioned deserve to be kept that way in your pocket.

The simplest way to insure this is to open the Camel Humidor Pack as shown above.

That will keep intact the mildness and freshness that is making the whole country say: "Now I'd walk two miles for a Camel because they're twice as good."

If you haven't tried Camels in the new Humidor Pack, switch over for just one day.

Then go back tomorrow if you can.

CAMELS

Smoke a FRESH Cigarette!

THE GOOD HOSTESS PROVIDES CAMELS

Artificial heat in houses and apartments soon dries the moisture out of cigarettes wrapped the old fashioned way. It is the mark of a considerate hostess, by means of the Humidor Pack, to "Serve a fresh cigarette." Buy Camels by the carton —this cigarette will remain fresh in your home and office.

WE NOW PRESENT

By DARRELL V. MARTIN, Radio Editor.

KQV has warmed up to the coldest proposition in this city—the broadcast play by play of a hockey game from Duquesne Garden. We shudder to think that it has been seven long years since hockey has been on the air here. In 1924 Roy Schooley gave the first description of a hockey game on the radio via KDKA. The same Roy Schooley (and who knows more about hockey?) is to command the KQV microphone at 8:30 tonight when the Yellow Jackets and Buffalo face off in the International League championship series. Jack Buchheit is to be nearby with interesting celebrities, while a third microphone is to pick up band music. A check of records shows that it will be the first time that a hockey game in Pittsburgh has been broadcast in its entirety.

There's none of the King's horses in the Aintree Steeplechase at Liverpool tomorrow, but nevertheless Lord Derby, of the royalty, has something to say and he says it (WJZ at 6 tonight).

And the merry chase with your horse out front (we hope) comes via KDKA tomorrow morning at 9:45 with Clem McCarthy at the binoculars.

Hellmut H. Hellmut, the German announcer who did a fine broadcast from the Statue of Liberty this morning over KDKA, has been in a pickle-ment over that middle name ever since he landed in this country. And no wonder—it's "Heinz."

* * *

This far and nothing yet about Bernice Claire. My! My! Well she rises to do "Indian Love Call" in Rudy Vallee's yeast broadcast on WCAE at 8.

And Arthur Abbott's suggestion that Rudy cut out the Art Shires stuff and give his Connecticut Yankees a little credit has sunk in on the sponsor. See how many times Rudy says "I" tonight.

If you're a spiritual-ist and even if you're not, catch Paul Robeson in Negro religion on KDKA at 9:30. Particularly, "Water Boy"—the convict song.

QUESTION A DAY:

Answer—A Chicago high school boy actually taps these steps on a special sounding board three feet from the microphone.

No faking in that Morse code you heard on Tampa's program last night. It was an actual message dot-dashed by "Bill" Scott, WCAE operator, for "John P. Hankey."

The train was "real." Tampa has the best sound effects on the air in this city.

Ed Harvey, whose "Coffee Cups" is being talked about, has an equally versatile wife. On the stage she is known as Selma Kostner, cousin of Josef Koestner, famous orchestra leader.

V. M., Morgantown—Rex Cole Mountaineers on WEAF at 5:45 every day but Sunday. Report about $175,000 contract a lot of applesauce. Yes, we like Kate Smith. Hear her tonight at 11:30 on WJZ, WGAR, WENR. Also George Ku's Hawaiians on WJZ AT 11:45.

* * *

Many rate Brad Browne and Al Llewelyn with "Sisters of the Skillet." Be your own judge in their new program, WJAS at 9.

Columbia plans to synchronize WCAH at Columbus, WOKO at Albany, WHEC at Rochester and WHP at Harrisburg on 1430 kilocycles within six weeks. Our prophesy of practical synchronization for 1931 seems to have come true.

The Federal Radio Commission has dropped Robert M. Thompson's application for a new local station to operate on 1380 kilocycles, the frequency used now by KQV . . . Gene Austin is to croon for KDKA Sunday audiences starting April 5.

* * *

A cigar band at WLW played "My Cigaret Lady" the other night. Fogging the issue, eh what?

Willard Robison, Vincent Lopez, J. Harold Murray and Peggy Hopkins Joyce are promised on the "Theater of the Air" tomorrow night at 10:30 via WCAE from the SS. Leviathan.

The Loudspeaker

By LOUIS REID

NEW YORK, March 26.—A lull has come in the radio chiefs' campaign of spectacular broadcasts. International programs, they admit, are no longer either novel or startling. What to do? What to do next, to capture the ears sensationally while they wait nervously for television, has become what the professors call their biggest headache.

There seems to be no solution at present—no solution, that is, unless they bring to the microphone the three remaining world figures whose voices have yet to penetrate American parlors — Wilhelm Hohenzollern, Stalin and Gandhi.

The majoriay of foreign broadcasts today are concerned chiefly with speeches by men and women in British public life with an occasional outstanding sports event scheduled to break the monotony of talks. The talks, American radio men admit, are no more important than those which are aired regularly in this country. Listeners may be interested in the British viewpoint of international politics, in the personalities from various walks of life that march to the microphones, but they do not rush to the dials with a feeling that they are to hear a broadcast of vast and spectacular appeal.

Nor does the average American listener have any unusual interest in British sports, especially under present conditions, when broadcasts are exclusively in the hands of English commentators, whose accents are not only hard to understand, but who scrupulously sacrifice whatever excitement the event contains to accuracy. American ear-cuppers not only demand accuracy in the radio accounts of sports, but an appeal to their emotions. They want, in short, to be thrilled.

And there has not been a hint of a thrill in any sports event radioed to date from Britain—not even in the classic Derby at Epsom Downs, though there must have been thrills a-plenty in a race in which the winner beat his chief rival by the traditional neck.

The NBC made an effort to inject some measure of American excitement in a British sports broadcast by dispatching the able Clem McCarthy to Liverpool to report the running of the Grand National Steeplechase. When McCarthy sought to broadcast a description of the race to American armchairs he met a firm and formidable "no" from the government-owned British Broadcasting Company. He was told he could give a summary of the event after it had been run, but he was not to describe the actual running. That would be the exclusive privilege of the BBC's own men, though not a syllable of McCarthy's suggested broadcast would be heard in Great Britain.

While the B. B. C. continues cordial relations with American broadcasters, gives them access to leading English figures, transmits to us regularly a variety of programs it does not intend to surrender any of its broadcasting functions to outsiders. And we can scarcely blame them. If they gave up one inch of their domain they might be called upon sooner or later to surrender a major part of it.

Perhaps, their fears of foreign influence were increased by that grandiose idea of American broadcasters—nothing yet has come of it to transmit commercial programs into England from the shelter of the Irish Free State. What a fluster such a plan must have given the broadcasting bigwigs of Savoy Hill!

Sugar Chemist Wins Medal Second Time

WASHINGTON, March 26.—(AP.)—Discoveries in the field of how the body avails itself of the sun's energy stored in sugars again have won for Dr. Claude S. Hudson, of the Public Health Service, a token of esteem from his colleagues in chemistry.

Twenty years of study of the ring structure of sugar will be rewarded tonight with the Hillebrand prize of the Chemical Society of Washington.

Prohibition Discussed By Women

A perfectly friendly and recrimination-free discussion of the pros and cons of prohibition repeal was conducted yesterday under auspices of the open forum committee of the Twenty-seventh Ward Women's Community Association. The discussion, which took place in Mrs. Charles S. Shoemaker's home in Termon avenue, was presented by Mrs. Carroll Miller, local head of the Women's Prohibition Reform Organization, and Mrs. Elizabeth J. Gibson, county president of the W. C. T. U.

Mrs. Miller, after stating that the prohibition amendment had been "put over" irregularly, gave statistics to show that sincse prohibition drunkenness, arrests, crime, deaths from alcoholism, consumption of liquor had all increased. Prohibition has become an element in political affairs that begins at the cross roads, goes through the counties straight to the nation's cauital, she said. What has been done is to make a crime of something that never was a crime; temperance (Mrs. Miller distinguished very definitely between temperance and prohibition) must be a matter of personal responsibility, a matter of character; the "shall not" theory of prohibition is wrong, she holds.

After stating that the country had been in preparation for prohibition since 1876, Mrs. Gibson, too, gave statistics and quoted authorities—to show that America has been lawless in spirit for 30 years, that increased crime is due to a breakdown in the nome, that drunkenness has decreased, that health and wealth have both increased with prohibition and that many outstanding organizations indorse it. Mrs. Gibson held that people should think less of the self-deprivation prohibition has brought and show more reverence for their country and its laws.

Mrs. Homer N. Young, president of the association, introduced the speakers calling attention to the fact that it was by no means a debate and that further discussions on other topics are to follow.

CONTRASTING MATERIALS USED FOR NEWEST EVENING FROCKS

Sketched in Paris

Paris Bureau, Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph.

PARIS, March 26.—If the night has a thousand eyes, as the poet avers, it needs them to keep tab on the constantly changing panorama of evening clothes. New ideas come into the sartorial spotlight constantly and the ballroom floor of any smart resort takes on the appearance of a grand exposition of fashions. And varied as the models are, they somehow manage cleverly to conform to the current requirements of the mode.

JUST WHEN we are becoming familiar with the rather radical idea of having evening frocks with tops of contrasting color to the rest of the garment, comes the new evening frock which features the tunic of a different material than the rest of the garment. It is a rather radical departure on first thought, but so smartly has it been done and so neatly is the tunic linked with the skirt by means of trimming, that it becomes the ideal frock for the youthful dancer, who wants an evening frock that is not too formal and yet is definitely removed from informal clothes.

MOLYNEUX IS SHOWING the new tunic evening frock mentioned above. Of importance, too, is the new, ankle-length skirt for dancing, also sponsored by this house, which is so alive to the ever-changing currents in the tide of fashion. The model sketched is of light brown lace, bordered and belted in brown crepe de chine of matching tone. The skirt is of similar material, thus providing the ensemble link of the garment. It has four fan-pleated godets, two in front and two in back, which give a most graceful movement when dancing.

LUCILE IS SHOWING a smart new semi-tailored afternoon frock. It is of black crepe marocain—a most important fabric this season—and has a collar, gilet and cuffs of pale blue georgette with hand-drawn work.

* * *

New York Pastor Collapses in Pulpit

NEW YORK, March 26.—(AP.)—The Rev. Dr. Henry Darlington, 42, rector of the Church of the Heavenly Rest and son of the late Right Rev. James H. Darlington, bishop of Harrisburg, Pa., collapsed in the pulpit while conducting a vesper service. He was taken to his home.

His wife said the illness was an aftermath of an influenza attack which kept Dr. Darlington from his duties during February.

LEPERS' MONK FRIEND DIES

HONOLULU, March 26.—(AP.)—Ira Dutton (Brother Joseph) Trappist monk, widely known for his work among the lepers of Molokai Island, Hawaii, died here early today after a long illness.

He was 87 years old and had spent nearly 45 years among the isolated lepers.

For some reason of which he never spoke, Ira Dutton, after serving as a Union soldier in the Civil War and later engaging in a business career, turned his back upon secular things, joined the Catholic Church and entered the Trappist Monastery at Gethsemane, Ky. In 1886, he went to Molokai, apparently resolved never to return.

After more than 40 years of work among the Molokai lepers, during which he became renowned for his aid to the stricken men and women there, eye trouble developed.

Brother Joseph managed to evade the dread disease through which he walked for so many years. It was the burden of age and work that finally took him from Molokai.

NEVILLE ISLAND PAVING URGED

The county Department of Public Works has been asked by County Commissioners to submit a plan and estimated cost of widening and paving Grand avenue, running the length of Neville Island, about four miles.

A. E. Eckles, solicitor for Neville Township, headed a delegation that appeared before the commissioners yesterday to urge the project. He said 31 serious traffic accidents occurred last year as a result of the condition of Grand avenue.

Eckles declared the highway is the only traffic artery available to employes and delivery and receiving trucks of the 28 industrial plants on the island.

Natrona's Mail Scattered After Postal Theft

Love-letters, business correspondence, bills for residents of Natrona, were torn open and scattered over the hills between the postoffice and Brackenridge Heights today by thieves who ransacked the mail room sometime during last night. Approximately 150 letters were taken, in addition to $1.50 and two dozen two-cent stamps.

Postmaster George D. Claassen is trying to determine what was taken. There was no registered or insured mail among the loot, he said.

2 BOYS, 3 GIRLS HELD FOR QUIZ

Arrested when found riding in a stolen automobile, police say, Robert Thompson, 18, of 1803 Boulevard of the Allies; Sam Stocco, 18, Tunnel street; Sam Zeck, 16, of 1298 Forbes street; Anna Hurley, 16, of 1835 Forbes street, and Johanna De Luca, 16, of Chatham street, were held for investigation today.

Police said Thompson and Stocco admitted stealing the car from Ben Kellerman, of 103 Climax street, Thompson said, according to police, that he had attempted to hold up a driver for a baking company, but the man laughed at him and drove away.

A pick handle and an empty revolver were found in the boys' possession, police testified. They were arrested in Henline street, last night.

Demands Return Of Meteor He Loaned U. S.

GALESBURG, Ill., March 26. (P.)—J. H. Sexton, a farmer, wants his gift from the heavens returned to him.

He announced he had retained legal services in an effort to get back a meteor which he found on a farm near here, and which now is in possession of government experimental laboratories at Washington.

Sexton said John J. McFadden, director of the United State experimental laboratories, reported that scientists had found in the meteor traces of what they believe to be a new metal, "perhaps the only kind that will resist fire."

"NICE ENOUGH, but Notice Her Teeth
They look as if they were never brushed!"

You can brush teeth and gums faithfully, but they will continue to look neglected and offensive to others so long as you ignore the millions of germs that cause stain, ugly yellow, decay and serious gum diseases.

Ordinary toothpastes won't help you one bit. But this new Kolynos Dry-Brush Technique quickly kills millions of germs that attack teeth and gums... and so cleans teeth as they should be cleaned—right down to the beautiful, naked white enamel—without injury.

Kolynos Will Surprise You

Kolynos is unlike anything you've ever used. The very moment it enters the mouth, this highly concentrated dental cream undergoes a remarkable change. It becomes an exhilarating, antiseptic FOAM that permits the Dry Brush Technique, advocated by dentists as the one way to derive full benefit from dental cream and brush.

This FOAM gets into every tiny pit, fissure and crevice, and kills millions of destructive germs... 190 million in the first 15 seconds. It neutralizes acids that cause decay, gently erases tartar, washes away the unsightly mucoid coating and purifies the mouth.

White Teeth that Adorn Beauty

Easily and quickly this Kolynos Dry-Brush Technique whitens teeth, keeps them sound and clean, and helps to firm up gums.

Discard Incompetent Methods

Never let anyone say that your teeth look as though you never brushed them. Start using this new Kolynos Dry-Brush Technique—a half-inch of Kolynos on a dry brush, morning and night. Within a few days you'll note a distinct improvement . . . Teeth will look whiter—as lustrous white as they were in childhood. Gums will feel firmer, appear healthier. And your mouth will tingle with a delightful, refreshing taste. Buy a tube of Kolynos from your druggist.

To Relieve Catarrhal Deafness and Head Noises.

Persons suffering from catarrhal deafness and head noises will be glad to know that this distressing affliction can usually be successfully treated at home by an internal medicine that in many instances has effected complete relief after other treatments have failed. Sufferers who could scarcely hear have had their hearing restored to such an extent that the tick of a watch was plainly audible seven or eight inches away from either ear. Therefore if you know of someone who is troubled with head noises or catarrhal deafness, cut out this paragraph and hand it to them, and you may have been the means of saving some poor sufferer, perhaps from total deafness. The medicine can be prepared at home and is made as follows:

Secure from May-Laggett's or your druggist a 1-oz. bottle of Parmint (Double Strength). Take this home and add to it ¼ pint of hot water and a little sugar, stir until dissolved. Take one tablespoonful four times a day.

Parmint is used in this way not only to reduce by tonic action the inflammation and swelling in the Eustachian Tubes, and thus to equalize the air pressure on the drum, but to correct any excess of secretions in the middle ear, and the results it gives are nearly always quick and effective.

Every person who has catarrh should give this prescription a trial.

FUND WORKERS TOLD NEED OF JOB AID

SIDEWALKS of PITTSBURGH

By William Pfarr

There is before the Assembly in Harrisburg a bill pertaining to the eel. This strikes us as a sensible bill, which we commend not only to Representative Musmanno but to Representative Rooney as well. The bill points out that:

"WHEREAS, the eel (Anguilla chisypa) is a catadromous fish going down stream in the fall of the year to spawn in the depths of the ocean, and,

William Pfarr

"WHEREAS, it does not feed or bite at bait while on its downward migration, and, therefore, cannot be caught by any device now legal and Pennsylvania, and,

"WHEREAS, after having left our streams the same eels never return to them, thus resulting in a permanent economic loss to our citizens, and

"WHEREAS, the eels which go with legal protection down our streams and are caught by fishermen in other states and regions below Pennsylvania are shipped back to us at high prices, and,

"WHEREAS——'

But enough of that. The point is that when the eel is visiting Pennsylvania our laws prohibit us from interfering with them. The eel can sit up and laugh at all of us. Whereas once said eel reaches Maryland, or some place, the eel is a fugitive and can be landed. Then what happens? The eel is caught and shipped back to us at caviar prices.

This is unfair to Pennsylvania, second largest state in the Union, whereas it is more than fair to the other 47 states. It's an eel of a note, we say.

Armistice Terms Hit Peace Treaty, Pershing Asserts

MY EXPERIENCES IN THE WORLD WAR

By GEN. JOHN J. PERSHING

Commander-in-Chief, American Expeditionary Forces.

Succeeding chapters of "My Experiences in the World War" will appear daily and Sunday exclusively in the Sun-Telegraph.

CHAPTER LXXIV.

Returning to Paris from the conference of Allied commanders-in-chief at Senlis October 25, 1918, I cabled a report of the proceedings to Washington, including my proposals in detail as enumerated in yesterday's chapter.

Marshal Foch did not definitely express his views at the conference, as may be recalled, but the following day he submitted his report to Prime Minister Clemenceau. Marshal Foch's recommendations embraced the main points proposed by the commanders-in-chief, and were accepted by the Supreme War Council with practically no change.

Col. Lloyd Griscom called Sunday, two days after the conference, to get my views on the terms of the armistice for Mr. House, who did not come himself, as he was afraid he might catch the grip. I had had an attack of the grip the day before.

I sent Mr. House a copy of my cable to Washington and offered to go to see him, but he preferred to wait until Tuesday morning before the meeting of the Supreme War Council. The meeting was later postponed until Wednesday afternoon. The doctor let me out that morning.

Gen. Pershing

Meanwhile, Mr. House sent Mr. Frazier, secretary of the American embassy, with a message to the effect that the military considerations of an armistice had not yet been discussed and that he wanted me to get in touch with Marshals Foch and Haig to see if their views could be reconciled.

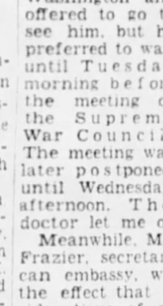
As Foch had not expressed his views, and as Haig had done so quite definitely, it did not seem advisable for me to follow the suggestion.

Gets Wilson's Views

As no intimation had been sent me regarding the President's attitude toward granting an armistice to the German armies, and feeling that I could not sit by without expressing my opinion, I prepared a letter to send to the Supreme War Council, giving my views for consideration in case a decision had not been finally reached. In my estimation the German armies were so badly beaten that they would have no other recourse than to surrender if called upon to do so.

President Wilson's comments on my cable of October 25 were received on the 29th, as follows:

"The President directs me to say that he is relying upon your counsel and advice in this matter, and in making the following comments he will be glad to have you feel entirely free to bring to his attention any consideration he may have overlooked which in your judgment ought to be weighed before settling finally . . .



Mr. Wilson

"In general, the President approves of your first, in subparagraph, but suggests wisdom of retention of at least part of German heavy guns, in pledge, and specific enumeration of territory to be evacuated other than France and Belgium. This has to do especially with territory to the east and southeast, but should not Luxembourg be also included?

"With regard to your second in sub-paragraph, the President raises the question whether it is necessary for Allied or American (forces) actually to occupy Alsace and Lorraine when evacuated under armistice.

Opposes Humiliation

"With regard to your third in sub-paragraph, the President doubts advisability of requiring Allied or American occupation on eastern side of the Rhine, as that is practically an invasion of German soil under armistice.

"The President concurs in your fourth in sub-paragraph to the extent of continuing transportation for supplies of troops then in France, but would not insist on right to increase American forces during armistice.

"With regard to your fifth in sub-paragraph, if this means repatriation of troops now in German Army which have been recruited from non-German soil occupied by Germans, or repatriation of civil population deported from occupied territory, the President approves.

"With regard to your sixth, the President believes it would be enough to require internment of U-boats in neutral waters, as a further pledge, and also to further unrestricted transportation of American material referred to in your fourth, but does not think terms of armistice should suggest ultimate disposition of such U-boats, nor that U-boat bases should be occupied under armistice, as that would mean Allied or American occupation of German soil not now in their possession.

"Your seventh in subparagraph the President approves.

"In general, the President feels the terms of the armistice should be rigid enough to secure us against renewal of hostilities by Germany, but not humiliating beyond that necessity, as such terms would throw the advantage to the military party in Germany.

"The President would be glad to have you confer with Col. House, who is now in France, showing him copies of your dispatch and this answer, and generally discuss with him all phases of this subject."

Pershing Gives Opinion

Upon receipt of this cable I handed to Mr. House October 30, for presentation to the Supreme War Council, the letter I had prepared, and in view of the first paragraph of the message I also cabled the substance of the letter to Washington:

Col. House

"In considering the question whether or not Germany's request for an armistice should be granted, the following expresses my opinion from the military point of view:

"1. Judging by their excellent conduct during the past three months the British, French,

ETNA, SHALER PROVIDE WORK

Between 120 and 140 men will be given work next week in Etna Borough and Shaler Township when a repaving program will be started, with the Allegheny County Emergency Association paying for the labor. This announcement was made today by Maj. Philip Mathews, executive director of the association.

Maj. Mathews explained that at a conference last week between members of the association and officials of the borough and township it was decided that the association could not finance the labor for installing a $150,000 borough trunk line sewer as the sewer job came under a bond issue and had to be done during the regular course of events. He said:

"What the Allegheny County Emergency Association wants to do is to create new jobs, not take jobs already here."

The township officials then agreed to appropriate additional funds for the repaving project to create new jobs.

STATE JOBLESS GROUP PRAISED

WASHINGTON, March 26. — (AP.)—Recommendations of the Pennsylvania Committee on Unemployment for extending vocational educational facilities were cited today by the President's emergency committee for employment as an example of progress of the drive to provide a wider variety of jobs.

Schools of Philadelphia and Erie were listed by the national committee as among the few cities which have adapted their facilities to the unemployed. Women in Erie were reported as engaged in training jobless factory girls in domestic duties in order to meet a demand for household servants and workers while the Council of Jewish Women in Pittsburgh is combining instruction in a trade with employment, conducting classes for men and women, whose efforts are paid for at the existing wage scale for such work.

At the same time the committee announced receipt of a report from Charles J. Graham, of Pittsburgh, president of the Nut, Bolt and Rivet Manufacturers' Association, saying that despite a 40 per cent decline in production in 1930 members of the association had kept on the payroll at least 90 per cent of the total of 25,000 persons normally employed.

HELD OVER AUTO THEFT KILLING

Charged with the murder of William A. McClintock, 36, garage attendant, of 7924 Susquehanna street, John A. Schulkins, of Elcort place, was held for the grand jury at on inquest today.

Detectives testified Schulkins confessed shooting McClintock during a struggle February 22.

Schulkins, according to the alleged confession, stole a car from the garage where McClintock was employed. McClintock pursued and stopped Schulkins after forcing a collision.

Then Schulkins drew a revolver and shot McClintock twice. He fled, dropping the revolver, which McClintock fired once, wounding Schulkins in the leg.

Schulkins was arrested at Spruce Springs by State Police.

CONFIDENCE VOICED BY LEADERS

Braun, Hunt, Kaufmann and Others Tell Dinner Guests Of $3,000,000 Drive

The groundwork of a $3,000,000 campaign for unemployment relief, to be held April 6 to 20, was laid at a dinner of the Allegheny County Emergency Association last night in the Duquesne Club.

The dinner, arranged by R. B. Mellon, A. E. Braun and Roy A. Hunt, of the executive committee, was attended by more than 300 workers and officials of the campaign. Braun was toastmaster. Mellon was unable to attend.

Necessity of immediate support of the Pittsburgh Plan, to furnish employment through public works, was stressed by the speakers.

$775,000 IN SIGHT

Hunt, treasurer of the association, said that of the $3,000,000 sought, $775,862.42 was already in sight, $663,829.24 having been donated in cash, and the remainder pledged. He said $851,395.24 had already been expended in the work.

Wilbur F. Maxwell gave instructions to the workers and explained the plan of canvassing.

Edgar J. Kaufmann, chairman of the organization, said:

"Employers may not wish to contribute, failing to realize that aid to unemployment must come from them.

FEARS POLITICAL CONTROL

"If the problem cannot be solved by such a system as the Pittsburgh Plan, then aid must come from other sources. This will bring taxation, and they will be obliged to contribute.

"Taxation means political management; and political management means chaos, because we who employ and invest capital are not confident of the ability of our present political machine to be the guidance of our social system.

"This is an appeal for self-preservation, not of charity or relief.

SEES "NEW DAY"

"If we can demonstrate that we have voluntarily come together without revolt, cry for dictatorship, or government breakdown but to honestly approach a common problem, then we are at the threshold of a new day in American history.

"The plan must be accepted by employers as well as employes, in the attempt to solve a gigantic social problem.

"There must be an understanding. Success depends on response not only from large firms but from the small ones also.

"The wealth of a nation is not measured by its gold reserve nor its cheap money, but by its ability to keep its citizens at work under protection of state and municipal governments."

HANDLED AS BUSINESS

F. J. Chesterman, acting chairman of the operating committee, outlined the work of that committee.

He said 2,053 men had been employed through the efforts of the committee to date, declaring:

"We could find work for all the unemployed if we had the money. There are 1,589 more men now getting relief through the charitable organizations whom we could employ."

Peacemaker Hurt as Dog Fight Ties Up Traffic

Jack Griscoll, 140 Montour way, was leading "Beauty," a 9-month-old German shepherd dog, by a strong chain. "Beauty" spied a small bull terrier belonging to Harry Brown, manager of the Nixon. Snapping at the smaller dog and getting a firm hold on its neck, the shepherd threatened to kill the pup. Griscoll, grabbing the larger dog, was thrown into the street and cut and bruised in an attempt to separate the battlers.

Traffic Officer William Dodds subdued the larger dog with a blackjack. Brown, after removing the terrier, assured the mud-covered Griscoll that he had made a brave attempt as a peacemaker.

Wake Alibi Found Faulty, Man Convicted in Theft

The alibi of Joseph Schultz, 20, of Washington street, collapsed in Criminal Court yesterday. The jury convicted him of robbery.

Schultz testified he was attending the wake of a little girl when the robbery occurred. Others testified the wake was for a boy.

Sentence was deferred by visiting Judge O. C. Kent, of Crawford County, pending application for a new trial.

It was testified that January 29 Schultz and two others, not apprehended, robbed the Central News Agency, 407 Strawberry way, of $342. Charles Morrall, an employe of the agency, and Daniel Sanford, a newsboy, identified Schultz as one of the robbers.

Schultz denied the charge and said he was attending the wake of Rose Marie Albert, in Webster avenue, at the time of the robbery.

Cross-examination of other witnesses brought out that it was Marshal Albert, year-and-a-half-old boy, for whom the wake was held. The boy had been pressing a toy airplane against an upper window when the glass broke and he fell to the pavement.

CUSTOMERS ROBBED AS GUNMEN STAGE STORE HOLDUP

TURTLE CREEK, CLAIRTON FOLK ARE VICTIMS

Bandits Line Up 9 in One Place, Take $220; Search For Pay Thieves Goes On

Two armed robbers who during the night held up a grocery store in Turtle Creek and a confectionery in Clairton, were being sought today by county detectives.

In holding up the grocery store of Ezzor-Goldstein, 122 Brown avenue, Turtle Creek, the pair lined up the proprietor and eight customers, then looted the cash register and searched their victims. They obtained $220.

Early today the robbers entered the confectionery of Mamie Stabler in State street, Clairton, where they forced Mrs. Stabler and Mack McHaffey, a customer, to stand facing a wall. One robber took $18 from the register and another took $60 from McHaffey's pockets.

SEEK PAYROLL BANDITS

Search was continued today for two bandits who yesterday stole the $1,000 payroll of the Peoples Ice Company, 4711 Friendship avenue, from Miss Elizabeth Smith, secretary and treasurer of the firm, after stopping the automobile in which she was riding in Stratford avenue, near Friendship avenue.

The machine used by the bandits—stolen a short time before the holdup from H. L. Fletcher, of 4733 Center avenue—was recovered late last night by police at Forty-fourth and Sherrod streets. Nothing was found in the car to lead to the identity of the robbers, police said.

QUIZ MAN ON BUS HOLDUP

James Sinclair, 27, of Oakmont, was to be turned over to county detectives today for questioning in connection with the holdup of a bus driver in Oakmont Tuesday night. Sinclair is a member of a well-known Oakmont family. Two men boarded the Pittsburgh Motor Coach Company bus, held up the driver, and, after driving it into the country, stole $48. Charles Martsolf, the driver, was bound and gagged and left in the bus.

Thomas Grey, 40, a Negro, of 2502 Forbes street, was arrested today after he was alleged to have attempted to holdup two men in a barber shop at 128 Fourth avenue. E. S. Hentchel, 35, employed in the shop, and Thomas Powell, 38, of 50 South Eighteenth street, a repairman, are said to have battled with Grey. Police say they found a gun, an ice pick and a flash light in Grey's possession. The three men were arrested on suspicious person charges.

H. B. Rutherford, of 1249 Murdoch street, was robbed of $5 by a highwayman who stopped him at Fair Oaks street and South Negley avenue early today. The highwayman stepped from behind a hedge and threatened Rutherford with a revolver.

ROAD REVENUE INCREASE SEEN

Pennsylvanians will spend $38.48 per motor vehicle during 1931 for the construction and maintenance of highways, the Pittsburgh Motor Club reported following a survey of estimates prepared by the Governor and Department of Highways. Each motorist paid an average of $37.27 to the state in gasoline taxes, licenses, registrations and fines during 1930, according to statistics prepared by the club.

At $38.48 per vehicle, Pennsylvania will spend $73,112,000 during the year. In 1930 the Department of Revenue collected $66,000,000 in gasoline taxes, registrations, and other fees. Federal aid for highway construction adds several millions to the state's road budget each year.

W. Va. Flier, Missing Two Days, Lands

WHEELING, W. Va., March 26.—Lieut. Hugh G. Nicholson, Jr., Buffalo (N. Y.), aviator, missing for the last two days on a flight from Charleston, W. Va. to Buffalo, N. Y., landed at Fokker airport, Glendale, late last night in a tiny monoplane propelled with a 20-horsepower motor. He stated that he ran into a storm and was compelled to land on an isolated farm, where he remained until the storm abated.

Fight Westmoreland Water Rate Increase

HARRISBURG, March 26.—(AP.)—Two complaints have been filed with the Public Service Commission against proposed increased water rates in South Greensburg by the Westmoreland Water Company. The complainants, the Borough of South Greensburg and John W. Hillwig, William H. Vandervort and Fred Grossman, all of South Greensburg, allege the proposed rates are excessive and not based on fair valuation. The new schedule filed February 27 was to become effective April 1.

ARGUE FILLING STATION SITE

The proposal of Philip Goodman to place a gasoline service station on his property at the northwest corner of Murray avenue and Beacon street, approved by the City Board of Adjustment under the zoning laws, and rejected by the Court of Common Pleas, was heard by the Pennsylvania Supreme Court prior to the adjournment of its spring session here yesterday.

Goodman and the board appealed from the decision of Judge James H. Gray, who denied a permit for the station on appeal of Samuel Perrin, an adjoining property owner.

The Supreme Court adjourned to convene next in Philadelphia April 13. Forty-five appeals were argued during the session from western counties, one appeal was submitted without argument, three were remitted to the Superior Court and one was dismissed.

Two other appeals from Allegheny County argued before the court were: Steve Powanda and others, trustees of the First Slavish Roman Catholic Greek Rite Church, of Clairton, appellants, against Peter Pido and others; Neva Minton, appellant, against McCreery & Co.

WHEN A CHILD TAKES COLD
don't let system Clog!

A CHILD'S cold can often be checked in a few hours by giving his bowels the proper care. Dr. Caldwell proved this, time after time, in his 47 years' practice.

Dr. Caldwell's fame was acquired as a specialist in the ills of women and children. His record of having attended over 3,000 births without loss of mother or baby is believed unique in American medical history.

The laxative used in his practice—a compound of pure herbs, pepsin and other mild ingredients—is ideal for the bowels of any child. You have this famous doctor's word that it is safe even for a tiny infant. Every child likes its syrupy taste. It acts quickly, but cannot gripe.

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin will remove all the sickening, mucous waste when a child has caught cold. It relieves the headaches, biliousness, belching, bloating, etc., due to constipation. It keeps the bowels open in children's diseases.

Keep Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin handy to use when any member of your family needs a safe, certain laxative. It is good for all ages! All druggists have it.

1 HURT IN CRASH OF FIRE TRUCK

Fire broke out today in the Negley Building, scene of a three-alarm blaze several days ago, when several persons were carried to safety down ladders by firemen.

The fire truck of Engine Company No. 28 collided with an auto truck at Spahr street and Ellsworth avenue while en route to the blaze. Gus Wolber, driver of the truck, which belonged to the Motive Parts Company, of 6314 Penn avenue, was injured. He was taken to the Homeopathic Hospital.

The fire broke out on the sixth floor of the Negley Building where workmen of the Edward Langdon Company, contractors, were repairing damage done by the last blaze. Archie Harmon, 865 N. West street, North Side, firemen were told, was cleaning up bottles of chemicals in the offices of the Scott Photograph Studio. He said he tossed a bottle onto a pile of debris and it exploded, setting fire to the place, police reported.

Firemen soon had the blaze under control, confining it to the top floor. Heavy smoke hampered the work. Damage was estimated at $300.

EXTRA BRIDGE COST ASKED OF COUNTY

Architect Claims Delays and Changes by Allegheny Ran Expenses $26,620 Higher

Benno Janssen, of Janssen and Cockan, architects, has asked County Commissioners to authorize payment of a claim for $26,620 as final payment for services in designing and supervising the construction of Washington Crossing Bridge, Fortieth street.

Janssen said the claim represented the firm's expense caused by delaying the completion date nearly three years. Delays were caused by County Commissioners' orders that resulted in redesigning the span to eliminate a curve in the original plan and to change the location of a pier on the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad right-of-way, he explained.

County Bridge Engineer V. R. Covell said the architects could have completed the original structure in three and one-half years, but the changes extended the completion date by two years and eight months.

On motion of Commissioner C. C. McGovern, the architects were requested to confer with county engineers and the county solicitor to reach an agreement for recommendation to the commissioners.

PERSHING REVEALS WILSON'S VIEWS ON ARMISTICE

WAR PRESIDENT NOT HARSH ON FOE

Belgian and American armies appear capable of continuing the offensive indefinitely. Their morale is high, and the prospects of certain victory should keep it so.

"2. The American Army is constantly increasing in strength and experience, and should be able to take an increasingly important part in the Allied offensive. Its growth both in personnel and material, with such reserves as the Allies may furnish, not counting the Italian army, should be more than equal to the combined losses of the Allied armies.

"3. German man-power is constantly diminishing, and her armies have lost over 300,000 prisoners and over one-third of their artillery during the past three months in their effort to extricate themselves from a difficult situation and avoid disaster.

Favors Offensive

"4. The estimated strength of the Allies on the western front, not counting Italy, and of Germany, in rifles is: Allies, 1,563,000; Germany, 1,134,000—an advantage in favor of the Allies of 37 per cent.

"In guns: Allies, 22,413; Germany, 16,495—an advantage of 35 per cent in favor of the allies.

"If Italy's forces should be added to the western front we should have a still greater advantage.

"5. Germany's morale is undoubtedly low, her allies have deserted her one by one, and she can no longer hope to win. Therefore we should take full advantage of the situation and continue the offensive until we compel her unconditional surrender.

"6. An armistice would revivify the low spirits of the German army and enable it to reorganize and resist later on, and would deprive the Allies of the full measure of victory by failing to press their present advantage to its complete military end.

"7. As the apparent humility of German leaders in talking of peace may be feigned, the Allies should distrust their sincerity and their motives. The appeal for an armistice is undoubtedly to enable the withdrawal from a critical situation to one more advantageous.

"8. On the other hand, the internal political conditions of Germany, if correctly reported, are such that she is practically forced to ask for an armistice to save the overthrow of her present government, a consummation which should be sought by the Allies as precedent to permanent peace.

Points Out Danger

"9. A cessation of hostilities short of capitulation postpones if it does not render impossible the imposition of satisfactory peace terms, because it would allow Germany to withdraw her army with its present strength, ready to resume hostilities if terms were not satisfactory to her.

"10. An armistice would lead the Allied armies to believe this the end of fighting, and it would be difficult if not impossible to resume hostilities with our present advantage if morale in the event of failure to secure at a peace conference what we have fought for.

"11. By agreeing to an armistice under the present favorable military situation of the Allies and accepting the principle of a negotiated peace rather than a dictated peace, the Allies would jeopardize the moral position they now hold and possibly lose the chance actually to secure world peace on terms that would insure its permanence.

"12. It is the experience of history that victorious armies are prone to overestimate the enemy's strength and too eagerly seek an opportunity for peace. This mistake is likely to be made now on account of the reputation Germany has gained through her victories of the last four years.

"13. Finally, I believe the complete victory can only be obtained by continuing the war until we force unconditional surrender from Germany, but if the Allied Governments decide to grant an armistice, the terms should be so rigid that under no circumstances could Germany again take up arms.

"Respectfully submitted,

"JOHN J. PERSHING,
"Commander-in-Chief, A. E. F."

Many Armistice Notes

That evening I received a note from Mr. House asking me about the views of the other Commanders-in-Chief. In conversation with my aide, Col. Boyd, Mr. House said the question whether an armistice should be granted was purely political and that all the Prime Ministers were in favor of it. He had shown my letter, he said, to Clemenceau and to Lloyd George.

I then wrote Mr. House a note to the effect that my opinion was based upon military considerations. I also advised Marshal Foch, through Col. Mott, that I thought we should demand unconditional surrender.

The following day a message came to me at Souilly from Col. Mott saying that the Marshal was much pleased, as he held similar views.

The correspondence which led up to the armistice began, as we have seen, as far back as October 5, by the application of the German government to President Wilson for an armistice on the basis of the 14 points set forth in his speech to Congress January 8, 1918.

German compliance with the President's demands, following an exchange of notes that continued through the month, was expressed in a note, October 27, and November 5 the Germans were advised to apply to Marshal Foch for terms of an armistice.

Col. Mott

Enemy Forces Weak

In the light of later events we know Germany was more nearly beaten than the Allied leaders realized at that time and was, in fact, in no position to resume the fighting even had her government remained intact. Her last division was in line, her supply system was demoralized, and the congestion behind her lines made it practically impossible for her to move her armies in the face of the aggressive Allies.

Instead of requiring the German forces to retire at once, leaving material, arms and equipment behind, the armistice terms permitted them to march back to their homeland with colors flying and bands playing, posing as the victims of political conditions.

If unconditional surrender had been demanded, the Germans would, without doubt, have been compelled to yield, and their troops would have returned to Germany without arms, virtually as paroled prisoners of war. The surrender of the German armies would have been an advantage to the Allies in the discussion of peace terms and would have greatly facilitated their execution.

In conversation with M. Poincare some time after the war, he told me that, as president of the republic, he was in favor of demanding the surrender of the German armies, but that M. Clemenceau, his prime minister, insisted upon granting them an armistice.

SOUTH CLAIMS 30TH DIVISION

In connection with the publication of Gen. Pershing's war memoirs, the statement was made that the 30th Division, A. E. F., whose fighting qualities were commended by the commander, was "a Midwest" division. A former officer of the outfit, Benjamin Gaines, of Oakmont, corrects that statement:

"The 30th Division was originally recruited from the states of North Carolina, South Carolina and Tennessee. In the spring of 1918 it received enough troops from one of the western camps sufficient to bring it to war strength.

"The division trained at Camp Sevier, Greenville, S. C.

"In France its entire service was with the British between Ypres and Amiens. In this service it and the 27th Division formed the 2d Corps, under Gen. Read. Gen. Pershing has told in his memoirs how the 30th Division broke through the Hindenberg line on its entire front on the first day of the attack of September 29."

"Aren't all coffees pretty much alike?" you may ask. "Can anyone but a professional coffee-taster tell the difference?"

If all coffees were alike in flavor, you might reasonably expect them to be alike in popularity.

Remember, then, this significant fact—reflecting the public's demand, more grocers sell Maxwell House Coffee than any other brand.

Wonderfully rare flavor not only won Maxwell House the praise of the Old South, but has made it a present-day favorite from coast to coast.

Just try Maxwell House tomorrow; see if its rich and matchless flavor doesn't impel you, too, to say: "This is the finest coffee I've ever tasted."

Here's the Way Fine Shops Make Glassware Sparkle

Sparkle In a Way Your Home Glass and China Rarely Does

HAVE you ever wondered how shops make glassware and fine china sparkle so?

This is how to do it.

It's a new way in dishwashing that, in spite of this city's hard water, ends that greasy soap film on dishes and greasy scum floating in the dishpan. A way women find also cuts dishwashing time in half and keeps hands soft, white and lovely.

Do This Way

Just add a bit of the preparation called Climalene to your dish water . . . a teaspoon or two.

Instantly, it takes all the harshness out of that water. Makes it soft as rain water. So soft that it does the work with ONE-FOURTH the soap you use now. And thus ends the greasy soap film that was formerly so hard to avoid.

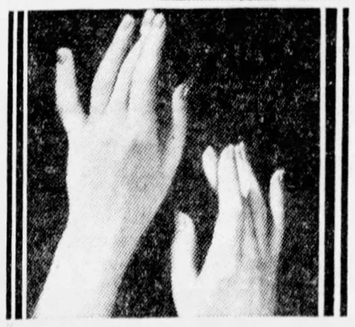
At the same time, due to certain bland cleansing agents, it instantly DISSOLVES all grease and grime. And thus cuts washing time—ONE-HALF or more.

Use the soap or soap flakes you ordinarily do. Then see for yourself the amazing results. During 1930 women used 33,000,000 packages of Climalene for washing, for cleaning and in the dishpan.

Saves Fine Lingerie, Too

Results in clothes washing are equally amazing. For Climalene ends the chief cause of fading, streaking and grayness.

We wash delicate lingerie, often 50 times—without perceptible fade. Children's rompers, 60 to 90 times. That's over a year's Home washing.



Keeps your hands as soft and lovely as a cosmetic.

We wash gold encrusted china hundreds of times—without a trace of gold gone. And thus prove the blandness of this way.

Consider, please, what these things mean to you. Consider, too, that the minute you put this creation into water, all harshness is taken away—your hands protected from roughness, made soft, smooth and white. Then try it.

Your grocer has it. Sold only in 10c and 25c packages. Note the name—CLIMALENE.

The new PONTIAC costs only slightly more than the very lowest-priced cars . . yet it offers all these desirable fine car features

If you are interested in a really good car at somewhat lower price than you have been paying . . . or in a somewhat better car at about the price you have paid . . . be sure to visit a Pontiac showroom and see and drive this Six. You will observe many things that will interest you keenly. Some of these things have to do with performance—others with comfort and good looks. They all have to do with outstanding value . . .

NEW 60 H. P. MOTOR that smoothly surges into the abundant, steady power modern driving requires for swiftly gliding out of traffic pockets—holding even speed on the open road—mastering hills . . .

NEW FISHER BODIES in which guests find ample cause for favorable comment and owners good reason for pride. Deep, form-fitting seat-cushions covered with genuine whipcord or mohair . . . an unusual roominess which means so much to comfort . . . Appointments whose smartness and good taste show how much "little things" well done can add to satisfaction and value . . .

NEW INSULATED, WEATHER-PROOF CONSTRUCTION that shuts out noise, rain, summer's excessive heat and winter's cold. Cowl and windshield pillars built in one single piece . . In all, a snug construction which eliminates leaks, squeaks and rattles.

NEW LARGER BRAKES so responsive and positive in action that you feel prepared for any emergency . . safe and sure in congested traffic or on the highway.

RUBBER-CUSHIONED CHASSIS . . . absorbing road shocks through rubber insulation at 41 different points. Pads of rubber, under compression and specially treated for permanency, cushion the axles from the springs, the motor from the frame, and contribute to riding ease at many other important points. Pontiac rubber-cushioned shackles not only promote riding comfort but also do away with lubrication at 12 points. This whole system of insulation is a fine-car feature that typifies the thoroughness with which Pontiac has been engineered and built for comfort.

FIVE WIRE WHEELS as standard equipment—also inbuilt radiator screen, heavy single-bar bumpers, Lovejoy shock absorbers, fender indicator lamps. And many other improvements and refinements, some invisible but all adding dollars to the value and months to the life of the car.

Wouldn't you like to see for yourself just how far we have carried this unusual combination of fine-car quality and moderate price? There are six different models. Wouldn't you like to drive one of them? A demonstration can be arranged at your convenience—without obligation.

HAPPENINGS IN GOTHAM AND HOLLYWOOD; LOCAL AMUSEMENT NOTES

Despite Coburn's Rules Miss Risdon Is Sane As She Plays Nina

By GEORGE SEIBEL

Charles Coburn has been going around giving talks to various groups and schools, forgetting the old Scotch admonition: "A chiel's among ye, takin' notes, an' faith, he'll prent it." At the Drama School of Tech, Miss Kay De Roy used her shorthand when Chester Wallace asked Coburn to tell what led him to a stage career.

George Seibel

"A little boy was standing outside a theater waiting for it to open," said Coburn, "when one of the players asked him to run downtown to the printer and get the programs for the performance. Well, that little boy ran half a mile down and back, and on his return was told to distribute the programs.

"The boy told them he had a ticket and meant to see the show. He was told to turn it in at the boxoffice and see the show for nothing. Of course, he did so, as a show seems twice as good when you see it free.

"And that," Coburn concluded, "was the beginning of my downfall."

Coburn explained to the students some of his ideas regarding the actor's art.

"Acting is 90 per cent mechanics," he said. "Good acting must carry away the spectator. He must not be conscious of the actor's gestures and words. He must feel the realness of the character and identify himself with it.

"Imitation is the one great essential of acting. But the imitation must be so close to the genuine that it amounts to creation. The audience will tell you whether you are right or wrong."

SOUNDS LIKE SENSE

Which is about as good a definition for the actor's art as anyone could give. Coming from the comedian who made everybody laugh in "The Better 'Ole," and is even more amusing in "Lysistrata," it has the weight of authority. And he's a mighty cheerful fellow, like the people he plays with such unction.

That led me to wonder how far the part played by the actor is reflected in his own personality. Elizabeth Risdon, who has acted Nina in "Strange Interlude" over 500 times ought to be the answer to that question. I asked her straight from the shoulder:

"Are you sane, normal and rational, Miss Risdon? Or neurotic, sadistic and generally queer?"

At that she laughed heartily and proceeded to confess that she had various complexes that never troubled Nina.

"My mornings in Pittsburgh have been spent in the pursuit of electrical ice-chests," she admitted. "I have a husband—and I'm sure of his devotion because of my good cooking. But I like cooking also for its own sake. And I like roast beef, strawberries, and all the other things that sane and normal people like."

INTROSPECTIVE—NOT MUCH

"Then you are never introspective or morose?" I continued my inquisition. "A little erratic or temperamental, please?"

"Not even in this weather," she sighed. "You see, we have weather just as bad in London, where I was born. And I find I must carry my sunshine with me to meet local conditions."

She doesn't read Freud or Jung nor consult psychoanalysts—she likes open-air exercise and pretty dresses and a good story. She never broods or talks about symptoms. She is incurably healthy and happy.

"I've never heard that any actor, after playing Othello, strangled his wife" she said. "Nor any that got hunchbacked from Richard III. Nor any that got a red nose from acting Falstaff. So I think I'll pull my mind and morals through this 'Strange Interlude' till I get home, where I can do our own cooking again."

Then she put a glassy stare into her eye and glided off like a thirsty panther for the sixth act of Nina's Progress.

Texas Girl

ANOTHER GUILD PLAY AND MOLLIE COHN HERE MONDAY

Most of the songs sung by cowboys in "Green Grow the Lilacs," the Theatre Guild play coming to the Nixon next week are old and traditional and were heard by the author, Lynn Riggs, when he lived among the cowboys of Oklahoma. The best known of them are "Wreck'd Wheat," "Bury Me Not on the Lone Prairie," "When I Was Young and Single," "Way Out in Idaho" and "Green Grow the Lilacs."

Although Mollie Cohn will give her first performance in English in Pittsburgh in the Pitt in "The Eternal Magdalene" next week, this noted Yiddish actress has won much praise in English plays in other cities.

SOMETHING FREE

Every red-headed girl in Pittsburgh who goes to the Stanley next Monday night, from 6 o'clock until closing time, will be admitted free. The offer is made in connection with the showing of the film, "Millie," which will open in the Stanley tomorrow.

Beginning Saturday, prices for night admission in the Davis will be 35 cents in the balcony and 50 cents on the main floor. Before 1 o'clock in the afternoon prices will be 25 cents, all seats, and 35 cents all seats until 6 o'clock. Saturday marks the inauguration in the Davis of "Spring Pictures Festival." Vaudeville is to be discontinued during the summer months.

COLBERT AND MARCH

Claudette Colbert and Fredric March are in Paramount's picturization of Austin Parker's novel, "Honor Among Lovers," which opens tomorrow in the Penn.

Richard Arlen and Fay Wray are the leading players in "The Conquering Horde," adapted from Emerson Hough's story, "North of 36," which opens in the Fulton and Sheridan Square theaters tomorrow.

Lawrence Tibbett, opera and screen star, "goes modern," and presents to his fans his first role played strictly in the garb of today, in "The Prodigal," a drama of love, divorce and the inhibitions of society, which comes tomorrow to the Aldine.

OTHER BOOKINGS

"Drums of Jeopardy," with Warner Oland, June Collyer and Lloyd Hughes featured, opens tomorrow in the Enright.

Two features are scheduled for the Harris beginning Saturday. They are "Capt. Applejack," with John Halliday and Mary Brian, and "Are You There?" with Beatrice Lillie.

Ruth Bradley, soubret will join the Academy cast for the presentation of "Pretty Babies," opening with a midnight show Sunday. Bob Conn and the Hawaiian Harmony Singers will be another feature.

Ben Hecht Now Turns From Racket to High Society In New Film Story

By HARRISON CARROLL

(Copyright, 1931, by Premier Syndicate.)

HOLLYWOOD, March 26.

Another of Ben Hecht's stories has been bought for the screen. It is "Upperworld," in which the author turns from racketeers to high society.

The purchasers of the story, Radio Pictures, intend to feature Ricardo Cortez in one of the important roles.

Hecht has turned out a string of screen successes, the best remembered, perhaps, is "Underworld." The George Bancroft film that started the epidemic of gangster pictures. Samuel Goldwyn recently announced that Hecht and Charles MacArthur would write a special story for Ronald Colman.

A BUM STEER

Pathe had a camera crew at Agua Caliente last Saturday filming race-track scenes for Eddie Quillan's new picture, "The Whoop-Te-Do Kid." In one race, it was arranged for a jockey to exchange the colors of his stable for those that Quillan will wear in the film. Announcers explained to the crowd that this was being done for picture purposes, but as the horse was a long-shot, the news attracted small attention. To the surprise of everyone concerned, however, the animal came in winner, paying 19 to 2. Consequently when the same jockey rode in another race to get additional shots, many in the crowd bet heavily

U.S.-BOUND SHIP SINKS, 40 SAVED

PHILADELPHIA, March 26 (AP.)—The Italian freighter Ruta, due here with a cargo of chrome ore, sank Tuesday night in the Atlantic, 420 miles northwest of the Canary Islands, a dispatch from Lloyd's, of London, to the Maritime Exchange reported.

The 40 officers and men aboard were rescued by the French steamer Verdun Monday night.

The vessel cleared from Poti, a Russian port on the Black Sea, February 28, directed to Philadelphia and Baltimore through the Amtorg Trading Corporation. The cargo was to have been transhipped here. The vessel was owned in Genoa, Italy.

Eczema on Hands Seven Years. Very Painful. Cuticura Healed.

"I had eczema for about seven years. It broke out on my hands in tiny blisters. They were very itchy and I used to scratch them until my hands would bleed. I could not put my hands in water, and could hardly hold anything. They were very painful and it was hard for me to do housework. I could not sleep at night or rest during the day.

"I began using Cuticura Soap and Ointment, and after using two cakes of Cuticura Soap and three boxes of Cuticura Ointment I was healed." (Signed) Mrs. T. Remmel, 636 So. Second St., Chambersburg, Pa., March 25, 1930.

Portrait of a Man Talking to Himself

If I could see the kid, I'd tell him how awful the story will look when it breaks in the rags . . . The public that adores his father and mother, and which embraced his grandfather, will hate him for his conduct . . . The public never understands . . . The newspapers never "get over" the entire story, and readers usually read in a hurry and leap at conclusions . . . I can understand the kid's reason, however . . . His mother is opposed to his young wife . . . They couldn't get along—so, because he loves his bride more than anything else, he is shelving his famous father, who is broken-hearted . . . It is a dramatic story, and all that sort of thing . . . The youngster decided to give his father and vaudeville partner a "two-weeks' notice" . . . It was so cold . . . There was no "Dear Father, I am leaving you because of this or that" . . . It was a blunt statement: "This is to notify you I am through in two weeks." . . . The booking officials were amazed . . . The theatrical rags probably will announce it, unless someone intervenes and reconciles them . . . I hope this is done . . . Not only to keep his parent from being miserable in his graying years, but to save the boy from what certainly will prove to be a terrific boomerang . . . His father and mother have lived such clean careers on the stage nothing can tear them down . . . The audiences wherever you go always thrill when his popular papa's soft-shoe dance music is played, or when anyone announces an imitation of him . . . Surely there is someone in show business with influence enough to bring them together again.

There ought to be a law prohibiting thin people like Gertrude Lawrence from taking diet treatments . . . That's what the "inside" is to her so-called "breakdown" . . . The show in which she co-stars with Noel Coward ("Private Lives") is forced to close because of her sudden illness . . . She went through a blood transfusion, so grave was her condition . . . They thought she would die. . . . All because she melted herself from 110 down to 90 . . . Silly! . . . Considering that Gertrude is about the slimmest of the leading ladies . . . Better news is that Gloria Christie, once of the Shubert shows, who was in an auto wreck and in many other "accidents," has been secretly married for two months . . . to a wealthy Westerner . . . That story from Hollywood about Larry Ceballos, the dance director, is amusing . . . Ceballos deserted Broadway and its girl shows to arrange dance routines for ensembles in the flickers . . . In Hollywood he brought suit against a rival director for thefting a dance idea . . . In court the judge asked Ceballos why he believed the dance idea belonged to him. "Because," said Larry, "I saw it first in New York!"

Wonder what the Greek word is for brains? . . . I mean the brand of brains in the head of "Gregory Taylor," whose career has a dash of Horatio Alger in it . . . The son of a rich father, he was schooled at an American collitch in Constantinople . . . Unlike the average immigrant who comes to America without coin "Taylor" came here with plenty . . . And became a bus boy at the St. Regis Hotel in New York . . . That was in 1907 . . . In 1917 he owned his first hotel—a 100-room establishment in the Swelegant Seventies. . . . Today he is the head of several hotels, some of them, oh, so swanky . . . The Dixie, the Montclair, the Buckingham and the terribly Continental St. Moritz . . . The latter is his latest mansion—on Central Park South . . . He opened it five months ago—in the "worst" year in money history . . . It was only "in the red" for three and a half weeks . . . Today it is one of the few hosteleries in the money.

"If you notice," he was saying yesterday, "the beds may be taken apart easily and carried out of the room without trouble. There are no hooks or things about them too difficult for the maids or porters to worry about. You see, I used to have to carry them."

Other hotel managements who are having a trying time of it are urging him to handle their failing places for them . . . His magic, it appears, never fails . . . In 1907 a bus boy.

June MacCloy is still having her troubles . . . Another is suing her, claiming that he arranged her entry in the moving pictures. . . . Less than a year ago she was delighting stay-up-lates at the Abbey with "Exactly Like You" and other ditties.

"How come," someone asked her one dawning, "you never had a movie offer?" . . . "I had a test for Fox," she said, "but they said I was too tall." . . . "When they say you are too tall or too small," she was told, "that is only another way of stalling you."

She was given a letter of introduction to Walter Wanger, of Paramount . . . Wanger hastened through a test, which was voted excellent . . . Shortly after she was given an assignment in "Reaching for the Moon" appearing with Mr. Fairbanks . . . That was exactly how her movie career commenced . . . To date there have been four suits by as many people who claim they "discovered" her . . . She was happier when she was obscure . . . It was Dumas who once chirped of a person that he had risen so high there was nothing for him to do but descend.

You meet the most interesting types . . . That gal last night, frinstance . . . Who was a witness at four of her father's five weddings . . . The Calais Club has a new personality in Kathleen McGarrigan . . . A good-looker and a lovely voice . . . Now my night routine is complete . . . When she sings "When Your Lover Has Gone," when Frances Williams at the Richman holds onto the last note of the verse of "Love For Sale," which is the same note that leads the chorus, and when Etting sings anything . . . That column last week containing the clown news items was taken too seriously by Lou Shurr, the booking agent . . . For years he has been kidded by the champions, and never complained . . . The line about him didn't disconcert him so much as did his actor clients, who "sympathized" with him and told him how "terrible it was." . . . Jack Whiting, Irene Delroy and Billy Gaxton being among the comforters . . . Shurr probably would rather have his clients pay their commissions which would be more comforting . . . There is no surer mark of regard than to have your favorite correspondent write nonsense to you or about you.

That gun squad from Brooklyn which now makes the Broadway gay place rounds on the Sabbath nights, looks too tough . . . Wonder if Mayor Walker knows that the "private" detective who was seized as the spy in the shrubbery on Untermeyer's Palm Springs estate is the same chap who tapped his phone at City Hall during the campaign last election? . . . Time runs an engaging tale about the Prince of Wales playing a secret game of golf in Bermuda with a tradesman named Trimingham . . . Wonder why the Prince didn't play with A. W. Bluck, who runs a hardware store there, and as a side line, is the Mayor of Hamilton? . . . Bluck has big-time connections, his younger daughter, Winifred, being married to a nephew of the late Lord Kitchener . . . Those fortune-telling weight scales can be so amusing at times . . . For a nickel I learned yesterday that I am back to 152, the most cheerful news in a spell, for I had dropped seven pounds that week at the Palace . . . But the "fortune" on the weight card read: "You are the type who can keep a secret" . . . Heheheh.

upon his horse. By all reports, it hasn't finished yet.

LATEST GOSSIP

Every evening, the pilot who drives Ann Harding's and Harry Bannister's plane, circles above their hill-top home, flips the plane up-side-down, tilts the wings in a good-bye wave, rights the machine and disappears over the range of hills . . . Jean Arthur and Frank Ross, young New Yorkers, are showing a decided preference for each other these days. Several years ago, Jesse Lasky put the young man under contract as an actor, but nothing came of it. . . . Marlene Dietrich arrives here about April 10, and will do one of three stories now being considered . . . An M. G. M. observer takes solemn oath that Moss Hart, co-author of "Once In A Lifetime," was observed out there, waiting for an appointment in an executive's ante-room . . . Ruth Chatterton now has two secretaries, one at home and another at the studio. . . . Despite the heavy losses of the film colony on last Saturday's handicap, James Gleason still has enough faith in racing to buy two ponies . . . Perce Westmore, head of the make-up department at Warners and First National, is in the Hollywood Hospital, recuperating from a serious operation.

Jean Arthur

SCORE ONE FOR BERT

When Bert Wheeler wanted to make an independent starring vehicle, Radio Pictures agreed, possibly in the belief he and Robert Woolsey would discover their mutual need for each other.

Now that "Too Many Cooks" is finished, however, the studio likes it so well that Wheeler is to make a second picture. William Anthony McGuire's "If I Were Rich" will be the starting point of the story. In case you are not familiar with the play, it relates the misadventures of a young man who pretends to be wealthy.

With Wheeler doing another single, there will be but three of the Woolsey-Wheeler co-starring films on the new R-K-O program.

AVOID UGLY BLEMISHES

Does a pimply face embarrass you? Get a package of Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets. The skin should begin to clear after you have taken the tablets a few nights, if you are like thousands of others.

Help cleanse the blood, bowels and liver with Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets, the successful substitute for calomel; there's no sickness or pain after taking them.

Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets do that which calomel does, and just as effectively, but their action is gentle and safe instead of severe and irritating.

Olive Tablets are purely a vegetable compound; known by their olive color.

Dr. Edwards spent years among patients afflicted with liver and bowel complaints and Olive Tablets are the immensely effective result. Take nightly for a week. See how much better you feel and look. 15c, 30c, 60c.

An investigator is usually the man who was defeated for the office. We admit that politics is as rotten as the logs in an old ferry slip. And that hasn't changed since George the Third missed the water jump.

The old monarchial idea was that the king could do no wrong. And in democracy every man is a king.

Reforming the administration is a noble thought and every bit as practical as going into the park and jumping on the flowers.

Young Philadelphian said that he would play golf with John D. Rockefeller, Bobby Jones and the Prince of Wales and also dine with President Hoover. All in one year.

That's a good bet. He first tackled John D. and met with a gentle but thoroughly certified refusal.

Now he is on his way to sun-smacked California to grapple with Bobby Jones. Who doesn't play golf anymore because the divots get in his ears.

It looks like a bad bet. If he had really wanted to win some financial gravy why didn't he wager that he could write an editorial with Cal Coolidge, stuff a sofa pillow with goose feathers, dunk a chunk of toast in the five Great Lakes without spilling a drop and climax the works by whistling an aria through a hoss collar with Man-O-War.

In these days of economy it is not so perfectly possible to dine with a president. And even if you are invited it is six, two and even that you will have to bring your own sandwiches.

And playing golf with the Prince of Wales is another social cloudburst that doesn't wet the ordinary citizen.

You cannot bust in on the prince like a commuter into a railroad station. There are nimble details to be observed. First, of all, your table manners are inspected. The royal equerry taps you on the head with a sword to see if you roll off the knife.

Then you get a two weeks' card to the ancient and honorable fairways which are so located that it takes you exactly two weeks to get there. So you are ineligible before your arrival.

It looks as if our young Philadelphia pal will lose all four indictments. His ambition is laudable, but fails to synchronize. It would be no more astonishing than if Tex Guinan was to crash in on the historic triumvirate of faith, hope and charity and yell:

"Let's make it a foursome."

But if he wants to do something worth while we would suggest getting a job as car washer in a Chicago garage on St. Valentine's Day, spending the summer in Shipwreck Kelly's lap, roll a full keg of beer across the Canadian line and wind up by taking a stroll through Albania arm-in-arm with King Zog.

WIFE SLAYER KILLS SELF

RENO, Nev., March 26.—(AP.)—Dave Pinkes, Seattle salesman, who is charged with the murder of Florence Bennett Pinkes, also known as Florine Bennett, in San Francisco Monday, committed suicide in a hotel here by taking poison.

A note addressed to the po e found beside the body said:

"I, Dave Pinkes, shot Florine Bennett. We were together 18 months—I couldn't live without her—she had lied, cheated, couldn't be true to any one man. I told her many times that I would kill her for crossing me. She didn't care. She drove me to murder.

"Dave Pinkes."

Another note addressed to Mrs. A. M. Cox, of Ocean Beach, Cal., requested her to say goodbye to his family for him.

MENTAL HEALTH GROUP MEETS

Prominent physicians, educators and social workers of Pittsburgh attended an executive committee meeting of the Mental Hygiene Society of Western Pennsylvania yesterday at the University of Pittsburgh. The purpose of the society, which is launching a membership campaign today at the luncheon meeting of the Public Charities Association in the Fort Pitt Hotel, is to prevent, through proper education by expert psychiatrists, mental breakdowns and social maladjustments.

Mrs. Saul Lavine, chairman of the committee on parental education, announced plans for the organization of a bureau of parental education in Pittsburgh. Speakers, besides Mrs. Lavine, included Dr. C. C. Wholey, Dr. Davenport Hooker, Miss Isabel Kennedy, Dean of Men Robert C. Clothier, of the University of Pittsburgh, and Dr. E. E. Mayer. Dr. C. C. Wholey was named chairman of a committee to develop a definite program. Dr. G. W. Smeltz, Dr. E. E. Mayer and Dr. C. H. Heinninger were named with him.

Stops Sour Belching, Burning Acid New Way

"For the last three years I have been bothered by food souring, causing a burning sensation, that at time I felt like jumping into the river," says Mr. E. J. Moore, Cincinnati, Ohio. "I tried innumerable medicines, consulted a stomach specialist, but no relief. Finally I heard about ACIDINE and got some. No more burning or sour belching and vomiting, no headaches. ACIDINE is wonderful."

Such relief is yours, too, if you take ACIDINE. Remember this new ACIDINE is entirely different from other known remedies. Contains an effective digestant, Japtase, that promptly liquefies 800 times its own weight of starchy food, under proper conditions. Five other scientific ingredients neutralize burning acid, stop gas formation, soothe irritated stomach lining. Stop gas and headache from acidity. No other known remedy contains this scientific combination to end acid stomach troubles.

Don't run chances of dangerous results from acid stomach. Get ACIDINE today and note prompt relief from pain and belching. Quickly ends acid stomach torture, and you can eat, drink and smoke without fear of dangerous stomach acids if you take ACIDINE to relieve resulting acidity. Results guaranteed or money back. Dentists agree the one sure way to make false teeth comfortable is to keep them firm. Just sprinkle a little KLING on the plates. This improved powder holds plates so snug they cannot rock or slip. You can eat and talk as well as you did with your own teeth. Sweetens the breath and avoids embarrassment. Don't waste money on substitutes. A large package of KLING costs only 35c at Mayflower, Boyd's or any other druggist. Money refunded if you are not more than pleased.

SAVED from a CANNIBAL FEAST

The Pot Was Now Boiling Furiously, and at a Signal From the Savage Who Seemed to Be in Charge of the Proceedings, Her Captors Dragged the Girl Forward. Not Knowing Whether She Was to Be Killed and Dismembered or Thrown Into the Pot Alive, She Uttered Her Loudest Screams, Struggled With Her Last Ounce of Strength—And at That—

A YOUNG woman, now residing in Kansas City, trembles when she hears a kettle sing. To most of us a singing kettle is a thing of cheer—but to her it recalls a cannibal's kettle which was boiling for her—and almost got her.

This young woman was then living in the interior of Liberia. Her father was a medical missionary. In the absence of her parents on an errand of mercy, the blacks captured her and a colored servant girl. While the terrified girls watched, these cannibals brought an immense kettle, filled it with water and started a great fire under it. Finally the water was boiling and the blacks were bringing the white girl, half dead with terror, to the edge of the boiling pot. Just then . . .

But why tell it here?

It is told completely and vividly in next week's American Weekly, with a photograph of the young woman, her name and all the interesting details.

TELL IT TO SALLY

By SALLY MARTIN

What Happens When Baby Of Family Grows Up?

Are you the family goat?

All families have one and in this case, Lillian's [illegible] is Johnnie 'n Sister. Sonny has their friends and interests. Being busy with them, they think Lil should stick around home, be nice to the Old Folks and do all the odd job for which they haven't time. Sounds familiar, doesn't it? It is.

"Dear Miss Martin:

"I wonder if you won't help me. I am a young girl just entering my twenties. . . . the baby of a family of six. I have graduated from both high school and business college, but that's all the good it does me.

Called Ungrateful

"I was to have gone to college but that was all dropped just after I finished H.' Naturally I wasn't fitted for any sort of a real position. But through a friend, I got a clerical position at a small salary and was getting along fine when Mother and Dad decided to go away for the Summer. So the family thought that I should give up this position in which I was advancing myself all the time and take care of my dad's dog and canaries. Argue as I would, they insisted. So I did it. That's only the beginning.

"When they came home, I went to business college and began work again, earning more money than before. Then the family decided to go away again. This time they insisted on taking me with them, and I'll admit I did enjoy the trip—to Canada—but I wanted to work. I had a good chance to get ahead, and I wanted to keep it. Well, after we got back it was decided that I wouldn't go job hunting any more.

"I would be private secretary to my Dad. And here is where the catch comes in. The man he had before me was receiving $300 a month. I got $15 a week! And at the office I'm told I'm 'ungrateful' if I kick—that he's 'supported me all my life, and that he'll have to go on doing it forever.

Object to Her Friends

"At home it's just more arguments. If it's not mother and dad, then it's my sisters or brother and their mates. They crab if I want to go anywhere. They crab because . . . oh well . . . just because, I guess. They tell me I go out entirely too much—and honestly, I wish you'd tell me what more I could do for my family or how I could spend more time with them. I even give my mother all of my princely (?) salary and if I want a few dollars for myself, I have to ask for them. In my whole life I've been to just about five parties. I can't even spend an evening at a movie without a row. I have to give an account of myself if I even go to the corner grocery and don't hurry right back on the run.

"My sisters and brothers all had their friends come to the house . . . and in fact had some pretty wild times. They married, and now they object if I even have a girl friend. I've begged them to see things my way, and let me bring a few friends home, but to no avail. I haven't a word to say, to hear them tell it. I'm just the baby, and supposed to listen and mind.

"Honestly, I'm nearly crazy. Haven't I any rights? Shouldn't I have any life of my own? They seem to think not. Please won't you help me. I'll be ever so grateful if you will.

"LILLIAN."

Haven't you any rights?

Sure you have, youngster—just as many rights as anyone else. If and when you win them, "Rights" are never handed to us on a silver platter. We must always fight for them and fight to hold them after we get them. And it's particularly hard for the "baby of the family" to get his or her rights, for two reasons.

First . . . The baby being the baby, gets the undivided interest of the whole family—and the undivided bossing. No one ever believes that the baby grows up. No one ever takes the baby seriously. No one ever thinks the baby can manage its own life.

That's one side of the picture . . . the side which you depict, Lillian, and which makes you maudlin in hope.

But there's another side which you don't depict.

If the baby gets unusual bossing . . . the baby also gets exceptional coddling. The baby is let off from responsibility . . . given special treats. What's the result? This—

The family keeps the baby a baby—

But the baby also keeps herself a baby.

Must Prove Fitness

But the baby won't fight for her rights. She has been coddled so long that she expects to get her rights without fighting for them.

Well, you won't, kid! If you want liberty—if you want rewards—you must prove your fitness for them.

Take this matter of your salary with your Dad. You're beefing because you do not get as much as your predecessor. But, are you worth as much? Chances are you aren't. If Dad paid his former secretary $300 a month, he probably got $300 worth of work in return. And it's extremely doubtful if you, with your youthful inexperience, can render $300 worth of service. If you want to get more—qualify! Qualify, as any other worker would have to qualify. However, if you're sure that you're worth more than you're getting, quit. Quit, as any other worker would quit. Don't be huffy or weepy. Just be regular. Good-natured and sensible and firm. Tell Dad that you can get more elsewhere—and then prove it!

Prove that you can be regular by being regular. Prove that you can take care of yourself by taking care of yourself.

Price of Freedom

Leave home, if you must, in order to be free. But before you do so, consider well the price of freedom. Remember you will meet the same injustice in the outside world that you have met at home. The same interference—the same bossing.

But, in the outer world, these hardships won't be tempered by the loving kindness which you've known at home. They'll land on you, without the slightest regard for your feelings. And it won't do you a particle of good to whimper or pout.

If, knowing this, you decide to stay at home—then establish a definite basis of life for yourself with your family. Pay your mother a reasonable amount of board, as any other worker would have to do. Do not let her take advantage of you—but, also, be very careful not to take advantage, either. Don't expect unusual consideration unless you're willing to pay for it, with unusual concessions.

A difficult program? Of course it's a difficult program, little girl. And the sooner you steel yourself to accept that fact, the happier you'll be.

Few Live Their Lives as They Planned in Enthusiasm of Youth—Fay King

I'M GOING TO GET MARRIED AND HAVE TWO BOYS AND TWO GIRLS
I'M GOING TO BE A GREAT MOVIE STAR
I'D LIKE NICE THINGS AND TO TRAVEL. I'M GOING TO FALL IN LOVE WITH A RICH MAN
I'M GOING TO MARRY FOR LOVE NO MATTER HOW POOR HE MAY BE!
I'M GOING TO BE A SUCCESSFUL BUSINESS WOMAN AND NEVER MARRY
TAT-TING

By FAY KING

How few live their lives as they planned in the enthusiasm of youth.

Those who were going to settle down in rose-covered cottages and raise large families end up careering about and perhaps never marrying.

The girl who is so emphatic about declaring that she just wouldn't fall in love with any but a rich man to buy her all the beautiful things she wants and take her around the world, ends up falling in love with the boy on the next block and makes an extensive tour of the state.

Girls who were never going to let anything interfere with their business career and declared they would never marry—marry several times.

Madge Realizes Why Cameron Attended Party

Dicky started at my tremulous exclamation, then looked down at me with a quizzical smile.

"What's on the troubled mind?" he asked. Then his eyes went out again to the graceful posturing figures of Mary and Colin Cameron. But they came back to my face almost immediately.

"Of course she loves it," he said. "Do you know any normal girl of her age who wouldn't thrill at being chosen by a young talkie star for an intricate dance like that? Mary is pretty insulated. I grant you by her yen for Noel, but she isn't foolproof. I don't mean she's in any danger of falling for the personality of the man, but——"

Dicky looked at Mary's rapt face and brilliant eyes and his voice sobered.

"I see what you mean," he said. "She looks exactly as if she'd had a drink too much or a small shot of dope."

"Then look at Mr. Veritzen," I whispered.

"How much will you pay me for that job?" he retorted with a grin so infectious that, despite my anxiety for Mary, I could not help smiling widely at him.

"I'll figure it out later," I told him, "but tell me what you see."

My employer was so absorbed in watching Mary and young Mr. Cameron that he did not see the questioning stare Dicky gave him.

"The goggling, gloating old goat!" my husband said in an undertone. "I put the 'old' in for truth and to break up 'alliteration's artful aid,' which I believe isn't approved by our best professors of English. But those are the only words to describe him. He's tickled pink over that dance—as pleased as if he'd planned the whole thing."

"He has," I whispered tensely. "Don't you see what his plan is? I knew he had something in his mind when he brought Colin Cameron to that dinner the other night, but I thought he had the cynical idea that Mary would be swept off her feet by young Cameron's personality and the glamour investing him."

"You mean he hoped Mary'd give Noel the run-around, with exit on the fire escape," Dicky said with such raillery in his voice for what he evidently considered my pedantic phrasing that I flushed and stammered. I was a bit resentful, too. After all, I said to myself, Mary was Dicky's niece, not mine. If he could take her danger—I could use no lesser word—so lightly, why should I worry about it?

I was abashed by my own pettiness the next instant. I knew that I would have been concerned over any girl in Mary's situation, knew also that my love for her was as strong and abiding as if she were indeed by own "blood kin," as my mother-in-law expresses it.

"Say it anyway you like," With effort I purged my voice of resentment. "But I can see now that he had a subtler plan than that. He has studied her reactions——"

"I've understood he's quite an expert on feminine pshychoiogy," my husband said dryly.

"And knows that she is obsessed by a love for dancing," I went on swiftly, ignoring the little rapier thrust.

"Also a more or less suppressed liking for the limelight," he said. "We've got to face that with Mary. She's no more to blame for it than she is for the color of her eyes. It's part of the theatrical temperament, and she has that with three pluses."

"I know," I said a bit drearily. "But I thought that time—the masked dancer—you know—Jack Leslie—" my voice trailed off as I choked on the remembrance of that terrible experience.

"They're never cured," he said sententiously. "Now, don't let the hackles bristle," as I threw up my head resentfully. "I don't mean that Mary's going to stage anything surreptitious, as she did the last time or get herself into any disreputable scrape. She's had her lesson with that narrow escape. But it doesn't need a professor of psychology to see Phil's little scheme. The mangy old hyena probably has Cameron all primed to offer her something—a professional engagement which almost any actress except the headliners would be crazy to get, and which on the face of it——"

"Hush!" I whispered. "He's coming over to us."

Tomorrow's Horoscope

Friday, March 27

A day of very important events and affairs is forecast from the actuating lunar transits of major planets. An element of the sudden and unforeseen dominates, with new ventures or rearranged plans claiming the attention. There may be some hostile conditions in employment or with superiors. But favors or assistance from moneyed individuals may be available for fresh undertakings. Change seems imminent and despite many hazards there may be conspicuous gain and advancement.

Those whose birthday it is may prepare for an important year with large interests at stake. There is a sudden change, new projects, possible chance of employment or disruption therein. But alliances with secret bodies or close corporations, with assistance from those in place of power and financial standing is presaged, but it is enjoined that all arrangements be managed with precaution.

A child born on this day should have many pronounced talents and capacities for success in important ventures, but may also encounter much opposition from employers or associates and business reverses. It may be temperamental and original.

Correct Manners

By MRS. CORNELIUS BEECKMAN

Invitations to the Prom

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

We are just preparing to attend our first prom and we wish to ask a few questions which will clear up this matter of manners.

1. Is it wrong for us to invite young men we have been properly introduced to, but whom we do not see very often because they live quite a distance from our homes?

2. The affair is informal. Is it necessary to wear gloves, and if so, what kind? Also a hat? Our dresses will be black.

3. It will be held at a hotel. Shall we go straight home or shall we suggest another place of amusement?

READERS.

1. This is difficult to answer, for I cannot make out quite how well you know these young men. But if you have been to several parties with them, there isn't any reason why you should not invite them to go with you to the prom. However, I suggest that you make your invitation very correct by writing it, so that they will have a perfectly free choice to do as they wish about it.

2. If the dance is informal, you would not wear gloves, which are the sign of formality when worn in the evening. Wear a simple dance frock, with no hat.

3. Under the circumstances, it would be in very poor taste for you to suggest going to any other entertainment after the prom. A prom usually is considered enough entertainment for one evening!

Your Relatives' Christmas Card

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

I sent a Christmas card to my sister and her husband and on it I said, "To Mr. and Mrs. J. Huston." Was this correct, or should I have said, "Jane and Jim?"

READER.

For the card sent to such close relatives, it would have been appropriate to use the familiar "Jane and Jim." It must have seemed frigid to them to receive a card with Mr. and Mrs. J. Huston on it.

Correct Wedding Invitation

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

Please tell me which is the correct form on a wedding invitation?

Dr. Leon Alfred Brown or Leon Alfred Brown
READER.

Household Hints

Rub a little cedar oil into the floors of your closets. Then the moths will leave them severely alone.

To remove fruit stains from the hands, wash them in clear water, dry slightly, and hold them over the fumes of a few lighted sulphur matches. Or, scrub the stains with a brush and a strong solution of tea. Try this also for vegetable stains.

A gift for the new baby is not always a simple one to select. Often one wishes to express a thought of good wishes without entering into much expense. Some little washcloths made just for the wee one are always welcome. Take three or four thicknesses of gauze and bind the edge with a soft ribbon or work them with a soft finished crochet thread. They are attractive tributes to the new visitor's tender skin.

How to Keep Well

By DR. ROYAL S. COPELAND

Getting Well May Rest With the Patient.

Not long ago I told you about the diseases of the kidneys. It was pointed out that we need no longer dread this condition as we did formerly.

Dr. Copeland

Today I want to tell you a little more about the kidney. There are some precautions which are very important in taking care of any chronic disease of this organ. The outcome of the case depends entirely upon the management of the patient.

There is little hope of a complete cure for this condition when once it has become established. But much can be done to improve the state of the kidneys and the general welfare of the body. No need to consider himself doomed because he has this trouble, but he should attempt to improve his general health. After it is discovered, the disease can be prevented from advancing and causing more damage to the body.

All alcoholic drinks must be avoided. Salts, pepper, spices and other condiments should be omitted from the diet.

Care should be taken to avoid cold and undue exposure to sudden weather changes. A drop in the temperature causes chilling of the skin, with resulting congestion of the kidneys. It is best to live in a warm climate if it is possible, but if care is exercised this is not urgent.

Mental unrest, caused by worry and anxiety, should be avoided as much as possible. It is difficult, of course, to eliminate worry, but efforts should be made to do so. Relaxation, both in work and play, is the keynote of success. This is true, not only in kidney disease, but in dealing with every medical problem.

All hygienic measures, such as plenty of fresh air, sunshine, proper elimination, and daily bathing are of utmost importance. If we did not neglect these personal duties we would avoid most ailments.

The diet plays an important part in this disease. Unfortunately, I cannot go into detail in this matter because not all forms of kidney disease are alike. Each requires its own particular diet. It is advisable that each case be considered upon its merits and that diet instructions be given by your physician.

In general it can be said that the diet should be light and nourishing. Once a day is enough for the meat dish. Never eat excessively of any food. Temperance in all things is important.

The Beauty Box

By HELEN FOLLETT

Don't despise the humble lemon as a beautifier. It is an excellent bleaching agent, especially for freckles on neck and arms. Lemon juice added to warm water makes a good rinse for the hair because it softens the shafts and removes soap scum that may be lurking round after the shampoo. Nails that have taken on stained borders will whiten if the finger tips are plunged into the pulp of half a lemon.

Youth, skipping along on light feet, believes that there is no limit to vitality and strength. Youth isn't as wise as it thinks it is. Overstrain, lack of sleep, nerve tension and disregard for simple laws of health and hygiene take their toll. They take it by removing from the cheeks of youth the natural flush and delicacy of texture, by depleting the well-being of the hair, dulling the sparkle of the eyes, taking from the young step that spring and buoyancy which are its rightful inheritance and which, in a state of health, should last throughout the years.

Vanity is supposed to be a quality that belongs to the feminine contingent. What a string of bunkum! As if men weren't vain and conceited as well, many of them. A he-person, cursed with an enormous tumtum and without a hair on his head, can stroll around pleased to death with himself, fancying that all the women's hearts are fluttering at the sight of him. A bald-headed woman would suffer agony and despair, and would never for a moment imagine herself a belle among the boys.

To have perfume delicate, subtle, enticing, it should not be dabbed onto fabrics, but sprayed on with an atomizer. Sachet powders should be more popular than they are. Placed in the handkerchief or glove box they do their smelly best to impregnate these small details of the wardrobe with their floretted odors. No good putting them on clothes hangers unless only clothes are in the wardrobes. If shoes are there, the aroma of kid and leather will up and slay the sachet scents. Shoes should be in a shoe box placed outside the clothes closet.

DESTROY COLD GERMS

Self-infection certain every time handkerchief is used again . . . one reason why colds hang on

Avoid self-infection with

KLEENEX

Disposable Handkerchiefs

You use . . . then discard

THE importance of using Kleenex during colds has received dramatic confirmation from the scientific laboratory!

A series of tests prove beyond the shadow of a doubt that a single use of a handkerchief during colds fills it with thousands of disease germs! Germs which carry infection back to the user every time the handkerchief is used again. Making recovery slower, more difficult.

Use only once

Kleenex removes every danger of self-infection from handkerchiefs. It permits the complete destruction of millions of germs which otherwise must be carried about in purse or pocket — then saved days longer in the laundry bag!

Kleenex is a soft, immaculate, super-absorbent tissue. The size of a handkerchief. So gentle, so soothing, that irritation is impossible. So inexpensive that each tissue may be used just once, then discarded.

Bacteriological tests show:

1. That handkerchiefs used by persons having colds may contain as many as 4,170,000 germs per handkerchief. The types of organisms in the enumeration are those known to be associated with colds.

2. That organisms representative of those associated with colds, when rinsed in boiling water and/or soap water, were found not to be killed or appreciably inhibited from growing.

Kleenex has many other uses. Beauty experts say these absorbent tissues are the safe, sanitary way to remove cold cream. Being powerfully absorbent, Kleenex picks up all dirt and powder along with cleansing cream.

Ask for Kleenex at any drug, dry goods or department store. Comes in three sizes: 25 cents, 50 cents and $1.00. If you have not tried Kleenex, send for a free trial packet to the Kleenex Company, Lake Michigan Bldg., Chicago, Illinois.

What science says about the ordinary handkerchief

1. It may self-infect the user time after time.
2. Spread infection among others.
3. Infect clothing in which carried.
4. Infect clothing in laundry bags (germs survive for days).

NEED LUCK TO WIN GRAND NATIONAL

INASMUCH AS THE odds are 5 to 1 against any horse even completing the race, to say nothing of his chances for victory, the fact that John Hay Whitney's Easter Hero rules favorite in the Grand National Steeplechase and that 10 other Yankee-owned jumpers, including R. K. Mellon's Alike and Glangesia, will start, does not assure, by any means, an American triumph in the annual running of the famous 94-year-old event tomorrow on the Aintree course near Liverpool, England.

John Hay Whitney

For in this most difficult and hazardous of all cross-country races, the course and conditions of which were described here last Saturday, class and form above the remainder of the field are not sufficient to bring a horse home in first place. The winner has got to have Dame Fortune on his side, too, all the way through the two trips around, and there is no telling in advance what starter is going to receive the smiles of the fickle jade. One little mishap, one sudden slip, is enough to turn seemingly certain victory into defeat.

AMERICAN OWNERS HAVE had two experiences of this sort in recent years. In 1928 Howard Bruce's Billy Barton was out in front until the very last of the 30 jumps, only to fall there and get but second place after being remounted. In 1929, when the record field of 66 horses started, Whitney's Easter Hero looked like the probable winner until near the finish, but spread a plate and could do no better than finish second.

Perhaps the third time will prove the charm, however. Racing followers in this country have good grounds for the hope that if adverse fates do not interfere again tomorrow the colors of an American stable may be first over the finish line. The only American-bred horse ever to win the classic was Rubio in 1908, owned by an Englishman, but two American-owned jumpers, Sergeant Murphy and Jack Horner, won in 1923 and 1926.

THE SUCCESS OF the eighth annual tournament for the eastern intercollegiate boxing championship at Penn State last Friday and Saturday has led to so much favorable comment that plans are already being shaped to hold a national championship college tournament at Madison Square Garden in New York next spring.

Two courses are open for such a meet, which would be the first of its kind ever staged. It has been suggested that either the Eastern Association admit enough outside schools to create nationwide interest in its ninth tourney, or some college conduct an invitation affair.

INCIDENTALLY, WEST VIRGINIA, Georgetown and Temple have just applied for membership in the Eastern Association, and other applications are expected to follow. The organization is now composed of Penn State, Penn, Navy, Syracuse, Western Maryland and Massachusetts Tech. Boxing has grown rapidly in the colleges since it was introduced 11 years ago. This season it outstripped basketball in attendance. One observer notes that it has cast cheer leaders in strange roles. They are now "anti-cheer" leaders, and their duty is to stifle cheering or noise-making, except between rounds.

Buzz Arlett

THE OLD WHEEZE that they all look good when they're far away appears still to hold good in baseball. Fears are being expressed around the training camp of the Phillies that, despite his great reputation in the minors, Outfielder Buzz Arlett, famed slugger from the Coast League, may after all prove just another bust in the big show.

During the first few days in camp Arlett astonished the natives with the length of his mighty wallops, but when the pitchers began to put some big-league stuff on the ball he fell into a slump. Burt Shotton is wondering whether it's because Arlett is 30 pounds overweight or because, like many another widely advertised slugger, he is a hitting phenom only against minor league pitching.

DICK KERR, the little left-hand pitcher who stood out as a credit to baseball when he proved one of the White Sox players whom the "fixers" could not buy in the 1919 world series, and who won two of Chicago's three victories in that engagement, announces his retirement from the diamond sport.

Kerr, now 37, has been manager and star pitcher for a semi-pro club at Houston, Tex., but in the future will give all of his attention to the affairs of a Houston cotton company by which he is employed.

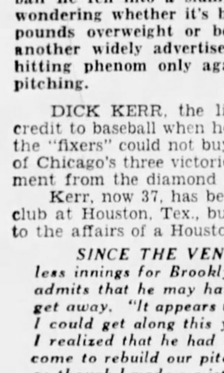
SINCE THE VENERABLE Jack Quinn pitched three scoreless innings for Brooklyn against the A's last week, Connie Mack admits that he may have made a mistake in letting the old-timer get away. "It appears that I was wrong," said Connie. "I thought I could get along this year without old Jack. When I let him go I realized that he had something left, but I thought the time had come to rebuild our pitching staff with younger material. It looks as though I made a mistake."

QUINN'S PASSING FROM the A's is bemoaned by Mickey Cochrane, too. "The old boy will help Brooklyn with his pitching," Cochrane declared, "just as he would have helped us if we had kept him. We'll miss him particularly during the first couple of months of the season, or I'm a poor prophet.

"Maybe these other strong pitchers on our staff will come through for us later with better stuff than they have shown in camp, but while they are rounding into shape Quinn would have been just the man we needed to give us a good start. He's always right there in the spring."

THE HIGH SPOT in the history of professional tennis probably will be reacted in the world championship tussle which Jack Curley has succeeded in clinching between Bill Tilden and Vincent Richards, a series of best five out of nine matches to start in New York on May 25, and continue through Boston, Philadelphia, Baltimore and Chicago.

Whether or not the players' remuneration is to be as fat as reported, with Richards receiving $25,000, and Tilden being guaranteed the same amount with a percentage privilege, the fact remains that it promises to be the greatest pro match ever fought at the nets. Tilden may find that beating Richards is a different proposition from beating Karel Kozeluh. Richards himself handed several decisive defeats to Kozeluh when the latter was playing far better tennis than he showed against Tilden last month.



Buck Gefsky

TIME HAS WROUGHT many changes in basketball since the early playing days of the old Coffey Club stars—Meyer (Buck) Gefsky, Dave Mervis, Moy Marks, Buckets Sandomire, Cutsey Levine, Lefty Abrams and others—who will come back on the floor tonight at the Y. M. H. A. to meet the crack first team of that organization. "When I see the modern young basketball player driven in a big automobile to the playing hall by his father, who calls for him again after the game if he does not remain to see it, I think of the old days when things were vastly different," said Buck Gefsky, now Y. M. H. A. coach. "We used to walk all the way to the South Side to play a game, with the mercury below zero and a gale howling across the bridge. When we had played our game we walked back again over the same long, cold road, half-frozen, but happy if we had won. Basketball has changed in other ways, too, and not for the better. It used to be a game in which we had a real system, real teamwork. Every man had his thinking to do and his part to play to fit into that system. We didn't have to look around to see if a man was there to take a pass. We knew he was there—right where he was supposed to be. Now it's all mechanical. It's not the same game."

LOS ANGELES, March 26.—The Pirates will swing back again to major league competition this afternoon when they open a four-game series with the Detroit Tigers. Wrigley Field probably will be a lively spot for the next seven days, as the classy Cubs, of Chicago, will follow the Jungaleers into Los Angeles, the Bears to clash three times with the Freebooters.

Manager Ens has his biggest ace all ready to heckle the Bengals today. Remy Kremer, in fine shape, will go through the bigger part of the battle, provided he gets along satisfactorily with Bucky Harris' batters.

FORMER LOCALS PRESENT

The coming of the Tigers is a welcome relief to the Pittsburgh players. The series between the Buccos and Angels, winding up yesterday, was not one of great appeal to the fans. Less than 3,000 people saw the three battles, but the big league flavor in the atmosphere for the next week is likely to be reflected at the ball park.

Not a few folks who formerly lived in Pittsburgh section are cheering the Pirates these days. In the event of a continuance of the good weather, it is likely that native Pennsylvanians will be plentiful in the crowds that greet the big leaguers in the impending fights.

The Buccos and Angels battled 12 innings yesterday as the home team copped the last game of the series. The score was 9 to 8, two homers on successive pitches by George Harper and Ray Jacobs giving the Cherubs the verdict

EXPLANATION OF RIPLEY'S CARTOON OF YESTERDAY: THE TREE ON CRUTCHES—The Karasaki Pine Tree stands on a walled esplanade in Karasaki village, Japan. Its 300 or more immense horizontal boughs, upheld by wood crutches or stone pillars, curve awkwardly and at the top are tin and wood copings as a protection against weather. These arms, some of which are more than 200 feet long, reach out like legs of a gigantic spider. This 1,000-year-old tree illustrates the Japanese love for the bizarre.

TOMORROW: 76-YEAR-OLD FANCY SKATING CHAMPION.

A. A. U. CHAMPS ARE CROWNED

The Allegheny Mountain Association, A. A. U. wound up one of its finest boxing championship tourneys in Moose Temple last night with the crowning of champions in eight divisions. The bouts were sponsored by Islam Grotto Lodge No. 35. The champions on the throne today are:

112-pound class—Tony Gamble, Duffy A. C., Erie.
126-pound class — Fritzie Zivic, unattached.
135-pound class — Eddie Zivic, unattached.
147-pound class — Charles Crovatta, Sands A. C., Uniontown.
160-pound class — Max Elling, Pittsburgh Lyceum.
Heavyweight—Eddie Sago, McKeesport A. C.

Only two champions retained their majestic thrones—Charley Crovatta, Sands A. C., of Uniontown, in the 147-pound class, and Eddie Sago, McKeesport A. C., in the heavyweight division. Crovatta didn't have to fight his final match, A. Zack, a teammate, who suffered an injured hand in the semi-final, defaulting.

Sago retained his title by first defeating Sparky Ewalt, Pastorious A. C., and then winning from Butch Jacobs, Hogan A. C., in the final.

The two Zivic brothers, Fritzie and Eddie, carried off the featherweight and lightweight laurels.

Only two of the 23 fights staged last night failed to go the regulation number of rounds, Steve Libenscheck, St. Boniface Lyceum, scoring two knockouts. The new champions will compete in a national tourney in New York next month. The summary:

PRELIMINARIES

SEMI-FINAL ROUND

118-pound class—William Eley, Pleasant Valley A. C., New Salem, won from Sam Asto, Sands A. C., Uniontown, 3 rounds, decision. Andy Kosel, Valley Boxing Club, Turtle Creek, won from Vic Yarosz, Monaca, 3 rounds, decision.

126-pound class—Joe Chemes, Pittsburgh Lyceum, won from Louis Leon, Y. M. H. A., 3 rounds, decision. Fritzie Zivic, unattached, won from Johnny Shenlar, Hogan A. C., 3 rounds, decision.

160-pound class—Chuck Mullins, Willow Club, won from Frank Kladdick, Pastorius

Sport Vignettes

If you were going to college, how would you like to attend a university boasting none but world champion professors? . . . Or a sort of an all-America faculty? . . . One that you were convinced from performance knew its stuff? . . . That would be great, wouldn't it? . . . Well, the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph is going to have just such a world champion faculty teach the kid baseball players how to play baseball, in a series of illustrated articles beginning in next Sunday's issue . . . Every member of the faculty is a member of the Philadephia Athletics, world champions of the baseball domain for the last two years and favorites to repeat again this year . . . The all-star roster includes Lefty Grove and George Earnshaw, pitchers; Jimmy Foxx, first baseman; Max Bishop, second baseman; Joe Boley, shortstop; Jimmy Dykes, third baseman; Al Simmons, Mule Haas and Bing Miller, outfielders; Mickey Cochrane, catcher; Connie Mack, manager, and Kid Gleason, coach.

Lefty Grove

These articles will appear three times a week, on Sundays, Wednesdays and Fridays, for a full month, just at a time when the young sandlotters are turning their thoughts to the grand old national pastime. . . . They tell you all you need to know about the salient features of pitching, catching, fielding, batting, managing and coaching, and form the first of a series of treats on baseball to appear in your favorite newspaper this year, and you can't afford to miss them if you hope some day to shine as a big leaguer. . . . Don't forget, the first article appears next Sunday, with Lefty Grove, the greatest southpaw pitcher of the times, revealing his pitching secrets.

Did you know that Jake Pitler, former Pirate second baseman, now a billiard room and bowling alley proprietor in Oil City, will manage the Elmira club in the New York-Pennsylvania League again this year, and that Lefty George, that veteran of veterans among the pitchers, will be back on the job again for York in the same circuit, despite reports that he finally was retiring? . . . A description of the running of the Grand National Steeplechase at Aintree, England, will be broadcast tomorrow morning, coming in for Pittsburgh listeners through station KDKA via a pickup from the British Broadcasting Corporation beginning at 9:45 o'clock. . . . Lloyd's is not offering odds that Jackie Rodgers and Johnny Datto will not come up with injuries that will prevent their third battle, scheduled in the Motor Square ring next Monday night, in view of the many disappointments that have fraught previous matchings of the pair.

Luke Carney has been dismissed from the Presbyterian Hospital, where he was confined for two months because of illness, and will return in a short time to have his tonsils removed. . . . He lost considerable weight, but feels better than he has in a long time and expects to be able to dig back into the boxing business again in a hurry . . . Dominick Petrone, veteran New York boxer, now of Pittsburgh, got a kick out of advice from a local scribe that he should go under the instruction of a good boxing teacher to polish the amateurish style in his work. . . . Fact is Petrone is past his peak and in his prime fought the best of them and a frequent performer and a big card in Madison Square Garden, New

WARREN PLACES IN PIN MONEY

BUFFALO, March 26.—Warren pinsters showed up their brother Keglers from Erie in the annual tournament of the American Bowling Congress here yesterday, for Erie did not land a man in the prize money in either event, while Warren not only placed one pair in the cash, but it offered, in M. Johnson, the second best bet of the day in the singles.

Johnson came through with games of 212, 236 and 202 for a 650. The high mark of the day was 690, by Harry Fairbanks, of Buffalo. He touched off a 690 to land in fifth place.

Albert Fischer, of Warren, stepped into the money when he shot a 628, and also placed in the doubles dough when he paired with A. P. Fischer, for 1144.

Youngstown placed one of three teams in the money, this being the Resch Athletic. Its score was 2758. Youngstown Recreation No. 2 could not get out of the 800 class and fell with a 2641. Kelley rolled 2440, with the consistent games of 813, 814 and 813.

Neither of two Erie teams, the Sunflowers No. 1 and Sunflowers No. 2, rolled high, the former getting 2647 and the latter 2298. Yesterday's scores:

WARREN

Doubles—M. Check-M. Johnson, 1100; W. Fitch-S. Cosmano, 933; L. Allen-B. Malone, 970; L. Steve-G. Pedlow, 1079; C. Lupold-H. Bjers, 1005.

ERIE

Doubles—C. Terry-H. Tomes, 1031; J. Schmidt-C. Moritz, 1016; N. Volk-A. Conkey, 926; A. George-A. Wehmeyer, 1089; D. Mark-G. Wolf, 1035.

Singles—C. Terry, 453; H. Tomes, 486; J. Schmidt, 511; C. Moritz, 528; N. Volk, 502; A. Conkey, 482; A. George, 568; A. Wehmeyer, 562; D. Mark, 517; G. Wolf, 519.

Herbie Fairbanks, this city, created the only upset. The Buffalo bowler crashed his way into fifth place in the singles division with a 690 total and took fourth berth in the all-events, aggregating 1892. Fairbanks pounded the maples for games of 255, 213 and 222 in the solo event.

HOCKEY TITLE SERIES.

GAMES TONIGHT.

Buffalo at Pittsburgh and Cleveland at Windsor in International League, 8:30 p. m.

Canadiens at Boston, Toronto at Chicago and New York Rangers at Montreal in National League.

RESULTS TUESDAY.

Cleveland defeated Pittsburgh, 2-1, at Cleveland, in the opening game of International League's title play-offs.

Toronto and Chicago tied, 2-2; Boston defeated Canadiens, 5-4, and N. Y. Rangers defeated Montreal Maroons, 5-1, in games inaugurating National League play-offs.

By CARL W. SHATTO

Thousands of local hockey fans—as many of 'em as can be packed into Duquesne Garden—will be served their first helping of International League championship series action at the Craig street arena tonight, and if the skirmishing is as fast and stern as it was in the series inaugural in Cleveland on Tuesday, they will find the dish very much to their liking.

The headliners in tonight's portion of the circuit's annual title warfare will be the Buffalo Bisons, who set the pace for all teams in the regular campaign, and the local Yellow Jackets. The "old fight" displayed by the Schooley warriors did much to make the Cleveland game a thrilling spectacle. The Bisons long have made a practice of matching an enemy thrust with one of their own, and unless one team is able to gain a commanding lead early in the fight (not at all likely) the fray should be a torrent of wild action from start to finish.

CAN'T AFFORD TO LOSE

The outcome of the first title game in Cleveland Tuesday, when some accurate puck throwing by Doug Young enabled the Indians to bag an unearned victory, 2 to 1, serves as a spur to both the Jackets and the Bisons. Because their ice freezing plant failed to function, the Bisons had to postpone their scheduled Tuesday opener with Windsor, and they need a victory here to put 'em on an even footing with Cleveland, defending champion, whom Buffalo is favored to dethrone.

Because the series is to be of only six games for each team (each meets its rivals in home-and-home engagements) the locals can ill afford to drop another decision at this time. Two defeats are certain to be enough to put any contender on the ragged edge of elimination, and the Jackets, naturally, are eager to stave off a second setback as long as possible.

In their last game here Pittsburgh nosed out Buffalo, 2 to 1, but even in defeat the Bisons showed enough power to merit sincere respect. The Jackets will have to be "on" to escape defeat, and the locals' fine work in Cleveland indicates that the same goes for the Bisons.

COX, SMITH TO PLAY

Although several of the Schooley color-bearers were well bruised up in the series lid-lifter, Goalie Albie Cox was the only player to sustain an extraordinarily painful injury. Alex Gray, Cleveland captain, whacked Cox right between the eyes with his stick in the second period, and Albie today is wearing adhesive tape between and beneath both orbs. The wallop opened a cut on the bridge of Albie's nose, and had the stick landed a fraction of an inch to the right or left, Cox probably would have joined Gordy Fraser, defense ace out with a broken hand, in being lost to Pittsburgh for the entire series.

Roger Smith, defense vet who is

Says Nick Altrock

(Baseball's Comedian)

BILOXI, Miss., March 26.—The Robins wired Dazzy Vance from Havana to meet them in Florida and sign up. Dazzy didn't use strategy handling the situation. If I had been in his spiked shoes, I would have gone with the team to Havana and then started holding out. The Dazzler will get a $25,000 salary, but at Brooklyn prices that would be worth $40,000 in Sloppy Joe's Havana bar. I see the Phils just won their first game of the season from a big league team. That should give them confidence for their crucial series with the Pensacola Naval outfit and St. Vitus College.

CITY SWIMMING CHAMPIONSHIPS UNDER WAY

Williamsport Protests Playing of P. I. A. A. Final at Stadium

29 TEAMS VIE IN TECH MEET SATURDAY

By JESS CARVER

The swimming championship competition for local senior and junior high schools gets under way today, with the juniors engaging in qualifying meets in the Baxter, Connelley and Fifth Avenue High School pools.

The senior sectional qualifications are on the program for tomorrow, with the city finals for both seniors and juniors slated next Monday, the diving finals Tuesday and the final heats in both classes next Wednesday.

The relay teams of South Hills and Langley, which annexed the honors in the senior and junior divisions, respectively, of Carnegie Tech's first annual intercholastic swimming relays last year, are going to find the matter of retaining their titles in this year's meet on Saturday different propositions.

Last year an entry list of 19 schools took part in the competition, eight figuring in the scoring in both divisions. South Hills won in the senior section with 12 points. Carrick was second, Schenley third and Peabody fourth.

HILLSMEN VICTORS

South Hills won by copping the 150-yard medley, the 200-yard breast stroke and grabbing off a third position in the 200-yard free style.

The entry list has grown to more considerable proportion this year. Instead of 19 teams, there will be 29 teams entered, and in place of 220 individual performers, there will be 347. Most of the schools have the same teams entered as last year, two of the newcomers, Cleveland Heights, of Cleveland, and Akron East bringing veteran squads, calculated to furnish the defending champions with exceptionally torrid splashing.

The Tipoff

Unless one of the remaining eastern teams are of exceptional strength and merit, it will be difficult to see how Scott can be rubbed out of the state basketball championship. The North Braddock entry, for all it has played 29 games, and has lost its captain, Johnny Tomko, looks more like the money in each start.

Balance and speed are the real secrets of Scott's success. The boys follow the ball like hawks. Kmitulis has control of the apple three-fourths of the time, it seems, and his speed, dribbling and deceptive passing makes it all but impossible for the opposition to gain possession of the ball.

Scott will miss Capt. Tomko, small doubt of that, but with chaps such as Novotny, Phillips and Halligan ready to step into the breach, the loss will not be as serious as it might have been. Phillips likely will get the starting job, with Novotny as the second choice.

The Pitt coaches are keeping each eye on the football squad, who, because of inability to report early in the run-pauch, are very late starters. Even with the big Pitt field house, which will be ready for use soon, the Panthers are not expected to be ready for the opener until the middle of April. Bob Peck, Waldo Walker and Paul Hoffman, are two of those babes. Carl Hinkel, like the monkey, until he sprained his shoulder against Western Reserve.

Temple University, by the way, is utilizing the roof of one of its buildings as a spring practice field. The Temple gridiron was not in such shape as to make it available for spring practice, so Coach Heinie Miller is putting his squad through its "penthouse" session.

In 1911, the record crew defeating Columbia, established the mark still to stand. Just to set those oar-weary boys to tingling with the morning coffee.

Babe Herman signed a Brooklyn contract in the morning and in the afternoon was ranch sleeping off first base. The Babe gets into form rapidly.

Jock Rosenberg, athletic director at Rankin High School, was debating yesterday whether to charge admission to the Rankin-Pitt freshmen boxing show Friday night or to pass the hat. After due thought, Jock decided it would be the smart thing to do to charge admission.

"I tried passing the hat at one of our baseball games last year," Jock said, "and started it off by putting a buck in it myself. It was dough in the derby. When the kelly came back, there was exactly 47 cents therein. Is that a profit?"

MISS PALFREY IS ELIMINATED

BROOKLINE, Mass., March 26.—(AP.)—Mianne Palfrey, of Brookline, defending champion in the women's national indoor singles tennis tournament, fell before the explosive left-handed strokings of unseeded Marjorie Sachs, of Cambridge, by scores of 8-6, 7-5, yesterday, on the Longwood covered courts. Miss Sachs' unexpected victory gave her a bracket in the semi-final round, where she will clash with Mrs. J. D. Corbiere, of Southboro.

The other second last brackets were taken by Sarah Palfrey, Mianne's younger sister, who was top-seeded in the current indoor play, and Mrs. Benjamin E. Cole, II, of North Andover, who held the title back in 1923.

JACKETS SET FOR BISONS

pinch-hitting for Fraser, found that his head had been selected as a target for Cleveland sticks, but his injuries are not serious. Cox and Smith, who teams well with Leo Reise at the points, both performed brilliantly in the series opener, and if they are able to continue their fine work tonight the Buffalo goals are going to be very scarce.

President-Manager Roy D. Schooley and Coach Charles Reid had the Rodden-Gregg-McGuire and Fields-White-Proudlock lines carry almost all of the attacking burden in Cleveland, and they expect to continue to use their less experienced third front line very sparingly.

The title series has boosted local hockey interest to a new high, and the Jackets are certain not to want for enthusiastic support as they resume the old business of trying to overcome an enemy handicap.

Cleveland is to appear at Windsor tonight in the other play-off game. Play-by-play descriptions of all Pittsburgh home games are to be broadcast by radio station KQV.

MORENZ GETS TROPHY

MONTREAL, March 26.—(AP.)—Howie Morenz, speed king of the Montreal Canadiens, has been awarded the Dr. David A. Hart trophy for the 1930-31 hockey season, and with it the title of being the National Hockey League player most valuable to his team. The Lady Byng trophy, awarded for sportsmanship and clean play, goes to Frank Boucher, of the New York Rangers, for the fourth successive year. It was the second time Morenz received the Hart trophy, the first being in 1928.

The George Vezina Memorial trophy, donated by the Canadien Hockey Club, of Montreal, in memory of their famous goaler, goes to Roy Worters, of the New York Americans. It is given to the National League goal tender having the best record for the season.

Grays to Open Season April 18

Manager Posey, of the Homestead Grays, has set Saturday, April 18, as the date on which the Negro champions of the United States will usher in the 1931 baseball season at Forbes Field. The opposition in this game will be provided by the Cleveland P. R. R. club.

Fixing of Races Denied at Caliente

AGUA CALIENTE, Mex., March 26.—James N. Coffroth, president and general manager of the Agua Caliente race track, branded as false rumors that races at that track have been fixed and that dissension exists among the officials.

Local Boy Honored At Manlius School

MANLIUS, N. Y., March 26.—Cadet William Berger Dunlap, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. K. Dunlap, of 516 South Highland avenue, Pittsburgh, has been re-elected captain of the swimming team at the Manlius School. The Manlius swimming captain is now spending his spring vacation with his parents in Pittsburgh.

SPORT SHORTS

WHEELING, W. Va.—(AP.)—George Brown, local boxing promoter, has engaged Jack Dempsey, former heavyweight champion, to referee a fight program here April 1. Lou Bloom, Detroit lightweight, and Frankie Porto, Glassport, Pa., will head the card.

PRINCETON, N. J.—(AP.)—Lloyd E. Rosenbaum, of Anderson, Ind., has been elected captain of the Princeton University basketball team for the season of 1931-32. He is a junior and has played guard on the Tiger team for two years.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., March 26.—(AP.)—A field of 75 grapplers from 26 widely-scattered colleges have been entered in the National Collegiate Association's two-day wrestling championship meet, which opens here tomorrow at the Brown gymnasium. Two of last year's eight champions will defend their titles, Jack Van Bibber and Conrad Caldwell, both members of the Oklahoma A. & M. team, undefeated in dual competition since 1921, and N. C. A. A. champions for the past three years.

NEW YORK.—(AP.)—The Crescent A. C., of New York, won the National A. A. U. hockey championship last night by defeating the Atlantic City Seagulls, 4 to 2, in the final game at the Madison Square Garden.

DELAWARE, O.—(AP.)—Varsity golfers at Ohio Wesleyan have agreed to pay their own expenses in order to restore the sport to the spring intercollegiate athletic program. The athletic board of control had eliminated golf matches with a view of balancing the sports budget.

HELENA, Mont.—(AP.)—Wilbur S. Eaton, football coach of Mt. St. Charles College here, has accepted an offer to become backfield coach at Howard College, Birmingham, Ala. Eaton, a graduate of Notre Dame, will assume his new position in June. He has coached here for five years.

MINNEAPOLIS.—William Serritella, Chicago, eliminated a favorite from singles competition at the national A. A. U. handball tournament here yesterday, defeating Joe Bathe, Detroit, 21-19, 21-9, in the third round. The champion, Alfred Banuet, San Francisco, won in straight games from Jack Brodar, Chicago, 21-8, 21-12.

WINTER HAVEN, Fla.—(AP.)—The latest and perhaps final message that Phil Collins has for the Phillies is that he's leaving pronto for his home in Chicago, after failing to agree with the club on salary. The pitcher has had several talks with President Ruch, but there was no result.

RACE TRACK PLANNED

MARTINS FERRY, O., March 26.—What is described as the largest auto racing plant east of Indianapolis will be erected on the Mrs. John Greenlee farm in Southern Jefferson County, if plans announced by promoters of the project materialize. It is proposed to start work in two weeks. Mrs. Greenlee was informed when the 100 acres of Ohio River bottom land situated north of Warrington were leased by B. W. Lewis, Smithfield promoter, and associates.

OXFORD GOLFERS COP

SANDWICH, England, March 26.—(AP.)—Oxford checked the tide of victories that has been running strongly to the ancient rival, Cambridge, in recent athletic contests by winning the annual golf tournament yesterday, 8 matches to 5, with two halved.

SCOTT IS TOO FAMILIAR WITH COURT, CHARGE

WILLIAMSPORT, Pa., March 26.—(AP.)—Opposition to playing the P. I. A. A. basketball final on the Stadium court at Pittsburgh has been voiced by Coach Bartholomew, of Williamsport, the team that is to meet Lower Merion for the right to represent the eastern sector.

Bartholomew said that if his team wins, it would prefer to play the final at State College. He pointed out that if Scott High, of North Braddock, defeats Hollidaysburg, Saturday, at Pittsburgh, in the game that will decide the West's finalist, the North Braddock team would then have the advantage of playing in the final on a court to which it is thoroughly accustomed.

LOWER MERION WINS

HAZLETON, Pa., March 26.—(AP.)—Lower Merion, by defeating Nanticoke High here last night, 26-21, before 1,700 fans at Hazleton High, won the intra-district title of District I and II, and qualified to meet Williamsport in Philadelphia Saturday night in the semi-final of the state tourney.

The winner of Saturday's game will be the eastern contender against the western winner at the Pitt Stadium in Pittsburgh on Saturday, April 4. The lineup:

Merion—26.		Nanticoke—21.
Pennypacker	F.	Minsavage
Eaton	F.	Dillon
Turner	C.	Thomas
Wynn	G.	Sheloski
Bradford	G.	Revinski

Substitutes—Merion, Blair; Nanticoke, Baker, Grala. Field goals—Pennypacker 2, Turner 3, Eaton, Wynn, Bradford, Blair, Minsavage 2, Thomas 2, Revinski 2, Dillon, Sheloski. Foul—Lower Merion, 8 out of 13; Nanticoke, 5 out of 14. Referee—Ramsey. Umpire—Williams.

KREMER FACES TIGERS TODAY

The contest brought three casualties to the Pittsburgh club. Eddie Phillips was spiked at the plate, and, after being led from the infield, he was found to have a deep and painful wound in his left foot. Two stiches were required to sew up the cut, but Eddie, a game fellow, says he will be ready to catch in two or three days.

Catcher Jack Mealey relieved Phillips, and it wasn't long before the Wichita receiver was nicked on the fingernail of the index finger of his throwing hand. Jack gave way to Hal Finney, but Mealey can catch in a day or two if necessary.

The Pirates came from behind in the ninth to tie up the game. Irish Kennedy went to the mound in this inning, and for three rounds he looked fine. In the twelfth round, Gus Suhr and Woodie Jensen connected for hits that produced a run, and the small gathering of fans, who stuck to the last, were convinced the home team was due for another defeat.

Harper, a home-run hitter in the National League for several seasons, drove the ball over the rightfield screen to knot things again, but Jacobs quickly untied the knot. The Angel first-sacker hit the first pitch to the same territory and the game was over. Ervin Brame, who worked seven rounds on the slab for the Buccos, struck a homer over the right screen in the second inning.

Chillysauce

John Millus soon may be fixed up to play with Angels. The former Pittsburgher is owned by the Seals, but the officials of the local team are now dickering for his services. John refuses to play in San Francisco, he preferring to hold a berth near his home which is close to Los Angeles.

GYM MEET TONIGHT

Three crack gymnastic teams, representing the Allentown, Ambridge and East Pittsburgh Turnvereins, will compete in a contest for a silver trophy in the East Pittsburgh Turner Hall tonight. Dr. Herman Groth and Harry Dippold will act as judges.

HUNGRY CLUB BANQUET

Marking the conclusion of its bowling season, the Bridgeville Hungry Club will hold its annual banquet at 6:30 o'clock this evening in the Presbyterian Church, Bridgeville.

NEW LEADERS IN AMBRIDGE TOURNEY

AMBRIDGE, Pa., March 26.—The Pennsylvania-Ohio duckpin tournament enters its last three days of rolling today with men's and women's teams from the Pittsburgh district featuring the program which gets under way at 3 p. m.

New leaders in singles, doubles and five-men teams were posted today as a result of yesterday's rolling. H. Smith, of South Side Arcade, topped the singles with his 553 score; Lutz, of Sharpsburg, rating the high single game with 232.

TWO SOCCER TILTS ON TAP

By TOM BIRKS

Two soccer games are scheduled for the coming week-end. At the Westinghouse High School Stadium Saturday, Clan Douglas and Crafton Heights meet in the semi-final round of the Nied Cup. This game should attract a banner crowd.

On Sunday the Husher Field, Monessen, Morgan and Dunlevy will tangle in the Keystone League. This should be a great game. There are only a few games remaining in the Keystone and these were delayed owing to cup ties.

Tilden, Richards To Meet in May

NEW YORK, March 26.—(AP.)—Jack Curley, sports promoter, has advised his office from Chicago that he has finally closed negotiations with William T. Tilden, II, for a tennis match between Tilden and Vincent Richards, in Madison Square Garden, in May.

Negotiations have been going on for some time to bring America's two leading professional tennis players together, but the final arrangements were not completed until a conference yesterday between Curley and Tilden, in Chicago.

BELLEFONTE WINS

BELLEFONTE, Pa., March 26.—Bellefonte Academy closed its basketball season with a well-earned 28-14 victory over the Coal Hill five, of DuBois, staged in the interest of the crippled children of Center and Clearfield counties, here yesterday.

CITY LEAGUE ORGANIZED

The City Baseball League was completed last night, with six clubs in the circuit for this season. The loop will consist of Homewood, Dormont, Pleasant Valley, North Side Civics, Book Shoe and J. L. Thomas.

The Ingomar Club, which wanted to play its games at West View Park, was turned down.

The next meeting of the City League, to determine the official league ball and to discuss umpires, will be held in the Book shoe store on Tuesday, April 14.

Raymond Pickles and Billy Hite will handle the reins of the Fintex club in the Greater Pittsburgh League this season, it was learned yesterday.

LOCAL SHOOTERS IN MEET

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 26.—University of Pittsburgh and Carnegie Institute of Technology, both of Pittsburgh, Pa., will compete for the national intercollegiate rifle team championship on Saturday, they have advised the National Rifle Association, which conducts the matches.

TOURNEY AT I. K. S.

A basketball foul shooting tourney, sponsored by the A. M. A. A. U., is to be held in the gymnasium of the Irene Kaufmann Settlement tomorrow and Saturday, and between 600 and 700 free admission spectators are expected to crowd the balcony. Entries have been coming in from all over the district and some prominent basketeers are expected to compete.

COFFEY STARS OF YEARS AGO PLAYY. M. H. A.

By JULIUS LEVIN

The Young Men's Hebrew Association will close its most successful basketball season tonight when the Coffey Club is met in the feature attraction on the Y. M. H. A. floor. This game is an annual feature on the Y. schedule and is expected to draw a capacity crowd.

Included in the lineup of the Coffey Club, for years the outstanding professional team in the district, are Buck Gefsky, coach of the Y. M. H. A. varsity; Dave Mervis, coach of the Y. M. H. A. varsity B team; Harry (Cutsey) Levine, former University of Pittsburgh captain and himself an old Y. M. H. A. coach; Moy Marks, Lefty Abrams and Bill Miller, the latter a star with Fintex in the Allegheny County League.

The Wolf Club, of East Pittsburgh, will meet the Varsity B passers in the preliminary game.

Manchester Community and the Catholic Forresters clash on the Manchester floor tonight in the first of a three-game series to settle the Greater Pittsburgh League title.

The deadlock for the second half honors in the West Penn League will remain unbroken unless the Knickers and Schneiders reach some sort of an agreement to play off the tie. The Knickers favor a three-game series, while the Schneiders, who won the first half, favor a single contest to settled the issue.

John McKenna 4th In La Gorce Tourne,

MIAMI BEACH, Fla., March 26—John A. McKenna, of Pittsburgh, finished in fourth place in the blind bogey competition held by the Committee of 100 over the La Gorce course here yesterday. The event was won by M. B. Ferris, of New York, whose card matched close to bogey figures. George W. Wilson, of Chicago, was second, and H. K. Raymond of Akron, O., third.

M'VEY BATTLES M'ARTHUR

By HARRY KECK
Sports Editor.

No big names appear on the boxing card at McKeesport tonight, which is one good reason why a lot of the fans may turn out to witness the battles, in anticipation of the enthusiasm and thrills the aspiring more or less obscure mittmen toss into their work.

Frankie Reilly

Buddy McArthur, of McKeesport, and Sunny Jim McVey, Braddock Negro, a pair of lusty-hitting light-heavyweights, box the 10-round main bout, and Mickey Solomen, of Youngstown, a former main bout favorite in the Tube City, begins the trek along the comeback trail after a layoff against Billy Flanagan, of Braddock, in the eight-round semi-final.

Bruno Sala, of Donora, who was knocked out by McVey in last week's show at McKeesport, battles Lloyd Clements, of Swissvale, in the second bout, and Frankie Reilly, brother of the popular Jimmy Reilly, of McKeesport, and, like the McArthur brothers, formerly of Saginaw, Mich., makes his debut in these parts against Jimmy Dontella, of St. Michael, Pa., in the opener.

Between Rounds

There will be no show at the Moose Temple tomorrow night or next Friday, due to the fact that Johnny Datto, who was to box in the main bout there tomorrow, has signed to battle Jackie Rodgers again at Motor Square Garden Monday night and next week's date for the downtown arena falls on Good Friday.

Jimmy Thomas, local Negro bantamweight, will box either Phil Tobias or Ollie Bartlett in a six-round bout in Cleveland, April 6, as a result of the hullabaloo about the decision rendered in favor of Vito Mazzeo, of Cleveland, over him there last Monday. A writer in the Cleveland Plain Dealer reported the bout thus: "Vito Mazzeo was given a present in his bantam six-round semi-final mixup with Jimmy Thomas, dusky Pittsburgh butcher. Thomas won the last four rounds, but couldn't get the decision. Two judges officiated along with the referee for the first time. Referee Tommy Mulgrew disagreed with one of the judges and the other handed up his slip marked for a draw. However, he was informed by the announcer that the boxing commission had ruled against draw verdicts. He then changed his slip in Mazzeo's favor. The decision, of course, was given Bronx reception by the 1,300 fans."

Marty Gold boxes Frankie Bauman at Paterson, N. J., tonight. Eddie Reed, former Erie Negro boxer, meets Tony Falco at Philadelphia, and Kentucky Tuffy Griffiths battles George Barker at Columbus, O., and Gorilla Jones and Bucky Lawless meet at Akron.

Lew Lafferty and Eddie Cool box the windup of a show in Philadelphia tomorrow night. Johnny Bisop meets Eddie Dennis and Ernie Caesar engages Mickey Michaels in other bouts on the card.

FRENCH TENNIS TEAM COPS

NEW YORK, March 26.—(AP.)—In a three-day competition which went to the penultimate set last night for decision, a French indoor tennis team, composed of Jean Borotra and Christian Boussus, defeated a quartet of American youngsters, all four of them prospective Davis Cup players, three matches to two.

It took the Basque four sets last night to defeat Berkeley Bell. The only two American victories were scored by Frank X. Shields, No. 2 in the United States outdoor ranking, who defeated Borotra and Boussus, Nos. 2 and 3, respectively, in France, in the singles.

Bell, the fragile-appearing Texas youngster, made a fight of it all the way. The scores were 6-3, 6-3, 8-10, 8-6. Shields defeated Boussus, 6-4, 6-1, 6-1.

Dempsey Loses Point In Damage Suit

CHICAGO, March 26.—(AP.)—Thwarted in their attempt to have an injunction, issued in Indiana, kept from the records of the Coliseum Club's $500,000 breach of contract suit against Jack Dempsey, the former champion's attorneys today planned to show that no contract existed for a Dempsey-Harry Wills fight.

The Coliseum Club is suing for damages claimed through Dempsey's alleged failure to go through with a contract to meet the Negro heavyweight challenger before he lost his title to Gene Tunney in Philadelphia in 1926. The court yesterday ruled that the injunction, under which counsel for the plaintiff claimed Dempsey was in contempt of court by fighting Tunney, might be admitted to the records, a blow to Dempsey's case.

Fight Results

At Newark, O.—Wild Bill Eck defeated Jim Streat, 8 rounds; Red Kirk defeated Kid Tibbs, 6 rounds; Young Cooper knocked out Jack Moore, 4 rounds; Young Spring knocked out Kid Dodson, 3 rounds; Don Wilson defeated Kid Priest, 4 rounds.
At Denver—Andy Callahan defeated Mickey Cohen, 10 rounds.
At St. Louis—John Schwake defeated Johnny Risko, 10 rounds; Dave Knost and Gene Stanton drew, 6 rounds; George Pavlik defeated Al Stillman, 6 rounds; Pee Wee Terry defeated Ollie Bartlett, 6 rounds.
At New York—Jack Rosenberg defeated Eddie Friscco, 8 rounds.
At San Francisco—Joey Roberts defeated Louie O'Neill, 10 rounds.

GENARO, FERRAND DRAW

MADRID, March 26.—(INS.)—In a half-empty hall, Frankie Genaro, American boxer, and the Spanish fighter, Ferrand, fought here last night for the so-called world flyweight championship. The bout ended in a draw. The battle lasted for 15 hard and fast rounds. Genaro displayed superior ringcraft, but Ferrand put up unexpectedly good opposition. Ten thousand people witnessed the spectacle, which was reported to be a financial failure.

German 'Von' Ruled Only Syllable

BERLIN.—(AP.)—Once a "von" is always a "von" in Germany, even under the republic.

The prefix is now considered by law to be a mere syllable of a once noble name, but it can not be dropped at will.

A former German aristocrat, who had gone into business, thought his "von" a useless encumbrance. The registrar of companies objected, and the courts sustained his view, holding that the "von" is an integral part of the surname.

Stock Exchange Topics

More Large Companies Meet for Dividend Action Today.

Directors of several more large corporations will meet today for action on dividends due at this time. National Cash Register directors will consider action on the quarterly payment of 75 cents a share, and it is expected a reduction in the rate will be voted. Anaconda Copper directors also are on schedule for action with expectations that the regular dividend of 62½ cents will be ordered. Delaware, Lackawanna and Western directors likewise will meet for action on the quarterly payment of $1.50 a share. This company in 1928 and 1929 ordered extras of $1 a share in addition to the regular disbursements, but at the December meeting last year, no action was taken on the matter of an extra.

Railway shares turned dull yesterday following Tuesday's flurry of activity on the buying side. New York Central displayed a fair measure of strength early, but later turned irregular. Carrier stocks had apparently been worked up on Tuesday in expectation of a favorable showing in the weekly report on freight car loadings. These, in the aggregate, showed a gain of 10,728 cars over the previous week, or slightly better than seasonal improvement, as had been expected. But breaking down the total into its component parts, it develops that an unusually sharp gain in coal loadings, 11,368 cars, pretty well accounted for the improvement. Loadings of merchandise and miscellaneous freight showed an increase of more than 1,300 cars on the week.

Steel shares found very little to enthuse over in the weekly trade summaries. These journals found the situation not a little mixed, with a great deal of conflict indicated in the price field. Mill operations remain unchanged at 57 per cent, marking the first week this year in which the rate of output has failed to expand. The Iron Age finds scrap steel, normally the bellwether of all iron and steel products, has for the time being lost its position of leadership in price movements. The situation in pig iron is acutely mixed, and a sharp decline in prices for black sheets has resulted in a drop in the finished steel composite price to 2.12d cents a pound from 2.142 cents which had held for some 10 weeks. Construction and pipe line activities are cited as likely to prove the backbone of new buying over the next little while.

The action of the market would seem to suggest that it is becoming immune to the influence of disappointing news developments. Certainly it must be admitted that stocks have had considerable in the way of discouraging developments to contend with in the last fortnight or so in the nature of sour corporation reports and dividend reductions and omissions. But traders who have sought to make capital out of such news through the medium of short selling have not fared particularly well. True here and there an occasional soft spot has been uncovered, such as U. S. Industrial Alcohol and several others which might be mentioned, but the general market has been standing the gaff unexpectedly well. The real test, however, is in all probability just ahead and will take the form of first quarter corporation statements.

It is likely that when directors of Columbia Carbon Company meet on April 7 they will omit the usual extra dividend of 25 cents. The regular quarterly dividend of $1.25, however, will in all likelihood be maintained. Although continued low prices for carbon black will be reflected in earnings for the first quarter, the company has a strong current position. At the end of December, 1930, cash alone totaled $2,501,338, or more than $5 a share, comparing with total current liabilities of $911,368. Total current assets, including investments of $4,598,414 classed as current amounted to $11,115,989.

The statement made many months ago by T. B. Macaulay, president of the Sun Life Assurance Company, one of the largest organizations in the investment trust field, that there were times to sell stocks as well as buy them, is called to mind in a study of the 1930 report just released. Holdings in a number of leading industrial companies were disposed of, among which were United States Steel, Woolworth, New England Telephone and Telegraph, Brooklyn Union Gas, Standard Oil of New York, Standard Oil of Kentucky and Ford Motor of Canada B. On the other hand, substantial commitments were made in a considerable number of stocks, principally utilities.

EVENING SUN-TELEGRAPH MARKETS

Stocks Ease Off — Quiet Trading Here

MARKET EASES AFTER EARLY ADVANCE

Several Pool Favorites Hit 1931 Peaks Before List Becomes Unsettled

NEW YORK, March 26—(AP.)—The stock market again refused to ignore dividend reductions today, but at the same time was disinclined to be seriously disturbed.

Further bullish stimulation in the morning was sufficient to boost several pool favorites to new high peaks for the year but the paring of Anaconda's annual dividend rate from $2.50 to $1.50 had not been generally expected and the list eased off afternoon. Wall street had had plenty of advance information about the cut in Lackawanna's yearly rate from $6 to $4 however. Stock trading was listless and in unimportant volume.

Several shares rose a point or two in the early trading, although speculation for the rise was confined largely to minor issues.

There had been some rumors that Anaconda might make another reduction in its rate of disbursement to stockholders, but in view of the steady if slow progress made in controlling red metal output, it had been felt that the rate might be maintained, in expectation of better business and metal prices as the year wears on. Copper metal, however, is back to 10 cents a pound, only ½ cent above the low price reached last autumn, and buying has been merely sporadic. The low level of activity by electrical equipment manufacturers and lessened appropriations for new construction by electric power interests do not promise any early improvement of importance.

The day's corporate news was largely unfavorable, but contained little in the way of real surprises, and speculative interests were encouraged by the small amount of stock which appeared for sale. Conspicuous among earnings statements was that of the Curtiss-Wright Corporation, showing a loss for 1930 of $9,374,944. This reflects the drastic deflation that has taken place in the airplane industry, and leaders in that line now expect that the housecleaning has been so thorough that the industry can begin to work slowly out of the red, although it will be a laborious process.

The effect of the drawing down of government deposits with banks was reflected in a stepping up of the call loan rate from 1½ to 2 per cent.

Railways Now Are Winning More Friends

By B. C. FORBES

FRANK A. VANDERLIP, then a leading banker and also railway director, remarked to me more than 20 years ago:

Mr. Forbes

"The railroads are riding for a fall."

Today the railroads appear to have recovered quite a measure of public favor. Also, they seem to have succeeded in winning the loyalty and goodwill of their employes. Publication recently of a letter in this column criticizing various phases of railway management has brought many communications upholding the railroads.

A PENNSYLVANIA Railroad engineman, Irving Levy, writes, in part:

"I am a reader of your column and read with more than usual interest the letter from Mr. L. L. Layton, Jr., in which he criticized the railroads. I am a locomotive engineer, one of the cogs in the machine which Mr. Layton says can do his work and no more. I know from actual inside experience that as far as our road and its employes are concerned Mr. Layton's complaints would scarcely stand up.

"We are constantly impressed by our department managers with the necessity of doing everything to improve the service, whether it be freight or passenger. I, and dozens of my fellow-engineers, have very often dropped our regular work to accommodate a shipper who was in a hurry for a special car, even though it interfered with our regular switching work.

"How many thousands of railway employes in great terminals and small country stations are daily performing acts outside of their regular duties in order to maintain the human contacts that their managers require of them? Surely 'cogs in a machine' cannot be fairly applied to these workers.

"Our managers' desire for constantly better service is not mere talk, as we behind the scenes on the operating end of the line well know. We know how complaints are welcomed, because from these complaints the line learns of and eradicates weak spots, be those spots methods or employes.

"If Mr. Layton had taken his trouble to the railroad that serves him I am sure he would have received 100 per cent satisfaction today, even if 15 years ago he did not.

"Now as to the most important part of Mr. Layton's letter. I wonder if he really knows how fast freight is moved in these days. I have been on my road 12 years and the difference between the speed of freights in 1920 and 1931 is unbelievable. Railroad managers have not been asleep. We have better engines and rolling stock; our schedules are faster.

"But all these are unimportant as compared with future developments. The motor bus and truck will never supplant the railroads. I venture to say that despite the subsidies in the form of free right-of-ways granted to buses and trucks they will never be more than an auxiliary to railroads.

"It behooves shippers like Mr. Layton to adopt a tolerant attitude to the railroads, even as the roads are striving to win the goodwill of the shippers. Bring your complaint or suggestion to the head of the line, Mr. Layton. You will be thanked not only in words but in performance."

F. X. MILHOLLAND of the Baltimore and Ohio, answering criticisms regarding the use of heavier equipment, states:

"It is true that the railroads generally have increased their train loads and thereby realized very definite economies. For example, in 1929 each freight train on the average carried 804 tons of freight, the highest ever attained.

"This reduced, of course, the number of trains required to handle a given amount of tonnage. It must not be inferred from this heavier train loading that there has been a general slowing-down of important traffic. There has actually been a speeding-up of movement as well as an increasing of the load, which tends toward efficiency and economy, as well as service.

"In 1929, the average speed of freight trains was 13.2 miles per hour, as compared with 10.3 miles per hour in 1920. This speed is not the actual running speed, of course, but includes all stops made for switching, for picking up and setting out cars, etc.

"A new element has been introduced looking to a more effective handling of less-than-carload shipments and short haul traffic through the means of containers, the units consisting of either six or 12 containers which can be handled in co-operation with truck service. This feature has not yet reached a point where definite, permanent advantage can be assured to all interests, but it is being developed as rapidly as possible."

Air Traffic Increased Last Year

By GEORGE H. SNYDER

IMPRESSIVE INCREASES in the number of passengers carried by air transport companies indicate that the new industry is making a reasonable amount of progress in spite of the fact that most of the organizations still are operating at a loss.

Passenger traffic increased about 134 per cent in 1930 over 1929 and a further increase is expected this year. Lower fares had much to do with the losses shown last year. It is difficult to determine, however, just how much the reductions in rates had to do with the increase in traffic. Many air company officials insist that high fares have been only minor factors in keeping people out of the air.

Air line fares now average about 10 per cent above rail charges including the cost of Pullman accommodations, according to a survey made by Ernst & Ernst. It is estimated that most companies can show a profit on this basis if operating practices are sound and if a sufficient volume of traffic is developed.

Safety Increased

AN EXCELLENT RECORD of safety has undoubtedly been a helpful factor in stimulating air travel. The major air transport lines in the 12 months ended February 1, 1931, chalked up 108,000,000 passenger miles with only one passenger fatality for every 14,000,000 passenger miles. A passenger mile consists of hauling one passenger one mile. A plane flying 100 miles and carrying five passengers would record 500 passenger miles.

At present about 90 per cent of the air lines are controlled by four major groups in the industry. There also are some independent operators who have established exceptionally fine records of safety. The public is still far from being completely sold on air travel. Safety records will go a long way towards building up confidence but a great amount of missionary work will be necessary to convince travelers that they are not risking their lives when they ride in planes.

Managements Important

THE ORGANIZATIONS WHICH are equipped with physical properties and managements suitable to insure success in the various branches of the new industry are being clearly differentiated from the unsound enterprises. While the reports of nearly all companies have been less satisfactory than those of the previous year, some organizations have merely reported declines which are comparable to the condition of general business while others have been compelled to show large losses.

One of the leaders in the industry which has at least shown profits is United Aircraft. This organization reported net income for 1930 of $3,302,206 after all charges. This was equivalent to $1.28 a share on the average of 2,017,349 shares of common stock outstanding during the year or to $1.24 a share on 2,083,223 shares outstanding at the close of the year. In 1929 the company earned $8,966,032 or $5.42 a share on the average of 1,532,247 shares outstanding or $4.52 a share on 1,837,842 shares outstanding at the close of the year.

United Aircraft is interesting since it is engaged in practically every phase of the aviation industry. Ths includes the production of motors, planes and parts and the operation of transport lines.

While earnings represented conditions in the business during the past year, the showing was distinctly favorable in comparison to the results of some of its competitors.

OIL COMPANIES CUT IMPORTS

AUSTIN, Tex., March 26.—Three of the four major oil importing companies in the United States today informed an oil proration meeting of the Texas railroad commission that they either had curbed or would curtail their imports.

East Texas oil men here in opposition to proration of a new field there said they would cease that opposition if and when oil imports were cut to 16,000,000 barrels a year. Curtailment announced today fell short of the East Texas demands, however.

Walter C. Teagle, president of the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey, said his company would cut its imports from 60,000 to 45,000 barrels daily, effective April 10. That order will be effective for 90 days and after that imports will be conditional on the "industry's success in controlling domestic production," and upon the action of other importers, Teagle said.

Gulf Oil and Dutch-Shell also announced that they have reduced importations.

TREASURY TO OFFER BILLS

WASHINGTON, March 26.—(AP.)—An additional $100,000,000 needed because of a prospective $700,000,000 deficit and loans to World War veterans, will be sought Monday by the Treasury.

Secretary Mellon said 90-day Treasury bills for "$100,000,000 or thereabouts," selling at a discount, will be offered next week at Federal Reserve banks to the highest bidders. The money will be used for government expenses and to pay loans to veterans on their adjusted compensation certificates. The Veterans' Bureau has received 1,571,291 applications from veterans for loans.

Declining revenues, including income tax collections, have led to the $700,000,000 deficit forecast. Income tax receipts for the month last Monday were $313,035,292, compared with $517,083,027 for a like period the year before. On Monday of this week there was a deficit of $597,082,557 where last year there was a surplus of $109,932,555.

In Memoriam 1-B

In memory of my beloved husband, Walter E. Taylor, who departed this life March 26, 1929.
It's lonesome here without you
And sad and weary the way.
Life has not been the same to us
Since you were called away.
Peaceful be your sleep, beloved
'Tis sweet to breathe your name
We loved dearly in life
In death we do the same.
Sadly missed by wife and daughter

Mary Lou Ill and Worried Over Circumstances

CHAPTER XXXVI.

Delight was not particularly moved by the story of Lorrimer, faithful to her these 10, 11 years, brooding, longing, wrecked on the thought of her loss, crucified on the cross of his love. She was a very practical woman now; life had made her that. She thought him rather a fool to have gone on caring, dismissed the whole situation, or that part of it, with the tolerant idea that if he'd been well and normal he would have forgotten, as she had forgotten. Here, she saw eye to eye with Margaret Lorrimer, although she didn't realize it. Money. There must be money in the family. Money meant, not what it had once meant—luxury and laughter—but safety, ordinary protection. Money could buy her shelter, free her from certain sordid necessities. She might even come to the place where she would no longer worry over where her next meal was coming from.

She felt a sudden hatred of this unknown woman, Lorrimer's mother, who, she shrewdly surmised, was entirely capable of never telling the entire truth to her son, of allowing the girl he had loved to go out of the country, alone and friendless, penniless and frantic with apprehension, unknowing that help had been so near.

Her Love Dead

She didn't want Lorry. She didn't want any man. She loved no one, would never love again, she fancied, sitting there, staring at Mary Lou, and listening to her as the soft, husky voice went on, giving chapter and verse, filling in the details, painting a circumstantial picture of the deception.

But she wanted safety. And fate had put an ace in her hands!

"Why did you decide to come to me?" asked Delight abruptly as Mary Lou paused for breath.

"So—you call him that, too?" demanded the other woman.

"Yes. Because you did. He told me so," Mary Lou replied simply.

"I see. You'll lose your job over this!" Delight commented, with brutal frankness.

"I know. But it had to go anyway. I couldn't keep on with it. Things were getting too difficult, too complicated. On the face of it, it couldn't continue—forever."

Delight nodded. No use in pressing the girl for further explanations. But there was just one thing she wanted to know, must ask.

"He—he believes you his wife?"

Mary Lou nodded.

"Of course."

"But how—?"

Mary Lou was scarlet but she kept her eyes steadily on those other blue eyes, so like and so unlike her own.

"After all," she said, "a great many years had gone by. He was persuaded that I—you—oh, it's so complicated—!"

"I understand. Go on."

"That I had thought him dead; that I couldn't, of course, adjust myself suddenly to circumstances; that I no longer cared very much for him. He was—rather wonderful about it," Mary Lou told her, steadily, "and we made a bargain. If I found that I could not come to care for him he was to permit me an annulment of the marriage."

"I see. No, of course the farce couldn't go on. The comedy had to be played out. Didn't Mrs. Lorrimer realize this at the beginning?" Delight asked her.

"Yes. But she and Doctor Mathews both felt that when Lorry was strong again and well he could be told the truth—that I was an impostor—and would be able to understand the circumstances which had led to the deception."

"And why hasn't he been told before now, if, as you say, he is entirely well?"

Asks for Time

Mary Lou was silent. Delight looked at her and thought she understood. The child had fallen in love with Lorrimer. Well, it couldn't be helped. She was young, she'd forget; the young always forget, mused Delight, out of her wide and hard-bought wisdom.

And Lorrimer—had he, too, fallen in love with Mary Lou? Well, if he had, it was a different situation. It would be because he thought her someone else, someone he had loved for many years.

"What do you expect me to do?" asked Delight, gravely.

"Nothing yet. When Mrs. Lorrimer learns that I have seen you, she will never forgive me. But I must tell her. I think I can persuade her to reconsider, to come to you herself, or to send for you. If not, the matter lies in your hands. It is your affair. And Lorry's. Will you give me a week in which to talk to her, to try and persuade her to my opinion? At the end of that week I shall let you know, one way or the other. If she decides against—us—I'll go, leave the field clear, and you can do as you think best. If she decides for us—well, I'll send you word. Or she will. Can you trust me—for a week?"

"I'll trust you," she said. "I'm still rather bewildered by it all. I'll wait a week," said Delight, "and meantime—I'd like you to know that you're about as fine a youngster as I've ever met." She laughed, suddenly. "What a comedy it all is!" she said.

Delays Telling Margaret

She left and stood out on the street, blinded by the spring sunlight; hailed a taxi and went to the Pennsylvania Station and took a train to Oakdale. Waiting for it, in the station, she went into a lunch room and drank some milk and ate something, mechanically enough. But she was faint with hunger, and with a vast emptiness of spirit which had nothing whatever to do with her body.

At Oakdale she saw Billy, forced herself to listen to new symptoms which Aunt Adelaide had acquired since last she had been there, talked to Gram, played with the little boy and got a train back to New York in the middle of the afternoon, arriving home—home?—in time for dinner.

She was tired, she said, when Lorrimer, back from a successful day at the field, teased her because she was quiet. Yes, she had been in town, on various errands. Margaret watched her anxiously. After dinner when they were alone for a moment, she asked her:

"Anything wrong out on Long Island? Is there anything I can do?"

"No, they're all fine," Mary Lou told her. "I'm just tired, that's all."

Lorrimer was in excellent spirits that night. He seized Mary Lou and took her, by force, out to walk with him in the budding gardens, along the sweet-smelling borders. He was gentle with her and considerate, but, he said, after a day in the shops the air would do her good. He did not refer, in words, to what had happened the night of the Wynnes' party, but he held her arm close within his own and bent his tall head over hers and was, mutely, the lover he had been, the lover he always was, with her. It was unfortunate that he should have chosen that night.

She went to bed, half ill with worry and unhappiness. No use to talk to Mrs. Lorrimer that night. She herself was in no fit state for persuasion, argument. It would have to wait a day or two. She had a week in which to accomplish her purpose, a week in which to break her heart. For hearts break gradually and often . . .

DAILY TRUE STORY — Success!

"The clouds, in fleecy statuesqueness,
Shadow-dropping on the river's riffle,
Ride on and on in weird grotesqueness——"

For the hundredth time he read what he had written.

"Swell—great," he told himself, just as he had been telling himself for hours.

This would be one swell poem!

He was sure of it. It would make his hard-hearted, unromantic father sit up and take notice!

Montmorency J. Higgins had only been Montmorency J. Higgins for a couple of months. Before that he was Monty Higgins, who worked in his father's canning factory.

Monty couldn't see any poetry or romance in stuffing soups and vegetables and things into cans. He couldn't see any class in the protected trade-line, "Higgins' Higrade," printed just above the words that indicated the contents of the cans.

When Monty came back from college he affected dark soft hats and black Windsor ties, for he had been editor of the college highbrow monthly. He had been a fairly capable editor, but he had never ventured to write anything himself.

But he yearned for the literary life and he felt that it was time another great major poet loomed up. There hadn't been so very many good poets since Longfellow and Bryant.

You start in the sorting room, Monty," his father told him, "and go from there to the washing, cooking, canning and sealing departments—about a month in each will do. Then you spend about six months in the sales promotion department."

"What for?" Monty demanded.

Outlines Plan

"To learn the business. What did you think—to improve your game of ping-pong?"

"Learn the business?"

"You heard me. You are going to get a good insight into the business and then come in as head of one of my departments. You'll be a junior partner then, and I'll see that you begin to make money—but you'll be earning it."

Monty hesitated.

His father had been having some machinery breakdowns in the plant and his temper was short. This was no time for Monty to break the news.

Monty went to work as directed. He didn't like the work at all.

Washing carrots and putting them through the dicing cutter to go into soups was a far cry from becoming a major poet.

And finally, when his father was in fairly good humor, Monty broke the news.

And the news was that he intended to become a major poet.

Old man Higgins stared at his son and shook his head and blinked his eyes, as though he had fallen into the lake and come up for air.

"Poet, eh?"

"Yes sir. I'm cut out for a literary man and poetry seems to be my forte. On the college monthly I——"

"Write poetry for a living?"

"Sure."

"So that's what ails you? That explains the artist hat and the big crepe bow——"

"I'm going over and live in the Village."

"Greenwich Village? Attic stuff—like that?"

"The atmosphere—the environment——"

"That will do. I'm not as strong as I used to be and cannot stand much. Here," the old man yanked his check book around and did some writing. "Five hundred. Go to your attic and your paper and pencil and knock all the Longfellows and Whittiers and Whitmans galley west."

Wonderful Girl

"I'm proud that you have such faith in me," Monty said.

His father snorted and waved his son on his way.

In his room, not quite an attic, in the Village, Monty became Montmorency J. Higgins. He purchased a rhyming dictionary, sundry volumes of poetry and subscribed to three poetry magazines.

Then he began to write.

Across the hall Hattie Osgood worked away with her art. Hattie was practical. She didn't put a capital A on her art. She did candy box covers and greeting cards and now and then something for an advertising concern.

Hattie and Monty became really good friends. Monty had heard a great deal about the high art and low morals of the women of the village. Hattie's art wasn't quite so high, but Monty found that her morals were absolutely O. K.

Monty's five hundred was getting well worn down by this time.

His father came down to see him and found Hattie standing in the doorway of his room, urging him to come across to her room and share some sausages and prepared flour pancakes.

Satisfied With Work

Monty introduced his father, adding, apologetically, "Father runs more to canned goods than to poetry."

"Gee," Hattie said, "are you the Higgins Higrade Company?"

Old man Higgins beamed. Here was a girl who knew something.

"Say, who does your art work?" Monty asked, getting wise to what Hattie meant when she nudged him.

"Different artists. Why?"

"Hattie might do some of it," Monty said.

Old man Higgins went in and looked at her work.

"If you can make vegetables look as natural as those posies, young lady, I'll give you plenty of work," he said.

So it was arranged that Monty take Hattie over to his father's big plant to get ideas for can labels.

Higgins had a talk with Monty.

"When are you going to retire and live on your income?" he asked.

"It takes time—"

But Monty was still struggling with his poetry, and with no success.

He studied all of the poets, he studied meter until he dreamed of iambics and whatnot, but his so-called poems came back with coldly printed regrets.

One day, it was right after he had been in to share some little pork pies with Hattie, he kissed Hattie and told her that she was wonderful.

Then he went back to his room feeling mighty poetic. He sat and stared at an advertising calendar with its picture of contented cows in a meadow with white clouds and blue skies overhead and a silver stream running through.

At once he wrote "The clouds, in fleecy statuesqueness," and after more effort he added the other two lines.

For three days he worked, but got no further. Then he went out to hock his watch. When he got back the three lines were gone.

Poem Published

The window was open. Monty decided that the paper had blown out of the window.

A couple more weeks he struggled and then he picked up that humorous weekly, "Grinnings," which was in Hattie's room. He was eating most of his meals there now. He turned to where a page was cornered over.

There was a short poem, by Montmorency J. Higgins!

Hattie went.

"See here, Dad, I've had my success. I've had a poem printed. Now I'm coming back to work for you—me and my wife—that is, Hattie will be my wife before night. How about it?"

"You don't deserve such luck, getting a girl like Hattie," old man Higgins said, "but how the devil and all did you happen to get a poem printed? Let me see it. Is it original?"

Monty handed over the little magazine.

Old man Higgins read:

"The clouds, in fleecy statuesqueness,
Shadow-dropping on the river's riffle,
Ride on and on in weird grotesqueness—
While I sit here and scribble piffle!"

The sheer frock worn on important occasions may be extremely simple, and easy to make, yet display real Paris chic thru its details. Here is a charming model for a youthful miss, with a cleverly cut cape collar and a graceful skirt peplum. You could run the dress up in no time if you have all the raw edges picoted. Ribbon was used on the original model at neck and waist. Pattern 2123 is lovely in white or pastel georgette, organdy, embroidered batiste or Elizabeth crepe.

May be obtained only in sizes 10, 12, 14, 16 and 18. Size 10 requires $3\frac{3}{8}$ yards of 39 inch material.

Send FIFTEEN CENTS (15c) for each pattern. Write plainly your name, address and style number. BE SURE TO STATE SIZE WANTED.

Looking Forward

By Tuthill

GEORGE, ARE YOU TOO AWAKE? I JUST CAN'T HELP THINKING ABOUT THAT LETTER YOU GOT FROM THOSE PEOPLE WHO LOOK UP NAMES AND ESTATES IN EUROPE. I STILL CAN'T UNDERSTAND HOW THEY GOT OUR NAME.
NOW I WISH I HAD PAID A LITTLE ATTENTION TO THE LONG STORIES MY GRANDFATHER USED TO TELL ME ABOUT HIS GRANDFATHER AND WHY HE LEFT THE OLD COUNTRY
I KNOW THERE'S NOTHING TO IT BUT I'LL ADMIT IT WOULD BE INTERESTING IF AN AFFAIR LIKE THIS REALLY AMOUNTED TO SOMETHING I'VE ALWAYS WANTED TO SEE EUROPE
I WOULDN'T ENJOY SEEING EUROPE IF AT THE SAME TIME I WAS TRYING TO SETTLE A BIG ESTATE FOUND OVER THERE.
WHAT WAS THE NAME OF THAT MOVIE WE SAW A WHILE AGO..? A NOBLEMAN DISOWNED HIS SON WHO CAME TO AMERICA AND FORTY YEARS LATER WENT BACK TO FIND HE WAS HEIR TO A THRONE.
THAT WAS A REAL PICTURE. MY GRANDFATHER NEVER WOULD TELL JUST WHY HIS GRANDFATHER LEFT THE OLD COUNTRY.
I REMEMBER YOUR GRANDFATHER. HE WASN'T VERY ARISTOCRATIC LOOKING BUT A LOT OF THINGS CAN HAPPEN IN A FEW GENERATIONS.
INHERITING A BIG ESTATE IN EUROPE WOULDN'T CHANGE ME. I'D BE VERY EASY ON THE TENANTS. PROVIDED THEY DIDN'T TRY TO PUT OVER FAST ONES ON ME. WELL ANYHOW, THERE'LL BE PLENTY OF TIME TO WORRY ABOUT THOSE THINGS LATER ON.

Keep the Courts Open

Summer Suspension of Trials Is Unnecessary and Works Injustice.

What judge of the Common Pleas Court of Allegheny County will have the courage and the sense of duty to move that the custom of suspending trials during July and August be abandoned?

Do the judges dare disclose, in case they are asked to pass on such a proposal, how they vote and what their comments are?

The questions are asked because, with the bill for two additional judges apparently killed, abandonment of the two months vacation presents itself as the method most readily available for relieving congestion in the courts and also because no good reason is apparent for the long suspension.

The custom dates back to an early period in our history when most of the people were engaged in agricultural pursuits and could ill afford to quit their farm work in summer to serve on juries. There was not a great deal of litigation in those days, and no great harm was done by suspending sessions for a couple of months.

But conditions are, of course, utterly different now, and there is no more reason why the courts should suspend in summer than at any other time. Not even the colleges suspend in summer any more, and any business concern that would shut down for two months with more than a year's capacity of unfilled orders on its books, as our Common Pleas Court does every summer, would not last very long.

The judges are, of course, entitled to a vacation; but one month of rest in the 12 is enough for any healthy person. There is no reason why the judges should all be off duty at the same time. Winter vacations are as pleasant as those taken in the summer. Why should not the judges' vacations be staggered, so that the courts may remain open throughout the year, like other branches of the public business?

It is proverbial that justice should be swift to have the highest merit. Delays may imperil the best case, for even in so short a period as a year—and it is only rarely that a case comes to trial in Common Pleas Court within a year after it is filed—even in a year witnesses are liable to disappear and memories to become treacherous. What then is to be said of cases filed five years ago, of which there are a number on the calendar, that have not yet been tried?

The most flagrant evil is to be found, however, in the case of poor persons accused of crime who, if arrested in the early part of summer and unable to furnish bail, will be compelled, no matter how false the charge may be, to spend several months in jail because the courts are closed and the judges on vacation.

To force innocent persons thus to languish in prison—and, under the law, all defendants are presumed to be innocent until a verdict of guilty has been rendered—is indefensible.

Justice demands that the courts stay open.

Death Penalty Stays

Largely, according to a Harrisburg dispatch, because of the hostile activity of Representative Stadtlander of Allegheny County, the House committee to which the Turner bill for the abolition of capital punishment was referred, has decided to kill it.

That is a pity, because the enlightened opinion of the foremost students of penology is opposed to the death penalty.

The Turner bill had the support of the Pennsylvania Prison Association and other organizations interested in the prevention of crime and the correction of criminals. They oppose the death penalty because experience has shown it is no more effective as a crime deterrent than life imprisonment would be, and because the unwillingness of juries to inflict death is responsible for gross miscarriages of justice.

As the Detroit Times well says in commenting on a proposal that Michigan restore capital punishment, "ONLY THE FRIENDLESS POOR ARE EXECUTED." It mentions Leopold and Loeb as examples of rich murderers who escaped the gallows. Pittsburghers will not have to search their memories long to find cases nearer home.

Merely Postponed

Pennsylvania Will Not Continue Out of Step Indefinitely in Respect to Sunday Laws.

It looks now as if, contrary to the expectation of a few days ago, the Musmanno bill and other measures looking to the modification of the blue law will be buried in committee.

Some of the legislators, lacking political courage, seek to dodge a vote on the issue.

There is a chance, though admittedly not a strong one, that something may yet be done to bring the Musmanno measure before the House. It is to be hoped the delegations in the Legislature from Allegheny and Philadelphia counties, whose constituents have been proved by a postcard poll to be favorable, in the ratio of five to one, to repeal of the blue law, will overlook nothing that will help to legalize the innocent amusements now forbidden by the old statute.

Repeal of the blue law, if it cannot be accomplished in this session, is in any event merely postponed. Surrounded by states which permit their people to play baseball and attend movies on Sunday, Pennsylvania cannot long continue out of step.

A man seldom loves a woman as he should—perhaps because he finds it so much more tempting to love some other woman as he shouldn't.

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

By O. O. McIntyre

NEW YORK, March 26.—This is one of those belated stories that might have splashed the front pages, but never achieved a single line. It happened last summer and concerns a philandering husband who was bitten by a bear a stone's throw from Broadway and Forty-second street.

It was shortly after 11 o'clock on a torrid evening the sort that makes the town hideous. A silk-hatted gentleman in evening dress rushed into one of the blazing drug stores of Times Square. To a clerk he revealed his hand, lacerated and dripping with blood.

"A bear bit me," he whispered in ashen grey agony. A drug clerk in the Tenderloin sees many odd phases of life, but this rather stumped him. He applied first aid and sent for a doctor as the patient was growing fainty. To the doctor he mumbled: "Bitten by a bear."

Then he slumped into a swoon on the floor. Just about this time a beautiful and frightened lady in evening frock hurried into the place. She was in semi-hysteria and after seeking to rush him away in a taxi was told he must go to a hospital.

This the patient refused to do, but with the doctor and the lady taxied to the physician's office, where the wounds were dressed. Explanation: The gentleman was an admirer of the lady, who is a well-known actress. Nights he went to the theater to wait for her.

This especial evening he waited back stage. A bear, featured in the play, was in a boxed cage. The gentleman in the dark leaned up against the cage and his hand slipped through the bars. In an instant the bear bit him. And there, as Plato said, you are.

LASSELL, SATELLITE DISCOVERER

By Archibald Henderson

From time to time, in the history of astronomical science, there arises a natural and devoted student of the heavens, who devotes his life to a study of celestial objects. Of course disinterested students in science are rare; especially as they usually lack the incentive which comes from some educational institution, laboratory or observatory. Lassell was a maker of instruments; and a man who built his own observatory. He pursued his researches independently, although from time to time he worked in conjunction with other observers. Nor was his fine and devoted spirit unrecognized. He served as president of the Royal Astronomical Society from 1870 until 1872.

William Lassell was born at Bolton in Lancashire, England, on June 18, 1779. After serving with a Liverpool merchant from his sixteenth to his twenty-third year, he conceived the idea of manufacturing a telescope for his own use. His confidence in his own mechanical ability was not misplaced; and in due course of time, he came to be recognized as a master maker of telescopes, second only to that supreme master in producing telescopic reflectors, Sir William Herschel.

In 1825 he went into business for himself, and in 15 years laid by a moderate fortune which left him independent. In 1840 he built for himself an observatory at Starfield, near Liverpool, and set up a Newtonian reflector of his own construction. Six years later, after perfecting a method for polishing telescopic mirrors, he mounted in his own observatory a new telescope of considerable proportions. For more than two centuries, various attempts had been made by inventors, mechanics and astronomers to perfect a mechanism for keeping a telescope pointed to the same region of the heavens, the movement of the telescope effected by the mechanism counteracting the rotation of the earth. Lassell devised an important equatorial mounting for his telescope; and Sir John Herschel testified that Lassell's improvement marked a new epoch in the development of the reflecting telescope.

Lassell developed into an observer of rare skill and ability. He displayed unusual perception in his observation of comets. With his instrument of 20-feet focal length, he made a number of important discoveries. Neptune was then a recently discovered planet, and Lassell discovered that it had a satellite which was revolving in the retrograde direction. Simultaneously with Bond at Harvard, he discovered the eighth satellite of Saturn, known as Hyperion, and in 1851 he independently discovered two satellites of Uranus. Lassell also showed that four satellites which Sir William Herschel claimed to have discovered (in addition to two which were actually true finds) were optical illusions.

During subsequent years he observed the sun in total eclipse, the Orion nebula and Saturn's rings. He constructed a magnificent reflecting telescope, 37 feet in focal length, and by means of it discovered 600 nebulae, which he carefully catalogued. Later he removed his observatory to Maidenhead, on the Thames. Here he lived for the remainder of his life, pursuing his researches and publishing scientific papers until his death in 1880.

Buried Gold

The man who hoards his gold beneath the earth
Is not the only miser in life's maze.
All who withhold one thought of peace, of mirth
Take part with him in choosing folly's ways.

To cheer the pathway of a lonely lad.
To ease his heart of weariness and dread
And send him on his way, refreshed and glad.
There was a priceless gift I might have made,
A gift of courage to a faltering soul;
There was a little prayer I might have said
To make another's faith serene and whole.
Like miser's hoard, deep-hidden from the sun,
My buried gold—the good I might have done!

A Third Party

It Is Looked Upon as Futile, but the Idea Should Not Be Dismissed.

By BAINBRIDGE COLBY

THE futility of "a third party" seems to have become an axiom or truism of politics.

Even Senator George W. Norris, of Nebraska, clings to his membership in the Republican party as if it were a rock of ages cleft for him. I might say, in parenthesis, that the "cleft" seems to be the particular thing which most interests the Senator.

His Republicanism does not deter him from supporting a Democratic candidate for the presidency and when, by reason of such an apostasy, his party standing is challenged by the National Republican Committee in his later campaign for re-election to the Senate, he finds no inconsistency in appealing to the rank and file of his party for support against the obvious indifference to his success (to put it mildly) of the party's national committee.

Mr. Colby

I AM not speaking in criticism of Senator Norris, whom I greatly admire. His independence of thought and his courageous course in public life have been of immense value to the nation.

But his attitude towards the duties and implications arising from party membership is out of the ordinary, to say the least.

He is not alone, however, among prominent public men who are content with an anomalous party connection. This was revealed at the recent conference of Progressives at Washington, when the hint was openly given that the Progressives of the Republican party might give their support to a Democratic candidate in the approaching national election.

But running through all that was said on this subject at the conference, there was complete unanimity that in no event would there be a third party.

APPARENTLY no matter how inconsistent the position of these distinguished gentlemen may become, nor how balked and abortive they may find their efforts; no matter to what futility they may find themselves reduced—stripped of influence within their own party and unwelcome to any other, they will have nothing to do with the idea of a third party.

Why is this?

Perhaps it is the memory of the fate of the La Follette party in 1924. It carried but one state, Wisconsin, in the electoral college, but the total popular vote for its candidate startled and impressed every student of public affairs.

Perhaps it is the recollection of the National Progressive party, which failed to survive its abandonment by the late President Roosevelt, although in the single national election in which it figured, it received more electoral votes and a vastly greater popular vote than the Republican party.

BOTH of these short-lived party movements had a profound influence upon contemporary politics, and that their influence was good and still persists, is admitted even by those who look askance at any political action which is not within the smooth-worn grooves of party habitude and regularity.

To the earnest man who dreams of a party sincerely attached to principles, and devoted to their advocacy; and who feels that in the long run consistency will count and in the end prevail, the idea of a third party should not be dismissed as vain and illusory.

It may afford him ample scope for the presentation to the electorate of issues which he has professed to regard as vital. It may possess, as the result of much labor and sacrifice, legal status as a recognized political party under the election laws. It may have the prospect of growth and the promise of permanency, if served with loyalty. It may have, as no other channel of political action available to him, the power of an organized instrument for the advancement of public aims, principles and convictions.

ITS sole shortcoming may be that it cannot step at once into a dominant position and prevail at an election which is immediately at hand. But the serious-minded citizen should not, because of this, fall into the current political opinion that a third party is futile.

Such is a very short view and does not take into account the history of third party movements. They have arisen many times in the past, and have had a momentous and often determining influence upon the fate of great public issues.

Not to go too far back into the past, nor to become too deeply involved in the confused movements of party evolution, combination, change and disappearance, it is interesting to recall the history of the Liberty party which first appeared in 1840.

It originated in the State of New York, and at the election of that year its vote was referred to as "a mere driblet" in the total vote which was polled; but the party persisted and in 20 years, after varying fortunes and mutations, it became the Party of Lincoln, and of the Union and of freedom.

AT MANY junctures in the 20 years of its formative and growing period, it was referred to by the politicians of that time AS FUTILE and as merely a vexation and impediment to the established parties of the day, which were trying after the manner of old and established political parties, to preserve their party continuity and solidarity by evading and straddling the great issues of their time.

In this they failed utterly, as the older parties of today are in danger of failing if they pursue the same tactics.

ONCE OVERS

By J. J. Mundy

As head of a department do you stifle the originality of those under you?

Do you make it necessary for each one in a place where he might use creative genius, to follow a straight, prescribed course of your own making?

No two persons work alike, because they don't think alike.

Therefore when an employe must become a replica of the man over him, he loses the initiative and power he might otherwise possess.

He is not himself and he can't be the other person in production.

Thinking persons have established avenues through which they can best reach a certain destination.

To be hampered and confined to set rules in a calling that is not purely mechanical is to destroy a certain efficiency that is desirable.

Mr. Manager, perhaps that is why you don't get the best out of your men?

You want to dictate each move, where, when and how.

In their efforts, your help are paying more attention to the fulfilling of your dictation than they are to the common cause—the finished product.

Directions should be few and fundamental rather than specific.

Every employe should be permitted to do some thinking and planning.

ISN'T IT SO?

Love makes the world go 'round, but it takes money to push it along.

It seems to be somebody instead of something that some people are trying to do.
